ARMS TOPIC IN MEETING

Dawes Confers With Premier

MacDonald Gives Word of New Move to Start With Speeches Tomorrow

Throng Assembles in Scotch Town to Welcome Envoy and Prime Minister

FORRES (Scotland) June 16. (AP)—After an informal conference between American Ambassador Dawes and Premier MacDonald of England here today, it was announced officially that new negotiations for a solution of the naval disarmament question will have their beginning in speeches Tuesday night. Gen. Dawes is to talk at the pilgrims' dinner in London and Mr. MacDonald at a dinner at his home in Lossiemouth.

Premier MacDonald issued the following communique which had been agreed upon by Gen. Dawes and himself following their conversation at the home of Sir Alexander Grant:

"We have had a conversation regarding the present position of the question of naval disarmament as between the United States and Great Britain. It has been informal and general and most satisfactory.

CO-OPERATION EXPECTED

"His Excellency (Mr. Dawes) proposes to refer to the subject at the Pilgrims' dinner in London on Tuesday night and I shall do the same almost at the same time at Lossiemouth and that is intended to be the beginning of the negotiations. We both wish to make it clear that other naval powers are expected to co-operate in these negotiations, on the successful consummation of which the fate of the whole world depends."

The widely heralded meeting between the new American Ambassador and the new Prime Minister of England did not develop anything regarding the projected invitation to Mr. MacDonald to visit America. This subject, both conferees indicate, was not presented.

After reading the statement to the large group of reporters Mr. MacDonald and the Ambassador shook hands and posed for photographers. The Premier then handed the statement to Mr. Dawes, remarking: "It is a very historical document and I have great pleasure in handing it to Gen. Dawes to take back with him."

Mr. Dawes and his party then took leave of their host and Mr. MacDonald's entourage and drove to Aviemore, forty miles away to catch the 6 o'clock train for London.

CROWD ASSEMBLED

There was nothing in the meeting between Mr. Dawes and Mr. MacDonald to suggest the great significance which has been attached to it on both sides of the Atlantic. When the train bearing Mr. Dawes from London arrived eighteen minutes late, at 1:35, Mr. MacDonald, his daughter Ishbel, and his political secretary, Mr. Usher, as well as a

Speech of King at Opening of Parliament Will Order Survey on Liquor

LONDON, June 16. (Exclusive)—The possibility of prohibition in England is seen from the report that the King's speech at the opening of Parliament—which though supposedly emanating from the King, is always drafted by the government—will announce the appointment of a royal commission to study the liquor problem. Both total prohibition and local option will be considered.

Drinking in England at present is regulated by the clock. The "pubs" open at certain hours week days and other hours Sundays, while different quarters in the same cities may have a different set of regulations. It also is legal to have a drink with a sandwich in certain places holding special licenses, when ordinary bars are shut tight. Finally, the possessor of a hotel room may order a drink at any hour the spirit moves him.

Hope for Life of Child Wanes

CHICAGO, June 16 (Exclusive)—Raymond Di Chiara, 16 months of age, son of Joseph Di Chiara, for more than ninety hours has been kept alive by oxygen, but showed evidences of losing strength this evening. The child's heart action became feebler than it has been since the acute stage of the bronchial pneumonia from which he is suffering was reached Thursday morning when the fire department inhalator squad was called.

More than 100 tanks of oxygen, each of 100-pound pressure, have been exhausted since Thursday.

Five Drown in Auto Accident

TILBURY (Ont.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Trapped in a sedan that plunged into a drainage canal a mile from here today, the housekeeper and four small children of Philip Bedard, a Tilbury shoe merchant, were drowned. Bedard, the only person in the machine to escape, was at the wheel.

Bedard, a widower, was taking his children and his housekeeper, Mrs. Emma Helderweldt, to church.

JOHN D. OFF BABY FOOD

Biographer Says Human Milk Saved Oil Baron; Age of 100 Years Predicted

NEW YORK, June 16. (Exclusive)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., Standard Oil millionaire nearing his ninetieth birthday will live to be a hundred, predicts John K. Winkler in his biography entitled "John D., a Portrait in Oils," just off the press.

The reason for the calm assurance of Winkler's prediction is to be found in the fact twenty years ago John D.'s life was saved by recourse to a diet of human milk. Although Mr. Rockefeller lost all his hair by a series of mystifying digestive maladies, sweeping off even his eyelashes, he kept his teeth and his will to live. Following his strict adherence to the unusual diet ordered for him, he staged a comeback nothing short of miraculous, the author asserts.

The late Dr. Hamilton Fisk Biggar and associated specialists prescribed for him. Somewhere were found the means to satisfy the unusual demand that an aged man be given infant food from its natural source. The Rockefeller millions were able to purchase digestive relief and eventual freedom from the limited and delicate diet that even millions could not go on buying indefinitely.

Today Rockefeller's diet is broader. He has graduated from the infant class and, weaned on crackers and milk, has progressed to the point where he can eat sparingly of most foods.

Oakland Woman Motor Victim

PORTLAND (Or.) June 16. (AP)—Mrs. Theresa Andrews, 72 years of age, Oakland, Cal., was injured fatally here today in an automobile accident. Ray Coolidge, 26, of Glenwood, Wash., driver of the car which struck the Andrews automobile, is held in the City Jail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

The accident is said to have been due to Coolidge's failure to stop at a through street.

VETERAN OF WAR OF '46 SUCCUMBS

Missourian, 101 Years of Age, Said to Have Been Next to Last Survivor

PARIS (Mo.) June 16. (AP)—William Fitzhugh Thornton Buckner, 101 years of age, oldest and believed to have been next to the last surviving veteran of the Mexican War, died at his home here today.

Buckner died unexpectedly soon after he arose at 6 a.m. today. Although he had been in retirement since 1912, the aged veteran was able to be out and around his home town most of the time. He had walked downtown only last Friday. He celebrated his 101st birthday January 27, last.

Buckner was a local banker from 1871 until 1912. He served through the Mexican War and spent virtually all of the remainder of his life here. Information here is that he and Thomas Owen Edgar of Washington, D. C., were the only survivors of the Mexican War.

LAST SURVIVOR HAS BIRTHDAY TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—The death of William Fitzhugh Thornton Buckner in Missouri today left Thomas Owen Edgar of Washington the last surviving American veteran of the Mexican War but he will not be told of it until he awakens tomorrow on his ninety-eighth birthday.

GIRL GENIUS GRADUATES

Bay City Student With Marvelous Educational Career Youngest of Sex to Finish at Stanford

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (Exclusive)—The youngest girl ever to graduate from Stanford University, Miss Betty Ford of San Francisco, 17 years of age, will receive her degree tomorrow morning after spending but six years in school in all her life, three of them in the high school department of two private schools and three at the university.

When only 7 years of age, Betty, only child of Dr. and Mrs. Campbell Ford, attracted the attention of Prof. Lewis I. Terman, one of the world's renowned psychologists and authority on gifted genius. Dr. Terman pronounced Betty one of the most extraordinary examples of genitative genius he ever had seen. At that time she had read 750 books, including the works of George Eliot, Washington Irving and Mark Twain. She also had developed a marked gift for poetry, some of which has been published in the city newspapers. From that time on Betty was under the observation of Dr. Terman and has been the subject of many learned treatises, and cited frequently in books on genius.

Good times, pretty clothes, youthful friendships share Betty's enthusiasm along with science, music, art and literature. She is no highbrow or blue stocking, despite the intelligence quotient of 188 that places her in the genius class, according to the intelligence tests of the psychologists.

The story of Betty's infancy and childhood reads like that of Macauley and Webster. At 7 months of age, she walked, at 9 months, she talked, and knew the alpha-

FLYERS GET TO PARIS

Crowds Welcome Gallant Trio

Yellow Bird Swoops Down on Le Bourget Field After Hop from Spain

Lotti Will Try Western Trip; Stowaway Blamed for Forced Landing

PARIS, June 16. (AP)—Three gallant Frenchmen swooped down out of the clouds this evening to the acclaim that had awaited them for two days for being the first to blaze the name of France on the dangerous air route over the Atlantic that many have attempted and few succeeded.

Jean Assolant, Rene Le Fevre and Armeno Lotti, Jr., had been taken to the heart of France tonight for their flight without stop from Old Orchard, Me., to Comillas, Spain, only a few miles short of their goal of French territory. They supplied that missing link in two hops today and came down out of the clouds at 8:47 p.m. to be hugged, kissed and cheered by their relatives and a large crowd that awaited them at Le Bourget airport.

LANDS AT HIGH SPEED

Assolant gave the audience a thrill by his dramatic touch in streaking over the field at 150 miles an hour and landing while the Yellow Bird still was going more than sixty miles an hour.

Lotti summed up the experience of all of them when he said, "the trans-Atlantic flying problem has not yet been solved."

Nevertheless he announced he will try again, flying in the other direction from Paris to New York. The time of the next attempt was not indicated.

How close the flyers came to finding a watery grave like the many others who had preceded them was told when Lotti received newspaper men in the dining-room of his father's hotel. "Our motor stopped in midocean and really we were scared," he said.

Assolant interrupted him with, "Speak for yourself, Armeno, say you were scared. I did not have time to be scared."

Arthur Schreiber, the 22-year-old stowaway of Portland, Me., whom the aviators had brought with them, was rather neglected by the French enthusiasts but managed to get in a word. "Yes, there was a time when it did look bad."

BLAME LEAKY VALVE

It developed that the trouble was due to a leaking valve which the flyers thought had been fixed up before they took off from Old Orchard on Thursday.

"When we felt the motor drying up on Friday night," Assolant said, "we took a quick look over the side and decided we had reached the shores of France between Biarritz and Bordeaux. We made up our minds to land there. No one was on the beach when we landed. Lotti had to borrow a bicycle from the parish priest to go to Comillas for assistance."

Assolant added succinctly, "I went to sleep."

Aviation Minister Laurent-Eynac and Norman Armour, American Charge d'Affaires, with representatives from the Foreign Office and the American Embassy, were waiting at the field, but the first words of Assolant, first man out of the plane were, "Where is mother?" Mother was right there.

"I would like to get a glass of white wine," Assolant said immediately after his mother let him escape from her embrace. The aviator was carried to the headquarters of the Thirty-fourth Regiment where the Aviation Minister and Commandant Renvoise officially received the aviators.

"Where do I come in?" asked Schreiber.

"You wede lucky to have come in at all," one Frenchman remarked.

Lotti admitted that the weight

SANTA MONICA, June 16. [To the Editor of The Times:] You will pardon me, but this stowaway boy of ours—I am not going to be able to muster up much enthusiasm about anybody over 8 years of age that will crawl into a plane where every ounce in weight counts, and risk crashing the plane on its take-off and killing all the occupants, well I just can't picture him in the hall of fame. COAST VESSEL WRECKED; THIRTY-THREE IN PERIL

Rescue Boats at Columbia River Mouth Pick Up Eight of Crew After Ship Breaks in Two

ASTORIA (Or.) June 16. (AP)—A stiff southwesterly gale early today drove the States Line steamer Laurel on to the sands of Peacock Spit, off the Columbia River entrance, broke her in two and imperiled the lives of thirty-three persons aboard. The gale also disabled the steamer Multnomah, bound from Portland to San Francisco, with lumber. Passengers were taken off the vessel by a pilot schooner and brought to Astoria. The crew of the Multnomah stayed with the ship.

Shortly after 7 o'clock tonight, power lifeboats from the Point Adams and Fort Canby life-saving stations, worked their way through mountainous seas to within a short distance of the after part of the Laurel which had broken off from the forepart of the vessel, and rescued eight of the crew.

LEAP INTO SEA

They leaped from the ship into the boiling sea and were pulled aboard the lifeboats. The men were not brought ashore as the work of rescue progressed. It is not known whether all of those aboard the Laurel were on the after half of the vessel when she broke in twain.

The Laurel piled up on Peacock Spit, west of the North Columbia River jetty shortly after 1:30 this morning. At daybreak watchers ashore, through binoculars, saw the vessel had broken in two. Only fifteen persons were visible. They were clinging to the stern of the steamer, which was drifting toward shallow water. The bow of the Laurel was anchored where she broke up.

Of the anchored bow, broken just forward of the bridge, little was visible as night fell. The after end of the ship in which most if not all of the crew is believed to be, had drifted north on Peacock Spit, opposite Buoy No. 5, and about 3000 feet offshore. Her heavy cargo and engines, it is thought will prevent drifting into any shallower water.

FISHING FLEET STRUCK BY STORM

FORT BRAGG (Cal.) June 16. (AP)—A freak storm off Shelter Cove, sixty miles north of here, struck in its full fury on a salmon fishing fleet yesterday and two men identified as the Anderson brothers of Sausalito, were reported missing last night. Their capsized boat was washed ashore, empty, today.

The same storm tore a floating packing plant from anchorage and dashed the craft against the rocks at Shelter Cove. The boat was owned by the United Fish Company.

The Andersons, who were known at Shelter Cove, left in their boat yesterday. When the other craft which weathered the storm, put in here last night, the Anderson launch was missing and a search, which resulted in finding the overturned craft, followed.

LOW PRESSURE AREA IN JUNE UNEXPLAINABLE

SEATTLE, June 16. (AP)—Why low pressure areas causing gales of the velocity which sent the steamship Laurel on Peacock Spit at the mouth of the Columbia River today should form at this time of year, "is a phenomenon which cannot be explained," Melvin B. Summers, in charge of the Federal weather bureau here said tonight.

"June is ordinarily a month remarkably free of such disturbances," he declared. "The storm was the result of an extreme low pressure area off the British Columbia and Vancouver Island coast." The presence of the area, he explained, would cause a sharp flow of air from the southward to balance the difference in pressure.

LIST OF MEMBERS OF CREW REVEALED

PORTLAND (Or.) June 16. (AP)—Members of the crew of the steamship Laurel, wrecked today off the mouth of the Columbia River, as listed with Henry M. Montgomery, marine deputy collector of customs, follows:

Louis Johnson, master, Portland.
A. Wilde, chief officer, Portland.
K. McNaught, second officer, Portland.

DRY FORCES MOBILIZE

Detroit Assumes War Aspect

Federal Prohibition Test On Canadian Border Indicated

Automobile City Regarded as Stronghold of Wet Interests

[Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

DETROIT, June 16. (Exclusive)—Those who have been following closely the efforts to enforce the prohibition law believe that Detroit has been selected by President Hoover as the laboratory in which to test the "noble experiment" of prohibition.

There is every indication that in the automobile city, the largest community anywhere on our border lines, and into which flows a constant stream of liquor from a land where brewing and distilling are lawful, the Chief Executive plans to learn whether the Eighteenth Amendment as it stands can be enforced.

From nearly every train coming into Detroit during the past few days from New York, Cleveland, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, the Pacific Coast and the South, keen-eyed, alert strangers with a military bearing have alighted here and vanished into hotels.

Various groups of them have assembled later at a secret rendezvous. Others were seen along the shore of the Detroit River, studying the near-Canadian shore.

GUNS READY

Some could be easily identified as members of the United States custom border patrol by the belts of steel-nosed cartridges around their waists, pistols in holsters, swinging backward from their left sides, ready for quick drawing and rapid firing. Their number has suddenly increased to a marked degree in this largest border city in the United States. More are arriving daily.

To a foreigner trained to note the preliminary sifting of agents in advance of a general mobilization in European countries, what is going on in Detroit today would appear instantly as the first nervous wave of troops preparing for an assault. He would think of war.

It is war. War with the full strength of the United States government behind it.

TEST OF STRENGTH

The outcome of the battle to be waged on the north border is of tremendous importance to the inhabitants of every other village, town and city in the country.

What happens here within the next few months will have its reverberating echo throughout the United States, and may have an effect which cannot be measured now, on the political fortunes of the two

CAREWES MARRIED AGAIN

Ceremony Takes Place at Chicago Home of Sister; Trip to Spain Second Honeymoon

CHICAGO, June 16. (Exclusive)—Edwin Carewe, silver-haired film producer who sponsored her brief film career and then ended it by marrying her, and Mary Akin Carewe, "the prettiest and brainiest girl" in the 1920 graduating class of Lakeview High School, Chicago, were remarried today at the Highland Park home of the bride's sister.

Rev. Frank Fitt, pastor of the Highland Park Church, performed the ceremony. The bride's mother, Mrs. Carrie A. Akin; her sister, Mrs. W. A. Gibson; Mr. Carewe's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Fox, and half a dozen family friends witnessed the wedding and were guests at a wedding supper given by Mrs. Gibson. The bride wore a pastel blue ensemble.

"Mary has always been the only girl for me," asserted the bridegroom, who referred to the Mexican divorce he obtained last July as "simply a matter of business."

"I will no longer direct Miss Del Rio" (whom it was reported at one time he would marry,) Mr. Carewe announced. "Henceforth I will be affiliated with Joseph Schenck in the producing end of the business only. I have been directing seventeen years and producing nine years and with my experience Mr. Schenck believes that I will serve the United Artists best in the latter capacity."

The Carewes had planned to be remarried in September but Mr. Carewe's hurried plan to go to Spain in connection with the "talkie" situation there decided both in favor of today's ceremony and a combined business trip and second honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Fox will accompany them.

The Carewes have two small children, Billy and Sally Ann, who are at a summer camp in California.

The Carewes had been separated about eighteen months. Last July the director divorced his wife in Mexico, charging incompatibility.

Mr. Carewe is to spend the next four months in Europe, principally in Spain. Mrs. Carewe said she did not intend to go back to the films, where she first gained fame as an actress under the direction of her husband.

Just before the marriage ceremony, Mr. Carewe was observed in lengthy conversation with the minister. Some one turned to Fox asking, "What in the world can he be talking to Mr. Fitt so long about?"

"Probably trying to get him to change the marriage ceremony, like he does my manuscripts," Fox replied. "He's never been known to let an established document stand."

major parties in the campaign of 1932.

The show-down to which the events of the past ten years have been pointing is to be had here in Detroit.

The answer of the "prohibition question" in the tiniest hamlet of Texas, California or Maine, in the largest metropolitan centers of the east and west is being sought by Washington in this city.

Some observers do not believe this new experiment will be permanently successful and that many other tests will have to be made. They admit, however, that the motor city is a fitting selection for the present trial.

RUNNER'S PARADISE

Detroit has every element of the problem facing other cities and, because of its position on the Canadian border, in an aggravated form.

It is fourth or fifth in population among the urban centers of the United States. It is separated by a river thirty-one miles long and about three-quarters of a mile wide from a country where the manufacture, sale and consumption of liquor are lawful. A speed boat takes you across in less than three minutes.

Detroit is on a river which is one of the world's largest water highways. It is bound by steel links to Canada—railroad tracks, in a tunnel now—with a great international bridge and a vehicular tunnel nearing completion.—and by ferry lines. It is connected by railroad and motor highways with every part of that country.

In addition to the enormous traffic in the smuggling of liquor from Canada with which the United States government will first come to grips in its impending enforcement drive, Detroit has vast illicit breweries and distilleries, 15,000 to 25,000 blind pigs or speakeasies, and thousands of citizens who make their own home-brew or synthetic liquor.

The problem which must be solved includes those domestic breweries and distilleries as well as the swift fleets of rum runners' boats and the freight-car loads of liquor disguised with forged seals.

Detroit has a large alien population unfavorable to prohibition. It also has its gangs of racketeers, hijackers and gunmen. It has had machine-gun slayings.

Of deep concern to the government, also, is the fact that bribery and corruption of its trusted servants have been nowhere so widespread as in Detroit.

Finally the city is claimed by the "wets" as one of their own.

CHIEFS CONFER

The ground work for the enforcement drive was laid at a conference here last week of national prohibition chiefs with their Michigan subordinates. Those present included Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement; Dr. James M. Doran, national prohibition commissioner; Bernard Wait, chief of special customs agents; Thomas E. Stone, Michigan prohibition administrator, and Capt. Martin W. Rasmussen, in charge of this Coast Guard district.

The battle ground studied by these chiefs is 100 miles of border, extending from a point above Port Huron on Lake Huron to Lake Erie with the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River intervening.

It was decided that there should be an immediate increase in the dry army's three units, the prohibition, customs and Coast Guard branches. Mr. Lowman stated he had ordered every customs officer who could be spared to report for duty at Detroit. Several hundred additional men were available and will be mobilized here, he said.

MORE SPEED BOATS

More automobiles, the Treasury's prohibition chief said, will be supplied to the army of enforcement agents at Detroit, as well as more speed boats and cutters. Mr. Lowman has ordered Capt. Rasmussen, whose headquarters are at Buffalo, to send twenty-seven more patrol boats to the west end of Lake Erie and to the Detroit River to augment the land forces.

Ten of these boats are fast seventy-five footers whose normal complements are eight men and a rapid-fire gun each. The other seventeen are patrol vessels carrying six men and a rapid-fire gun each.

The foregoing is the first of a series of articles on the government's effort to stamp out liquor smuggling in the Detroit area. The next, to be published tomorrow, will describe how smugglers there operate.—[Editor.

CAR SUSPECT KILLED

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 16. (AP)—Ralph Henry, 19 years of age, said to be from Texas, died in a Globe hospital today from injuries suffered when an automobile he is said to have stolen from a local merchant was wrecked when it collided with another machine near Coolidge Dam.

COLLEAGUES 'SNUBBED' BY NEGRO REPRESENTATIVE

WASHINGTON, June 16. (Exclusive)—A new society sensation was sprung in the capital today when it was announced in a morning newspaper that Oscar De Priest, Chicago negro member of the House, had not only invited Republican members of the Senate and House to a benefit musicale and reception, but had pointedly left two Representatives off his invitation list.

According to the first report, the colored Chicago Representative, who jumped into the limelight overnight when his wife was entertained at the White House last Wednesday, had not extended invitations to Representative Pritchard, Republican, North Carolina, and Albert H. Vestal, Republican, Indiana. Activity of Mrs. Vestal, wife of the Indiana Congressman, in attempting to blackball Mrs. De Priest from membership in the Congressional Club last fall, was named as the cause for the withholding of the invitation to the Hoosier Representative. Pritchard's refusal to occupy an office in the House office building adjacent to De Priest prompted the negro Congressman to leave the North Carolinan off the guest list.

An attempt to find out what it was all about drew the statement at the De Priest home that the Chicago Representative and his wife had left the capital for the week-end. Morris Lewis, secretary to Representative De Priest, denied, however, that any Republicans had been left off the invitation list.

Sky Jump Ends in Death After Loss of Love

BALTIMORE, June 16. (AP)—Stepping from an airplane at a height of 600 feet Herbert P. Getz, 24 years of age, was killed today in a parachute jump, when the chute failed to open. At the Steinmetz Airways flying field where the jump was made, officials said there is doubt whether the rip cord which released the chute had been pulled.

Getz left a letter to be mailed tomorrow, to Mrs. Elsie Gardner, a former sweetheart, who recently was married.

Getz's mother said he had been despondent since Mrs. Gardner's marriage. The contents of the letter were not revealed by officials.

FRENCH FLYERS LAND AT PARIS

of the stowaway undoubtedly prevented the plane from reaching France.

"We had dispensed with every ounce of extra weight, not even taking bananas or gum boots, and Schreiber endangered our lives by his act. It is safely over now. I bear him no hard feelings, but when I was startled twenty minutes from Old Orchard by his hand on my shoulder I wanted to wring Schreiber's neck.

"I made Schreiber sign a rude contract aboard the plane providing for a fifty-fifty split of all newspaper earnings with Assolant and Lefevre. I have signed him up with the same syndicate as myself so the stories won't repeat and spoil each other's value. I have signed Schreiber for $20,000 for an exclusive story for a syndicate.

Lotti added, "Schreiber was an unwelcome guest aboard the plane but he will now be my guest at my hotel because of my warm friendship for Americans."

After the plane landed the mounted guards formed a lane and with a large escort the aviators, their families and friends and a few important members of the reception committee marched in procession to the private hangar where the Yellow Bird rested. There champagne was waiting to be drunk to the health of the flying musketeers of France.

Schreiber denied emphatically the report that he had climbed into the plane with the knowledge of Assolant. His brother-in-law, he said, had nothing to do with arranging the marriage of the pilot and, therefore, there was no reason why any of the party should have taken an interest in him.

Assolant's first endeavor after kissing his mother was to call up his bride of a week by transoceanic telephone. He did not appear at the hotel for an hour after the others arrived and it was learned that he had put in a call for late tonight.

"Everything is lovely," he said as he arrived at the hotel. His mother asked him, "We were worried about you. Where have you been?"

The crowds around the Hotel Lotti were even larger than at Le Bourget. They gave vent to their pent up enthusiasm with abandon. Each of the aviators received cheers in turn but the crowd seemed decidedly cool toward Schreiber. He was unperturbed, however, and smiled and posed as if the welcome had been prepared especially for him.

DEATH BECKONS TO GEN. BOOTH

Ex-Chief of Salvation Army Succumbs in England

Long and Devoted Labors for Mankind Finished

restraining such action and directing the High Council to hear Gen. Booth in his own defense.

The litigation was adjourned from time to time and finally was dismissed. The High Council on February 13, again adjudicated Gen. Booth physically unfit to continue his duties and elected Edward J. Higgins, who had been chief of staff, as commanding general.

Meanwhile, the lawyers for Gen. Booth instituted another proceeding, questioning the legality of the 1904 deed poll, under which the High Council functions. That action, however, was not vigorously prosecuted and while it was pending several months later, it was reported that Gen. Booth had been co-operating with his successor in several matters.

Attorneys for both sides decided to continue the litigation in a more or less friendly way for the purpose of deciding the legality of the deed poll, which was the basis for the entire procedure by which the High Council removed Gen. Booth. It was agreed that it would be to the interest of the Salvation Army to have the deed legally tested. The document, signed in 1904 by Gen. William Booth, provided for a system of succession to the Salvation Army's generalship in special circumstances such as those which arose with Gen. Bramwell Booth's illness.

For some time there existed two factions of those in control of the army's affairs. Gen. Booth, who succeeded his father, the founder, was said to have favored keeping control of the army in the Booth family. The other side, called the reformers, were of the belief that control of such an extensive organization should not be vested in any one person.

Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the army in the United States, lined up with the reformers. She attended the sessions of the High Council and had been prominently mentioned as her brother's successor. During her stay in England she did not see her brother, being denied that privilege because of his serious illness upon the advice of Gen. Booth's doctors, it was said.

This resulted in a sharp exchange of correspondence between Evangeline Booth and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bramwell Booth, just before the American commander sailed on her return trip to the United States.

Gen. Booth was first informed of the summoning of the High Council early in January. When his wife told him of the movement that had been inaugurated to remove him he said:

GENERAL'S COMMENT

"Whatever people think of the government of the army, they must feel this is rough on me. I have loved the army and I have done my best for our people."

In April, 1929, King George signally honored Gen. Booth by making him a member of the Order of Companions of Honor. The order was founded by the King in 1917 for men and women who have rendered conspicuous service. Its membership is limited to fifty.

The nature and extent of his life's work were tersely described by characterizations of Gen. Booth.

He had been called "Father of the World's Poor;" "Patriarch of the Slums," and "Bishop of the Church of the Poor." As commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army he was all of these.

Gen. Booth devoted his life to strengthening and extending the organization founded to promulgate the teaching of religion among persons not reached by the churches and to give to men and women who had failed a new start in life.

He inherited command of the Salvation Army from his father, the late Gen. William Booth, its founder, whose chief lieutenant he had been for many years. As commander-in-chief he became the guiding director and administrator of an organization whose annual revenue has been estimated at $40,000,000.

There came under his control the conduct of 1500 social institutions, including industrial homes, open-air farms for children, men's hotels, day schools and soldiers' hotels. Additional activities of the Salvation Army under his direction included the conduct of a bank, an insurance company and an immigration company.

WORLD WAR SHOWING

The World War offered opportunity for new activities by the Salvation Army and its members did their work so well that in the end the army had been raised from the status of a poor man's charity to a powerful international organization.

Gen. Booth was instrumental in sending the Salvation Army workers into every camp and rest station behind the front and in the countries of the belligerent nations with doughnuts and cigarettes for the soldiers. Because of his organization's heroic work it is said that few persons have been the recipients of as much gratitude as was bestowed on Gen. Booth during and after the war.

Born in Halifax, Eng., March 8, 1856, he was known generally as Bramwell Booth to distinguish him from his father during the latter's lifetime. He received a severe training from his parents for his life work. Appointed chief of staff in 1880, he served in that capacity under his father until the latter's death in 1912. By his father's will he was appointed commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army.

In 1880 Gen. Booth married Miss Eleanor Soper. They had two sons and five daughters. Mrs. Booth became leader of women's social work of the Salvation Army and in 1920 was raised to a magistracy by the British government.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR POST

Although he eventually inherited command of the Salvation Army, Gen. Booth was compelled as a young man to prove that he possessed the qualifications that would fit him for the office. As the chief lieutenant of his father he went into the East End, or slum district of London, and carried on the work assigned to him.

MERCY WORKER GOES TO REWARD

Gen. Bramwell Booth

He preached to jeering hostile crowds; he instituted a crusade which culminated in a world-wide protest against white slavery and was largely instrumental in formulating plans for the restoration to society of discharged prisoners.

The son collaborated with his father in writing "In Darkest England," which outlined a plan for the social, moral and material betterment of the poorest people of England. Out of that grew the various industrial homes and other institutions, which form an important part of the present-day Salvation Army.

Gen. Booth kept in close touch with the work of the Salvation Army in the United States and made several visits to this country. The last was in 1920 while he was making a world tour. Ballington Booth, formerly commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, was a younger brother of Gen. Bramwell Booth, and Miss Evangeline Booth, who succeeded Bramwell in this country, is the sister.

Ballington Booth was recalled from the American command in 1906 after a disagreement with his father, Gen. William Booth. After being succeeded by his sister, Ballington organized and became commander of the Volunteers of America.

VISIT TO AMERICA

When Gen. Bramwell Booth visited the United States in 1912 after he became commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, he arranged a meeting with his brother, declaring "we ought not to keep alive ancient grudges or differences." No effort was made, however, to amalgamate the two organizations.

With reference to that Gen. Bramwell booth said: "Christianity has been helped fully as much by having its views impressed upon different men from different angles as by approaching them from one avenue of appeal."

A few years ago friction arose between the American headquarters of the army and the general headquarters in London over the proposed removal of Miss Evangeline Booth as commander of the army in the United States. It first was planned to make the change in 1922, Gen. Booth's intention being to put the work in the United States under the direction of commissioners.

So many protests were made by American members of the army and citizens generally that Miss Booth's commission was extended for three years. At the end of that time, however, she was not disturbed.

Friends of Miss Booth insisted that her brother had become jealous of her success and popularity in America, pointing out that during Miss Booth's administration Salvation Army properties in the United States had increased in value from $1,500,000 to more than $32,000,000. Two commissioners were sent from London to the United States in September, 1925, and while they insisted their mission had nothing to do with attempts to smooth over matters, there were no further developments in the incident.

During the latter years of his life Gen. Booth's birthday anniversaries were made the occasions of felicitations by his friends and those interested in the Salvation Army. On those days the general received hundreds of messages from all over the world.

HIGH TRIBUTES PAID BY ARMY OFFICIAL HERE

Salvation Army leaders here yesterday awaited official word of the death of Gen. Bramwell Booth from the New York headquarters, together with orders for a nation-wide memorial service for the former head of the organization.

Words of tribute and praise for the dead came from officials here who were conducting a joint afternoon service for Col. Walter Jenkins, national secretary and first assistant to Evangeline Booth, when news of the death in London was made public.

The death of Gen. Booth had been expected for some time, according to Col. Jenkins, who was intimately acquainted with the former leader.

"He was a great character and a wonderful leader," said the national officer. "The Salvation Army world will feel keenly the loss of this man.

"News of his death does not come as a great surprise. It has been the wonderment of all acquainted with his physical condition that he has survived so long. The general was paralyzed from the waist down, and his physical handicap seemed too much for him to bear."

Throng Assembles in Scotch Town to Give Welcome

great crowd of citizens, had been assembled at the railway station for some time.

The two statesmen met in the corridor of the train just outside the private carriage which Mr. Dawes occupied. After cordial greetings and introductions on both sides they emerged on the station platform where they posed for photographers and then began the address of welcome by Brailie Caldwell, Forres's official spokesman.

The Bailie extended a most cordial welcome to the distinguished guests and told them the citizens of Forres wished them God speed in their deliberations. He pointed to a near-by monument to Lord Nelson and said he believes it was the first of its kind in Great Britain to be built in memory of the Battle of Trafalgar.

"In the future there will be no need to build memorials to gallant soldiers and sailors if conversations which begin today go as we all hope they will," he said, forecasting that the American emissary and England's Laborite premier will begin the work of naval disarmament negotiations at once.

Amid much cheering Mr. Dawes replied as follows:

"Mr. Prime Minister, Mr. Mayor and friends:

"You know I came here today to have conversation, not to indulge in speech-making. But it is a delight to me to be here in these historic and beautiful surroundings—the more historic because it is from this locality that Britain's great Prime Minister has come—to be here to meet his friends, those who have known him so many years,—to be among you and feel that you also are my friends—are really a great satisfaction to me."

Mr. MacDonald then thanked the Bailie and citizens for their welcome and told them that he would remind the Ambassador that had the day been other than Sunday the greeting would have been much more demonstrative. But at any rate it could not have been more sincere. It is reported that several residents of the town disapproved of a meeting even of this kind on the Sabbath and one citizen is said to have telegraphed Mr. MacDonald urging him to postpone it until Monday.

The Ambassador and Premier and their respective parties motored to the home of Sir Alexander Grant—Logie House—where luncheon was awaiting them.

Ambassador Dawes and Prime Minister MacDonald each planted a fir sapling in the grounds of Lodge House to commemorate the occasion of their first meeting and subsequent announcement that new negotiations for naval disarmament will be started. After finishing his task Mr. MacDonald remarked: "I hope it will grow well."

KEEN INTEREST IN TRIP

All along the journey from London the progress of Ambassador Dawes was watched with keen interest by the British people.

It was widely reported that he brought to the British Premier an invitation from President Hoover to visit him in Washington for discussion of the relations of the two nations, but after the conference today both said that this subject did not arise.

There prevails a strong feeling over here that the American President and the British chief of state are determined that their nations together shall take vigorous leadership in the settlement of the armament problem as the first requirement for world peace. So Gen. Dawes everywhere has been hailed with every evidence of sincere cordiality.

"Our interview was most satisfactory," the American Ambassador told representatives of the American press. "It was marked by no difference of opinion. It is very evident that the Prime Minister has given most earnest thought to this problem of world importance and that successful solution of it is a matter first in his heart."

The impression made on him, he added, was that the Premier is a man of sincere courage and honesty of purpose. Their discussion, the Ambassador insisted, was confined strictly to the question of naval disarmament. Debt settlements and other international issues were not mentioned.

With the wing of the Labor party, which supported them in the last House, the government supporters hold a majority of twenty-six over the South African party opposition, led by Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, former Premier.

BRAKEMAN SEES CO-ED'S MURDER

[illegible] Girl's Death on Ohio Rifle Range

[illegible] Ran Off With Body [illegible] He Approached

[illegible] Against Snook Accumulating

COLUMBUS (O.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Asserting he witnessed [illegible] murder of Miss Theora [illegible] pretty Ohio State University [illegible] whose slaying last Thursday night Prof. James H. [illegible] of the veterinary department of the university now is in [illegible] E. R. Cencebaugh, a railroad brakeman, reported to the police today and told his story.

"I was riding on a string of cars near Fort Hayes around midnight on Thursday," the brakeman said, "when I saw a man beating and choking a woman and apparently trying to throw her into the fort incinerator."

Cencebaugh and another brakeman signaled for the train to stop, and the two alighted and returned to the scene. They saw the man gather the woman up in his arms, Cencebaugh said, and rush into a dense thicket. They searched for a while, but found no trace of the pair.

Miss Hix, a quiet girl, who, friends say, "did not care for men," was murdered and her body horribly mutilated on or near the Fort Hayes rifle range where her body was discovered. Snook, police say, was her secret lover, although he has a wife and a 3-year-old daughter, having succeeded to that position in the girl's affections when it was relinquished by Marion Meyers, another professor, also under arrest.

The Cencebaugh story is the only witness evidence so far uncovered, but the chain of evidence against Snook, investigators assert, is gradually strengthening.

Mrs. Margaret Smalley told police today that Snook last February rented a room from her, registering with Miss Hix as "Dr. Snook and wife." He told her he was a demonstrator for a salt company, she said, and he often visited this retreat with the shy student.

On Friday last, the day the girl's body was found, Mrs. Smalley related, he appeared there alone and removed wearing apparel belonging to Miss Hix.

In the Snook home detectives found several articles which they say incriminate Dr. Snook, articles that were stained with blood. The precise nature of this evidence they are keeping secret until they receive the result of a chemical analysis of the stains.

Snook sturdily maintains his innocence of the crime or of any complicity in its commission but he is being continually questioned.

'FLYING' COURT CREEPS ON TRIP

Party Has to Use Autos for Gold Dredge Inspection

Rains Make Landing Fields Too Soggy For Take-off

Tuolumne Diggings Seen by Los Angeles Group

BY W. W. FERGUSON
"Times" Staff Representative

MERCED, June 16.—All kinds of transportation were used by Superior Judge Stephens of Los Angeles and the attaches of his "flying courtroom" in the placer dredge goldfields of Central California today, in order to enable them to return to the Los Angeles County Courthouse tomorrow morning and resume the San Gabriel damsite gold claim condemnation suit after aerial travel had been spoiled by a June rain.

When gold country landing fields had been softened by the rain, and low-hanging clouds made visibility bad, the "flying court" adjourned to the stateroom of a Sacramento River steamer, to be ready for an early start to see the large dredges at Natoma. Automobiles were used to make the inspection. From Sacramento to Modesto, the "flying court" sped over the concrete on the Golden State Highway bus, and for the last thirty-two miles to La Grange, on the Tuolumne River, the court flivvered.

GET OUT AND PUSH

Near La Grange, on a red clay hill, spinning rear wheels lost traction, and the court, attorneys, and litigants, had to get out and push.

"Here we are, reversing the order of nature," said Judge Stephens, as he shoved on a fender. "Yesterday we were butterflies, today we're caterpillars."

The Tuolumne River "diggings" were visited by the court, because conditions there are more nearly like the proposed mines in San Gabriel Canyon, than anywhere else. Near La Grange, one of the oldest towns in the State, where thousands of miners once scratched in the river gravels to pan gold, two dredges slowly are eating their way down the narrow valley. In the past four years, $3,000,000 worth of gold has been mined, according to the superintendent of the project, H. G. Kumle.

FLOODS DEFEATED

At one point, the valley is narrower than the San Gabriel Canyon, but there was plenty of room for the dredge, which is only half the size of the 3000-ton monsters on the American River at Natoma. Flood Control Counsel Dowds, representing the county's interests, asked Mr. Kumle what would happen to a dredge if a flash flood swept down the valley. The superintendent related how the Tuolumne dredges worked right through the floods, being anchored by two-inch cables to steel I-beams buried underground.

"No doubt engineers would encounter unusual problems in the San Gabriel Canyon," said Mr. Kumle, "but that's what engineers are for. Anchor bolts of sufficient strength to hold a floating barge probably could be cemented into the rock walls of the canyon."

Mr. Kumle pointed out boulders ten feet in diameter in the bed of the Toulumne River, which he said had been encountered and nosed aside by the large steel buckets of the placer dredge. It had been suggested that large boulders in the San Gabriel River bed would interfere with dredging operations.

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

Defendants in the condemnation suit, who have consolidated most of the placer mining claims in the San Gabriel River bed, are trying to prove there is gold in paying quantities in the San Gabriel gravels, and that they can extract it profitably by modern dredging methods, which, it is estimated, will cost less than 10 cents a cubic yard, in the canyon. Experts have testified to gold values far greater than that. A recommendation from Washington land office officials that the mining claims be canceled is based on reports from other experts, denying the presence of workable gold deposits.

If it be established that gold is present in paying quantities in the San Gabriel sands, and the court holds that there exists no legal reason for canceling the government patents on the claims, then the question to be decided is how much the county must pay for the privilege of erecting its $25,000,000 flood control dam in a gold mine.

DREDGING OPPOSED

Contractors building the dam under the auspices of E. C. Eaton, engineer for the County Flood Control District, are opposing the dredging of the placer claims, on the ground that there is not room for two such operations in the canyon at once. They suggest that the gold mining be deferred until the dam is built. They ask why the dredging wasn't done long ago, if the gold is so plentiful. The answer to this, according to Millson William Downs, president of the San Gabriel Development Company, defendant in the case, is, first because there is enough dredgeable territory in Northern and Central California to keep present mining capital employed there for twenty years, and second, because the many small claim owners in the San Gabriel were not organized for the cooperation necessary to a large scale modern placer dredge mine, the only profitable way to work low-grade gold sands.

The County Board of Supervisors, which employed Vincent Morgan as special counsel associated with Flood Control Counsel Dowds, has taken the position that the San Gabriel mining operations were instituted not so much as a mining proposition, but rather to collect damages from the county. The board sees itself a guardian of the public purse, and is acting accordingly.

Further testimony will be resumed in Judge Stephens's courtroom, on the nineteenth floor of the City Hall tower Monday.

WATER FAMINE INCREASES

Hongkong Rain Brings Only Slight Alleviation; Emergency Measures Extended

HONGKONG, June 16. (AP)—Thousands of thirsty persons lined up at the water stations today in the bright sun and heat awaiting doles of the precious liquid. The rain of yesterday totaled only half an inch, hardly a trickle in the yawning reservoirs.

The government views the situation as "increasingly serious" and is, therefore, extending its emergency plans and providing for increased storage and tankage. It is considering converting the naval dry dock into a huge reservoir for the water supplies brought by steamships.

Investigation today revealed that five out of the six reservoirs on this island virtually are empty. It was estimated there is in storage about 200,000,000 gallons, compared with the normal amount of 2,000,000,000 gallons. Kowloon on the mainland is in the same predicament having only 90,000,000 gallons instead of the 500,000,000 needed.

Official circles emphasized that this summer there will be "a certain quantity for all" but explained the most serious time may be expected in the coming winter unless there are heavyrains prior to October when the winter dry season begins.

The government has telegraphed Singapore and Saigon asking what supplies are available in the Straits Settlements and French Indo-China. It is making every attempt to increase sources of water imports.

Wife Takes Up Boxing Lessons to Defend Self

CHICAGO, June 16. (Exclusive) Mrs. Charles Ducharme, 1051 East Seventy-fifth street, who has filed suit for divorce against her husband, Charles Ducharme, vice-president of the Frigid Fluid Company, will tell her story to Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. Mrs. Ducharme alleges cruelty and says she took boxing lessons in a vain effort to defend herself from her husband. She lost three bouts with him, according to the bill.

STUDENT GENIUS IN GRADUATION

bet. She read easily at the age of 3 years, without having been taught. At 7 years, she had a vocabulary of 13,000 words which is greater than that of the average college graduate.

Just when Betty learned to read her parents never knew. She would sit on her father's or mother's lap watching the pages of her picture books while one or the other of her parents read aloud to her. At the end of a favorite story she would demand the usual "over again" until the grown-ups would grow weary and put the book aside. Suddenly they discovered that when this happened Betty would take the book and read it for herself. She had learned to recognize the words without the usual laborious process of spelling and syllables. Today in fact she still reads with a "photographic eye." One glance at a page and she can conned it complete. This means, of course, that her reading is far more rapid than that of the ordinary person.

GENIUS IN MUSIC

One of the astonishing facts of her childhood was her ability to play the violin the first time she took the instrument in her hands. She looked at it, twanged its strings with her fingers, placed it beneath her little chin and played far better than most children are able to do after months of teaching. She mastered the piano as a little child, almost without coaching, and is now, at 17, an artist without having had to put in long hours of practice. She reads at sight with great facility and plays the difficult compositions of Chopin, Beethoven and Bach with rare interpretation.

When Betty was 6 years of age, a relative gave her an old typewriter as a plaything. The little girl was delighted and showed her pleasure immediately by typing off a little story with her two chubby forefingers. Poems, stories, hand illustrated geography and history lessons in verse followed, for the old typewriter was to be Betty's greatest companion in the years that followed.

MASTERS LANGUAGES

Betty had no formal schooling until she was eleven. The tedium of the slow processes of acquiring knowledge was not for her alert mind. Instead she was turned loose in a well-stocked home library and permitted to browse with an occasional suggestion for the direction of her reading from her mother. Her own thirst for information led her into lengthy investigations along subjects that interested her. She was entered at 10 years in a private school for a high-school course. At 14 she was graduated from another private school in Berkeley and passed the rigid entrance examinations for Stanford University.

At the university she has completed the usual four-year course in three and graduated at an age younger than that at which the average student enters. Her course has been a broad one, with plenty of science to balance her pleasure group of courses in languages and literature. German, French and Spanish she reads and writes as fluently as English.

So broad is the intelligence and range of ability of this remarkable girl that the choice of a career has been difficult. She draws, paints and illustrates with a professional touch and sparkling humor, and her talent for music so early disclosed has increased with maturity. As a writer she has marked individuality and facility in both verse and fiction.

She plans to go back to Stanford next term for post-graduate work and is considering a literary career. She is at present working on a novel.

Walter Cady received possible fatal injuries in the first accident. Fanning suffered a possible fracture of the skull, and internal injuries.

Henry Ford's Inquiry Leads to Geneva Debate

GENEVA, June 16. (AP)—After a lively discussion, the governing body of the international labor organization decided by nine votes to seven to accept in principle the offer of Edward A. The offer, which is the outcome of an inquiry by Henry Ford, who desired to place his employees in all countries on the same basis, is to be considered by a committee of three representing the governments, employers and workers' groups in the organization to determine whether any unacceptable conditions are attached.

Must Men Fear 40?

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, frequent nightly risings, sciatic pains, are some of the signs—and now a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has written a remarkably interesting Free Book that tells of other symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life be content to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the amazing method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostate gland to its proper functioning. House Hunting Made Easy Through Times Ads

HOOVER AVOIDS RADICAL TARIFF

Middle Course Steered in Congressional Fight

President Opposes Borah's Limitation Attempt

But He Also Combats Move for Taking Lid Off

WASHINGTON, June 16. (Exclusive)—President Hoover is prepared to steer a middle course between two groups of tariff extremists.

The President does not approve of the resolution of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to limit tariff revision to agricultural and related commodities on which action is to be taken tomorrow in the Senate. Nor does he stand with the extreme protectionists who want a general upward revision of duties on industrial rates.

Information conveyed to Senators from the White House indicates that the President believes that framers of the bill passed by the House went too far, particularly with respect to the imposition of duties on building materials.

The President's idea of a "limited" revision of the tariff calls for an extensive boosting of agricultural duties, which will provide adequate protection without giving unnecessary offense to foreign countries and an increase in duties on products of industries which can show actual distress from foreign competition.

It is understood that the President's influence is being exerted quietly to bring about a settlement of the controversy over the Borah resolution in such a way as to prevent the wrecking of the administration program for tariff revision.

Adoption of the Borah resolution in its present form, it is contended, would throw obstacles in the way of the fulfillment of campaign promises made by Republican speakers in industrial sections of the country.

The high point of President Hoover's address at Boston during the campaign, for example, was a declaration that higher duties were justified for some of the New England industries.

"No tariff act is perfect," said Mr. Hoover in his Boston speech. "With the shifting of economic tides some items may be higher than necessary but, undoubtedly, some are too low. This is particularly true so far as New England is concerned."

TEXTILES NAMED

Mr. Hoover referred especially to textiles in amplifying his tariff declaration at Boston. Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee, expects to vote for the Borah resolution on the theory that cotton manufacturers are included among products "directly related" to agriculture. He has a particular interest in the welfare of the cotton-manufacturing industry in his State. Other Senators think his interpretation is rather far fetched and that in any event the President is on record for protection for industries which cannot be regarded as coming within the scope of the resolution.

The President's formula for tariff revision as enunciated in his message to Congress at the opening of the special session, is held to show clearly that he did not intend that the revision should be limited to agriculture and related products.

Despite the President's recommendation for limited changes in industrial duties and an increasing tendency of Democrats toward protection adoption of the Borah resolution by the Senate tomorrow is a possibility. Sufficient votes for its adoption actually were in sight Saturday but pressure is being applied by Republican leaders which may shift enough votes to defeat it by a narrow margin.

An amendment to the resolution offered by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, whose State is interested chiefly in duties on shingles and cedar logs would extend the revision to apply to "any other line of production that has been in a depressed condition during the last year or more traceable to steadily increasing competitive imports."

BORAH TROUBLESOME

Senator Borah, who was one of the chief stump speakers for Hoover last fall and who more than anyone else is credited with having influenced the President to call the special session of Congress "seems to have caused more trouble for the administration on both of the major subjects of the session than any other single member.

Tomorrow's debate over the Borah resolution may lead to bitter exchanges between the regulars and irregulars in the Republican party. Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, majority whip, who described Senator Borah as a "pseudo Republican," will take an active part in the opposition to the resolution.

The Borah resolution now is the only obstacle in the way of an agreement on recess plans. If it is defeated Congress will recess Wednesday until the middle of August.

TRIPLETS PRESENTED TO YOSEMITE BANDIT BEAR

YOSEMITE, June 16. (Exclusive) "Jessie James," the park's notorious hold-up bear, will now have to stop more cars than ever before. Mrs. James has just presented him with a set of triplets—three bouncing cubs. Mamma James is well and takes her offspring out for a stroll about Mirror Lake each day much to the delight of the visitors.

Last summer "Jesse James" gained wide notoriety by holding up automobiles near Cascade Falls until the occupants would hand over gumdrops, chewing gum or cookies. One day he disappeared, much to the disappointment of the park visitors. Then last winter when the snow was deep and food scarce, Jesse James returned to his old occupation of holding up cars. After getting a full "tummy" the bandit bear returned to his cave at the base of El Capitan Rock to continue his winter's nap. This spring found Jesse back at his old trade more determined than ever with the result that the kiddies have had to hand over all their sweets to the bruin bandit.

Now that Jesse James has become the father of triplets, rangers are wondering if he will not quit "the hold-up racket" and return to his family and eat with them at the bears' outdoor feeding platform like the other self-respecting bears.

SECURITY-FIRST NATIONAL RESOURCES 600 MILLIONS 1875 BANK OF LOS ANGELES

Worth the Effort

THIS BANK solicits the commercial business of individuals, firms and corporations—those who are operating in a small way, just as much as the large, established, prosperous concerns.

We have only one standard of banking—which applies to all alike. It is worth the effort for a concern beginning business or working in a limited field to conform to the standards of Security-First National Bank.

It is a fallacy that a small business belongs in a small bank—a still greater fallacy to suppose that a small bank can be more "liberal" with its customers than a large bank, or that it can establish a more intimate and friendly contact. This Bank is organized to provide for the small depositor, the small borrower on commercial account, the same credit facilities as are made available to larger concerns.

In the new DODGE SIX they even polish the combustion chambers!

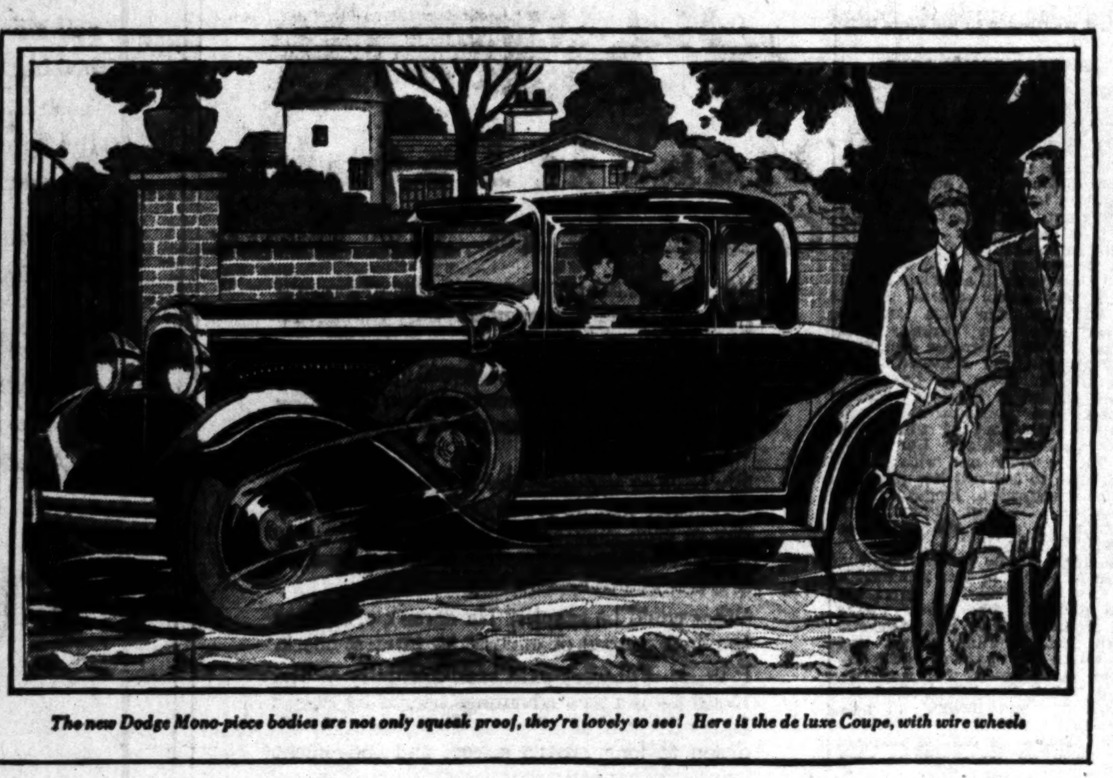
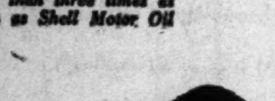
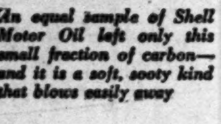
In the new Dodge Six motor the combustion chambers are fully machined to make compression uniform. When the car maker takes so much care it seems shameful to use an oil that builds up rough layers of damaging, gritty carbon inside. You needn't use such an oil any more



The new Dodge Mono-piece bodies are not only squeak proof, they're lovely to see! Here is the de luxe Coupe, with wire wheels



Even the costliest oils form more carbon. A sample of this oil, when burned, left more than three times as much as Shell Motor Oil



An equal sample of Shell Motor Oil left only this small fraction of carbon—and it is a soft, sooty kind that blows easily away

Imagine the effects of gritty carbon there!

TO get uniform compression, power, smooth running—that's why the once rough-cast "insides" of motors are smooth finished today. They're even polished in the new Dodge Six.

And yet many motor oils, when burned, leave layers of rough, gritty, coke-like carbon on those polished surfaces!

Then red hot carbon flakes curl up and cause pre-ignition knocks and motor strains. Chips fall off and get under valves, holding them open to warp and burn. Gritty bits chafe their way down the cylinder walls, into the oil stream and grind endlessly through bearings, traveling at lightning speed.

Wear—trouble—annoyance, even in our finest cars, and from the very oil you buy to protect them!

But there is one oil, at least, that forms no hard carbon, one that lubricates modern motors safely.

It is Shell Motor Oil. When it burns it leaves only 1/3 to 1/5 as much carbon as even the costliest oils you can buy! The little it forms is just soft soot—a fluffy carbon that blows out with the exhaust gases.

If you drive a modern car—anyone made the last few years—you'll find a low-carbon oil almost essential to perfect operation.

Refill with Shell Motor Oil; continue to use it—it solves the high-compression lubrication problem.

NANKING REGIME IN DIRE STRAITS

Army Costs Bring Menace of Huge Deficit

Hope to Get Cash by Sale of Bonds in America

Propaganda Started to Put Deal Over, Claim

PEKING, June 16. (Exclusive)—How closely Nanking is approaching bankruptcy it is impossible to say, but certain it is that the government functioning there is very hard pressed for money.

In January Mr. T. V. Soong, Minister of Finance, warned the disbandment commission that if China's armies of 3,000,000 men were not "at once" reduced to a maximum of 800,000 men, and if the military did not stop levying or withholding from Nanking all taxes, bankruptcy was inevitable.

The war lords promised proportionate disbandment, whereupon Mr. Soong told them that the best showing possible for this year, if they kept their word, would be a deficit of $60,000,000, which would have to be covered by domestic borrowing. This deficit estimate did not include $56,000,000 estimated disbandment expenses nor $10,000,000 for famine relief work, for both of which items bonds were voted, secured upon customs surplus.

BONDS NOT SOLD

But neither the famine relief nor the disbandment bonds have been sold. Prospects of further civil wars have continued so black that Chinese bankers refused to touch these issues, and the prospects have developed into actual and very costly warfare.

Nanking's main hope, it seems, is the flotation of a large bond issue in America and to this end a tremendous publicity campaign is being waged in the United States. Bribes, subsidies, no-work jobs at fat pay, and all manner of deceptions are being used to help along the propaganda campaign which is designed to make the American public believe that China is united and has a stable government.

As an example of this, early in April many American newspapers published items and interviews attributed to Mr. John J. Mantell, newly appointed railway adviser to Nanking, in which it was stated that no Chinese railways are now or have been since Boxer days (1900) in arreas in interest payments. No doubt, Mr. Mantell was misquoted, or the statement was given out in his name without his knowledge, for the reverse is the case.

MOST HAVE DEFAULTED

Only two lines, the Shanghai-Nanking and the Shanghai-Hangchow lines, are up to date in interest payments. All the rest have defaulted, some very badly, and a number have even defaulted largely on capital payments on bonds due for redemption.

Nanking has been making a great show of "modernization," with an eye on American money vaults, by appointing a large number of American "advisers" on matters of finance, transportation, building, engineering, currency reform and harbor works.

A curious phase of this movement is that many of these Americans are taking the places of British advisers. The British were almost all highly competent men, and none were incompetent, but Nanking has chosen to "sack" them, and name Americans in their stead, at the same time giving out the impression that these were new positions and that employing foreign advisers was a new development for China.

The American advisers, however hopeful they may be when they sail for the Near West, will be able to accomplish no more than have the British, if whatever government China has continues to disregard the advice which the advisers give, as the advice of the Britons has been disregarded.

New York financial houses are, of course, just as well aware of China's tens of millions of pounds, francs, yen, dollars and guilders of defaults on her railway bonds and other securities as are the financial houses in London or Paris or Tokio or Amsterdam.

The danger is that a direct appeal to the public may be made, accompanied by propaganda designed to appeal to traditional American sympathy for China, propaganda which will carefully avoid mentioning China's defaults on other loans, and which will ignore the unpleasant fact that Nanking now ignores treaty safeguards inserted in other loan agreements as worthless scraps of paper.

SURGICAL FEAT AT SEA

Seaman's Life Saved by Operation Performed Under Difficult Circumstances

ANCON (C. Z.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Henry Lohse, 21-year-old seaman, reported on the road toward recovery at Gorgas Hospital, owes his life to an appendix operation performed under most unusual conditions by Dr. David R. Robbins, Los Angeles surgeon.

Lohse, a seaman on the S.S. Corvus proceeding toward Los Angeles, suffered a ruptured appendix on May 20, when seven days from port. It was not until the morning of the 24th. after communication with the S.S. Noorderdyk, on which Dr. Robbins was a passenger, that the youth was transferred to the Noorderdyk and his condition relieved.

For the operation, the officers' mess room was converted into a surgery, the dining table being used for the operation.

With only enough instruments to remove a sliver properly, Dr. Robbins said, and without a general anaesthetic, the operation was performed.

Holland gin was used as an antiseptic solution because of the lack of any medical preparation. Rubber tubing cut from a shower bath hose was inserted in the incision for drainage purposes, and the incision itself was sewed up with ordinary linen thread and sewing needle. The ship's cook allowed the surgeon the use of his oven to sterilize the instruments.

Dr. Robbins was assisted in the operation by Miss Mary Marwick, trained nurse from Cottage Hospital, Santa Barbara, Cal., who was also a passenger.

Accompanied by his wife, the doctor left Los Angeles May 16, for an eighteen months' stay in Vienna where he will engage in special study before returning to Los Angeles.

EDITORS TO SEE BRIDGE OPENING

Smith River Span Last Link In Redwood Highway

Southern California to be Well Represented

Party Leaves San Francisco Tomorrow Morning

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (Exclusive)—Official opening of the new Hiouchi bridge across the Smith River in Del Norte county, which signalizes the completion of the last link in the Redwood Highway, will find a large delegation of metropolitan newspaper publishers and editors of newspapers in the nine counties of the Redwood Empire present at the ceremonies.

The publishers and editors are participating in the event through the activity of the newspaper publishers' unit of the Redwood Empire Association, of which Ernest L. Findley of the Santa Rosa Press Democrat is president, and Harry Lutgens of the San Rafael Independent, secretary, and Clyde Edmondson, manager of the association, staff executive.

GATHER TODAY

The newspaper men will gather in San Francisco tomorrow, to be the guests of the Board of Supervisors and the Press Club. The start of the seven-days tour will be Tuesday morning. Accompanying the publishers, will be many city officials, including supervisors who also will join the "land cruise" to British Columbia, which starts after the ceremonies at Smith River.

The visitors arriving tomorrow will include many publishers of newspapers in the larger cities of the State. The fame of the Redwood Empire and the Redwood Highway has attracted much attention in Southern California, with the result that a majority of the party leaving Tuesday morning will be from the southern part of the State.

Following sightseeing tours about the city and bay district, the visitors will be entertained at an informal dinner tomorrow night at the Press Club, with President Al C. Bartlett presiding. The club, in association with Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher, has arranged an elaborate program.

GOVERNORS TO ATTEND

Tuesday morning the party leaves at 8 a.m. from Hyde street, for a tour of the northern coast counties winding up at Hiouchi bridge at 11 a.m. Saturday when the ceremonies for the bridge dedication will start. Governors of the three Pacific Coast States will be present, as well as members of the highway commissions and many State officials and representatives from the "Big City" chambers of commerce. Ralph M. Bull, chairman of the California Highway Commission, will preside.

After luncheon in the Memorial Redwood Grove the publishers and the members of the "land cruise" go on to Grants Pass, stopping en route at the Oregon caves.

The return trip Sunday retraces the Redwood Highway to Eureka.

MEDAL WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Three Selected for Honor By Roosevelt Society

Owen Young, Owen Wister, Herbert Putnam Named

Chosen for Able Efforts in their Fields of Work

NEW YORK, June 16. (Exclusive)—Owen D. Young, American delegate to the reparations conference in Paris; Owen Wister, novelist and historian, and Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress, will receive the Roosevelt medals for Distinguished Service this year, according to an announcement made tonight by James R. Garfield, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Association.

Mr. Young is honored for his work in international affairs in bringing about a settlement of the question of reparations; Mr. Wister for his distinguished contributions to American literature, depicting the life of the western frontier, and Herbert Putnam for his thirty years' service as director of the Library of Congress.

The medals will be bestowed by the president of the association at a banquet at Roosevelt House, the Roosevelt birthplace, at 28 East Twentieth street, New York, on October 27, the seventy-first anniversary of President Roosevelt's birth.

MEDAL BY FRASER

The Roosevelt Medal, which is three inches in diameter and of solid gold, shows on one side a head of Theodore Roosevelt and on the other a flaming sword with the motto: "If I must choose between righteousness and peace, I choose righteousness." It was designed by James Earle Fraser.

The committee on whose recommendations the trustees of the association made the awards consists of the following: Mrs. C. Grant La Farge, chairman; Henry D. Lindsley, Guy Murchie, Arthur W. Page, Herbert Knox Smith, Albert Shaw, E. A Van Valkenburg and William Allen White.

As a member of the First Commission of Experts appointed by the Reparations Commission under the Treaty of Versailles, known as the Dawes Plan of reparations payments largely instrumental in devising the Dawes Plan of reparation payments which Mr. Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, described as "the best security since the Armistice for the peace of the world."

Mr. Young was unofficial adviser of the London Conference of Premiers in 1924, and, as the first Agent-General of Reparations, set up the machinery for the payments under the Dawes Plan. In January, 1929, he was appointed with Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan as an unofficial member of the international committee of experts for the revision of German reparations payments and was subsequently elected chairman. His proposal, presented at an early session, for the formation of an international bank or clearinghouse for the handling of the reparations debt, was declared to be possibly "as far-reaching and important in the financial and economic world as the League of Nations is politically . . . an institution which finally may clear up the whole issue of war debts and serve the banks of all countries by co-ordinating their international needs and accommodating their demands for exchanges in a fashion to protect the moneys of all nations."

Mr. Young is chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric Company and the Radio Corporation of America and director of many other corporations and institutions.

OWEN WISTER

Owen Wister receives the medal for distinguished service in the field of American literature, as a historian who has recorded for all time the character and atmosphere of the "wild West" during the last quarter of the nineteenth century. It was he who fixed in the American mind the spirit of a place and a period in which the qualities and the defects of the American outlook appeared stripped to their fundamentals. He caught for posterity the passing figure of the cowboy as Bret Harte caught that of the forty-niner, and George W. Cable that of the Creole. But through the localized type he caught and fixed glimpses of the national type. His stories transcend their own westernism, being in the largest sense, American.

Owen Wister is best known as a novelist and writer of short stories, but it is as a historian that the trustees of the Memorial Association have awarded the medal to him.

HERBERT PUTNAM

Herbert Putnam, to whom a medal is awarded for distinguished service in the administration of public office, has for thirty years served the nation as Librarian of Congress. During that period he has developed the library from an inadequately organized collection of little more than local importance, into an institution, national in its scope, international in its renown, whose contents place it beside the largest libraries in the world, and whose range of activities is greater and more diversified than that of any other library.

The Roosevelt Awards, which were established by the Roosevelt Memorial Association in 1923, are given annually in three out of eleven fields: The administration of public office; the field of public and international law; the field of industrial peace; the conservation of natural resources; the cause of social justice; the study of natural history; the field of outdoor life; the field of national defense; the leadership of youth and the development of American character; the field of American literature; the field of international affairs.

For a similar reason marriage was discouraged between the blonds or between dark persons. Marriage was forbidden into an epileptic family. Memorial Foundation Among Last Notable Acts CLEVELAND (O.) June 16. (AP)—A long and active career that brought brought numerous high honors from fellow-countrymen and learned societies of foreign lands was ended as the body of Charles F. Brush, 80 years of age, inventor of the arc light, scientist, philanthropist and humanitarian, lay at his home here awaiting funeral preparations. Death came last night.

He started work in Cleveland as an analytical chemist but his interest soon turned to electricity. Out of his study came the invention of the arc light in 1878.

He withdrew from active manufacturing business in 1891 and devoted his time to scientific study.

Brush was decorated by France as Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his discoveries in electricity.

Vollmer Says Banks to Blame for Robberies

BERKELEY, June 16. (AP)—Chief of Police Vollmer today asserted recent bank robberies here are directly traceable to negligence on the part of bank officials.

Five recent bank robberies were caused by refusal of banks to cooperate with police, the chief asserted, adding that a "penny-wise and pound-foolish" policy on the part of officials was coupled with "singular apathy" and lack of resistance on the part of bank employees when faced by hold-up men.

As long ago as 1895, proposals for the segregation of younger offenders were made and an actual method definitely outlined. The plan, at that time, attracted international attention and British officials visited the Dominion for the specific purpose of examininig the suggested methods. They were most favorably impressed. On their return, the Borstal system was established in the United Kingdom. Since that date, twenty-two penal institutions in the British Isles have been closed and much of the credit is given to the inauguration of the separation methods which were partially inspired by the Canadian plan. In this country, however, the movement lapsed and is only now regaining momentum.

TRADES TO BE TAUGHT

Aside from the actual buildings which are to house the preferred class of convict, special training and careful control are to be important features of the development. The basic idea behind the entire proposal, of course, is to reclaim the first offender and turn him into a self-respecting citizen instead of an economic loss to the community and a possible social menace. Elimination of all contacts with the convict who has had an extensive criminal record will do much to meet the situation but the Ministry of Justice expects to add vocational training and complete instruction in various trades.

According to Gen. Hughes's last report, there are 2560 prisoners in Canada's penitentiaries. Of these, 338 are less than 20 years of age and 1137 range from 20 to 30 years. That there is a field for the work of reclamation is obvious from these statistics.

VOLIVA TURNS EYES MORE TO HOLY LAND

NEW YORK, June 16. (Exclusive) Wilbur Glenn Voliva returned this afternoon from the Holy Land aboard the steamer Transylvania. He brought with him twenty pieces of baggage and the firm conviction that Palestine is the "garden spot of the world."

"I'm going to buy a lot of land down there some day," he confided, as he fanned himself with a five-gallon hat piped in white braid. "All they need is water and they are building a dam to get that."

Mr. Voliva, general overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church in Zion City, Ill., and three of his disciples have been on a four-months' educational mission. Zion City is contemplating a colonization scheme in Palestine and this was Overseer Voliva's second trip to look the ground over.

Last year when he returned Mr. Voliva said he had been "sailing around the rim of the world." This time he appeared to forget his conviction that the earth is as flat as a pancake, for when asked if he had been around the world, he replied he "had been more than halfway around."

"Not a word about colonization plans now," he cautioned reporters, "for the time is not ripe yet."

"Would you leave Zion City for Palestine?" he was asked.

"Well, I can't say about that," he replied, "but the land there is just as good as any place in the world. I am going back next year and live there four or five months."

Church Urged to Establish Paper Chain

MIAMI (Fla.) June 16. (AP)—Establishment by the church of chains of daily newspapers which would "place the truth and moral betterment of the people above the cash box," was advocated by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in an address before the Florida Methodist Conference in session here.

Asserting that "the secular press actually is leading the fight against the Eighteenth Amendment," Bishop Cannon said, "If the moral forces of the nation want assistance from the press for the betterment of moral conditions, the practical way to obtain it is to buy or establish newspapers which sincerely and aggressively will stand for the truth, justice and righteousness."

The Methodist leader suggested that such papers be "strategically located in centers of population."

SALSEMAN SHOT BY SILENT ASSAILANT

PHOENIX, June 16. (AP)—Newton C. Moore, an automobile salesman, was shot through the leg late last night by an unidentified assailant. Moore had been giving a driving lesson to a woman to whom he had sold a car. As they stopped at the woman's residence, a man stepped out of the shadows, fired three times, and fled.

BAPTISTS TO CHOOSE NEW HEAD TODAY

Three Pastors and Trio of Laymen Mentioned for Northern District Office

DENVER, June 16. (AP)—Three ministers and three laymen tonight composed the possible nominees for president of the Northern Baptist Convention, meeting here, to succeed Arthur M. Harris of New York, now concluding his term of office. The convention's nominating committee, consisting of a representative from every State division in the northern territory, tomorrow will make its nomination for this office.

The convention customarily accepts the recommendations of the committee.

The ministers mentioned for the post are Rev. A. W. Beaven, president of the Rochester-Colgate Theological Seminary; Dr. David Jones Evans, who will join Dr. Beaven at the school as a member of the faculty, and Rev. A. Ray Petty, pastor of the Baptist Temple, Newark, N. J. Dr. Beaven last year was recommended for the presidency but was unable to accept because of the pressure of religious work elsewhere.

The laymen are J. L. Kraft and John Scott, both of Chicago, and J. W. Baker, Pawtucket, R. I. A layman now holds the office of president and the practice of the convention is to alternate the post between laymen and clerical candidates.

Dr. John Snape of Temple Church, Los Angeles, spoke today in the auditorium, where the convention sessions are held. He defended the doctrine of the incarnation of God in Jesus Christ.

STRIKE HALTS TULSA CARS

TULSA (Okla.) June 16. (AP)—A strike for increased wages brought street car and bus service to a standstill here today. The strike was called last night.

TELEVISION SOON TO BE PRACTICAL

Use on Commercial Scale In Few Years Predicted at Film Convention

ST. LOUIS, June 16. (AP)—William S. Paley, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, told the international convention of the Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation here that television on a commercial and practical scale is coming.

"Whether it is in two years or five years, it is sure to come," Paley said, and pictured the possibility of a news reel service flashing on the screen of a theater instantaneously in sight and sound a news event of major importance as it is taking place. He said it is hard to tell now whether television will be confined to the home only, or whether entertainment houses will also show it on the screen, but expressed the belief that television will fit into the scheme of the theater.

He said that one reason of the alignment of the Columbia company with Paramount was to prepare for the introduction of television commercially into the radio.

Five Stockton Stores Burned

STOCKTON, June 16. (AP)—Five stores were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin here today, resulting in property damage estimated at $500,000.

Seventeen firemen were overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze.

The fire started in the basement of a sign-painting shop and spread to Pfeiffer's music store, jumped to the headquarters of Radio Station KGDM and was stopped at an adjoining rooming-house.

The 2-Door Sedan, $745
Body by Fisher

A Sweeping Success
because it offers Big Car Qualities for only $745

DURING the first five months of 1929, the New Pontiac Big Six has attracted a volume of sales far surpassing the spectacular sales recorded for earlier Pontiac Sixes. The New Pontiac Big Six is a sweeping success—an even more pronounced success than its famous predecessors. And it owes its success largely to the fact that it offers big car qualities at low prices.

The New Pontiac Big Six has introduced a new standard of values into the low-priced field. It has the style and features of a big car. There is big car luxury and comfort in its sturdy, skillfully designed Fisher bodies with their beautiful, long-wearing upholstery, their correctly pitched seat backs and cushions, their adjustable drivers' seats. Big car power, speed and acceleration are developed by its big, smooth engine equipped with a 1¼-inch carburetor, and an efficient gasoline pump. And big car safety is assured by its two separate braking systems—the emergency brake which operates on the transmission, and noiseless four-wheel internal-expanding service brakes which are fully protected against mud or rain.

Oakland produced the Pontiac Big Six to enable progressive people to step up in motor car quality without leaving the low-priced field. And the very people for whom it was created have made it an impressive sales success.

THUS far in 1929, sales of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes have totaled over 151,000 as compared with 131,303 for the same period in 1928 and 79,286 for 1927. The New Oakland All-American Six, which shares this achievement with Pontiac, has come to be known through the enthusiasm of its owners as the finest medium-priced car in America today.

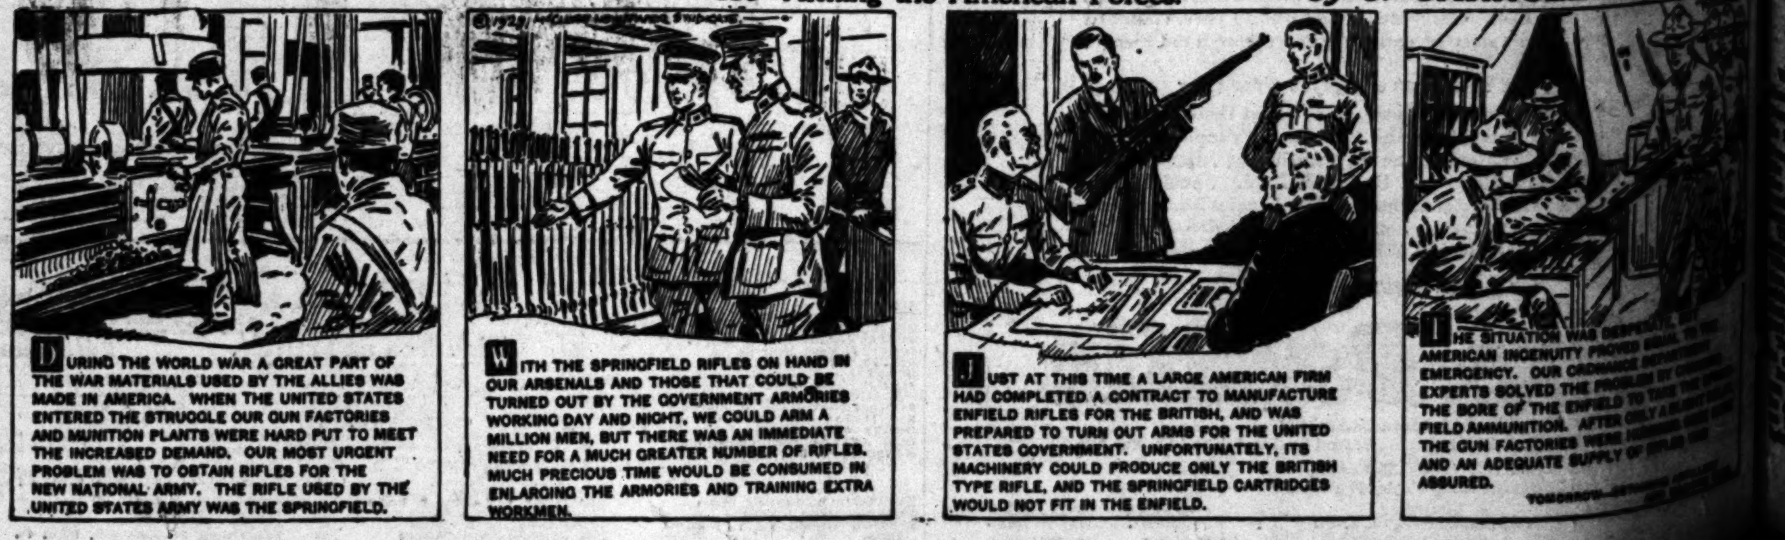
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY 1369

The Story of the World War
139—Arming the American Forces.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



DURING THE WORLD WAR A GREAT PART OF THE WAR MATERIALS USED BY THE ALLIES WAS MADE IN AMERICA. WHEN THE UNITED STATES ENTERED THE STRUGGLE OUR GUN FACTORIES AND MUNITION PLANTS WERE HARD PUT TO MEET THE INCREASED DEMAND. OUR MOST URGENT PROBLEM WAS TO OBTAIN RIFLES FOR THE NEW NATIONAL ARMY. THE RIFLE USED BY THE UNITED STATES ARMY WAS THE SPRINGFIELD.

WITH THE SPRINGFIELD RIFLES ON HAND IN OUR ARSENALS AND THOSE THAT COULD BE TURNED OUT BY THE GOVERNMENT ARMORIES WORKING DAY AND NIGHT, WE COULD ARM A MILLION MEN, BUT THERE WAS AN IMMEDIATE NEED FOR A MUCH GREATER NUMBER OF RIFLES. MUCH PRECIOUS TIME WOULD BE CONSUMED IN ENLARGING THE ARMORIES AND TRAINING EXTRA WORKMEN.

JUST AT THIS TIME A LARGE AMERICAN FIRM HAD COMPLETED A CONTRACT TO MANUFACTURE ENFIELD RIFLES FOR THE BRITISH, AND WAS PREPARED TO TURN OUT ARMS FOR THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT. UNFORTUNATELY, ITS MACHINERY COULD PRODUCE ONLY THE BRITISH TYPE RIFLE, AND THE SPRINGFIELD CARTRIDGES WOULD NOT FIT IN THE ENFIELD.

THE SITUATION WAS DESPERATE, BUT AMERICAN INGENUITY PROVED EQUAL TO THE EMERGENCY. OUR ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT EXPERTS SOLVED THE PROBLEM BY CHANGING THE BORE OF THE ENFIELD TO TAKE THE SPRINGFIELD AMMUNITION. AFTER ONLY A SLIGHT DELAY THE GUN FACTORIES WERE HUMMING AND AN ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF RIFLES WAS ASSURED.

JAPAN SHELVES PRINCE ALBERT

Long Frock Now Passe for Formal Daylight Functions in Nippon

TOKIO, June 16. (AP)—The passing of the Prince Albert coat, for two generations the official Japanese idea of the last word in ceremonial daylight garb, was portended by the requirements for the 1929 Imperial Cherry Garden party.

Male guests were told that they might attend garbed in the cutaway or morning coat. Hitherto only the long frock, or its Japanese equivalent, haori-hakama, might be worn to this annual function.

It is even rumored that soon persons received in the formal audience by the emperor may wear morning coats. At present they must appear in full evening dress unless they have military, naval or diplomatic uniforms.

FATHER OF GIRL SLAIN BY SUITOR

Rejected Wooer Borrows Gun from Son of Victim; Religious Frenzy Cited

FRESNO, June 16. (Exclusive)—Hans Christian Hansen, 72 years of age, well-known Easton rancher, is dead, and Grover Jensen, 27, also of Easton, is in the County Jail here charged with his murder, as the result of what investigating officers characterized as a combination of jealousy and religious fanaticism.

Jensen shot Hansen this afternoon with a shotgun which he had borrowed from Hansen's son, William, who was visiting at the Jensen home. The shooting occurred a short time after Jensen had returned from services at the Easton Lutheran Church.

For some time, according to information given to Chief Deputy Sheriff Blaisingsame, Jensen has been a suitor for the hand of Miss Margaret Hansen. She repulsed his attentions. He recently renewed his suit, to be met with the announcement that Miss Hansen is to be married next Friday.

Jensen told Dist.-Atty. Devore, however, that jealously had nothing to do with the crime. He said that he was prompted to slay Hansen by a message he received from the Lutheran minister during the service today.

Trio Dies When Train Crashes Auto at Grade

CHICAGO, June 16. (Exclusive)—A middle-aged housewife, her son and her son-in-law were killed instantly and her daughter-in-law was injured, perhaps fatally, tonight in a collison between a Rock Island passenger train and a sedan at Midlothian, Ill.

A by-stander, perceiving the danger to the sedan, shouted and waved his arms but the doomed machine bowled on and was split open at the crossing.

The bodies were identified as those of Mrs. Ella Allie, 64 years of age; Delno Allie, 40, son of Mrs. Allie, and William Byrne, 43, son-in-law of Mrs. Allie. The young woman, not expected to survive, is Mrs. Alfrieda Allie, 24, wife of the driver. She is in the Oak Forest Infirmary.

Flight Tests to Prove Safety of Modern Planes

MITCHEL FIELD (L. I.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Designed to convince the public—"not by statistics, but by actual demonstration"—that airplanes are no more dangerous than railroads or steamships, a series of flight tests under the auspices of the Guggenheim Foundation for Aeronautics will be begun Wednesday at Mitchell Field.

Twelve manufacturers, six from the United States, five from England, and one from Italy, have entered planes in the competition for which the foundation has offered $150,000 in prizes.

Three crack pilots engaged by the Guggenheim Foundation will put the planes through their paces. The intricate safety tests include taking off, landing and maneuvering.

THE RUSSIAN BLOUSE ANOTHER POLO SHIRT MODERNE TIES

A COUPLE of months ago, in one of our big moments, we suggested the Russian blouse as a smart, comfortable and distinctive lounging garment for those men who sought relief from the conventional sameness of ordinary shirts. We find that a number of men, well known for their ability to establish fashions, have taken up the idea, and are having these blouses made up in silk, satin, and broadcloth. One man wears them at informal parties aboard his yacht, another at house parties in his mountain lodge.

THE style most favored, tucks in the trousers, and buttons part way down on the left side. It has full sleeves and tight-fitting cuffs.

ONE may, without too greatly offending the conventions, enjoy the comfort of lounging in this garment, without jacket, even with ladies present, which, of course, he could hardly do with the collar and tie shirts. This may be the feature which most recommends it.

ANOTHER new polo shirt which we discovered last week is made of a loose mesh material, and is the best looking we've seen so far. It is lighter in weight than the knitted wool styles, and should prove much cooler for tennis, and other active sports wear. White only, we hope.

A NEW tie has gone moderne in a big, bold way. It had to happen, eventually, so we didn't register the surpjrise that we suspect was expected from us.

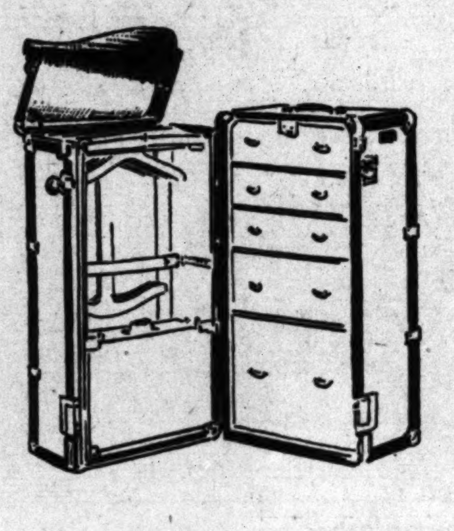
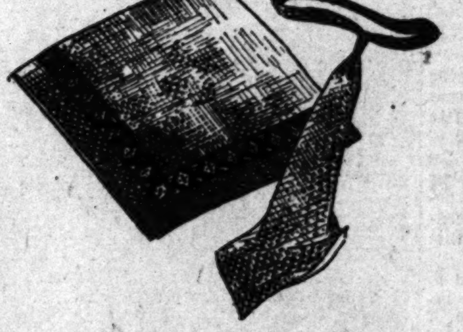
GOING moderne is the order of the day, and neckwear may just as well hold one seat on the "success-going band wagon." These particular ties showed very large squares of bright color on a field of light pastel color. They have a place in the summer sports wardrobe.

HiHat



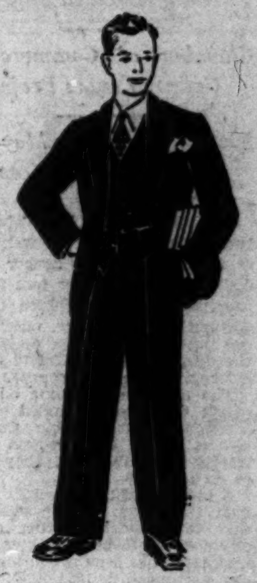
A new wardrobe trunk by Hartmann is known as the "Bachelor," and appeals to us by its remarkable compactness for vacation travel. It has nine clothes hangers and a necktie holder, is large enough to hold a complete travel wardrobe, and small enough for travel quarters. It is covered in two-tone canvas grain ducord, and fitted in polished brass.

At Roos Bros.



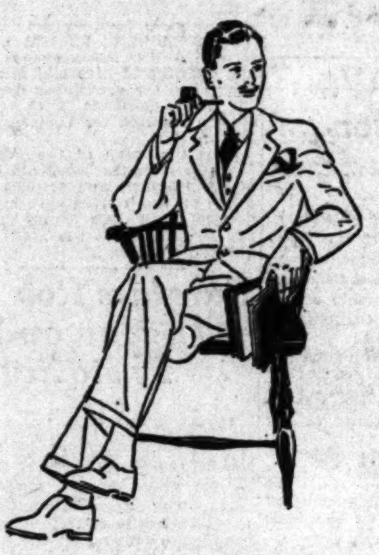
Some new tie and handkerchief sets which particularly appealed to us, had the handkerchief of hand-blocked, printed crepe in an allover check pattern, and with a contrasting, figured border set in from the edge. The tie was of the checked part of the material, of medium width and silk lined.

At Desmond's



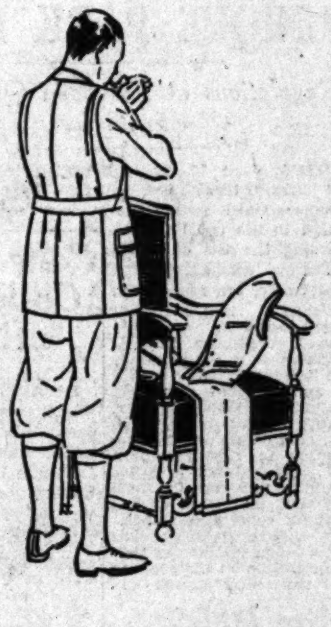
We find under-graduates in schools taking their clothes as seriously as do their Dads, and we heartily approve. A smart suit we noticed on a lad about 14, was in a herringbone cheviot. The jacket was single-breasted with peak lapels, and the trousers had pleats at the waist and a separate waistband. The waistcoat was on the "Tally-Ho" style.

At Harris & Frank



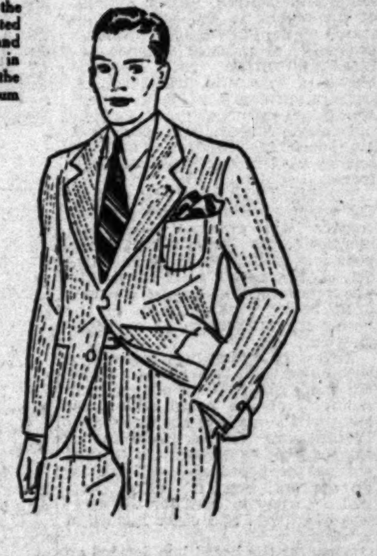
Lounge suits of York grey cut along sports lines are becoming increasingly popular as the summer advances. The jacket, a two-button style, has notch lapel and patch pockets. The trousers have the high, pleated waist, and the waistcoat six buttons.

At Matthess in Hollywood



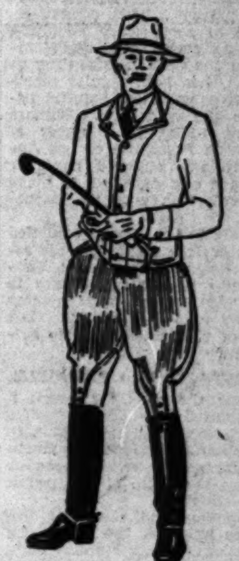
The smartest four-piece suits we've seen are of dark brown camel's hair. The jacket has notch lapel, patch pockets with flaps, and bellows back. The knickers and trousers both have the high pleated waist.

At B. H. Dyas



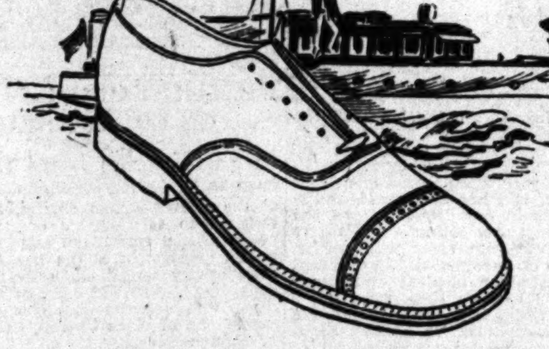
We find many well turned out men favoring a new material known as "Dixie Weave" in two-piece suits. This material, which comes in sort of a Scots grey color, is actually cooler than silk or linen, and of course, far more dressy in appearance.

At Silverwoods



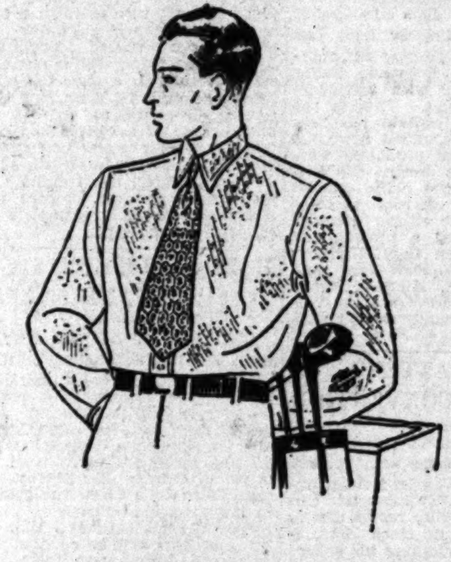
The riding breeches illustrated are of English Bedford cord, trimmed with buck. They show the cut of a very fine breeches maker, having the diagonal pocket. The jacket is of Danish suede, having lined sleeves, buttoned patch pockets, and buttoned turn down collar.

At Mullen & Bluett



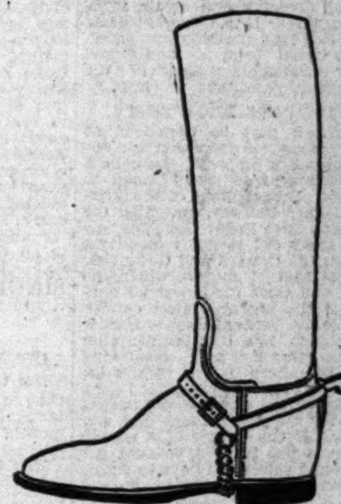
This new yachting shoe was made originally for Douglas McLean, and was quickly taken up by other well known sportsmen. Its important feature is a heavy compressed felt sole which does not slip on wet decks, and which wears as well as leather. The uppers are of light-weight white calfskin.

At Hamilton's



An exclusive custom shop is showing shirtings of imported French handkerchief linen, in white with self-jacquarded patterns. They have medium point collar (some with Prince of Wales Tabs,) button cuffs are monogrammed. The clean crispness of linen makes its splendid for summer sports.

At Machin's Custom Shirtmaker



This new boot by Johnston & Murphy was made to design passed upon by U. S. Army Officials. It is made of fine, soft, tan Russia calf and has the standard military shaped leg, and a new type of box spur.

At Wetherby-Kayser

Customs Men Thought Slayers of Rum Suspect

PLATTSBURG (N. Y.) June 16. (AP)—A report of the shooting to death of Arthur Gordon of this city by men wearing the uniform of customs border patrolmen has been promised the County Prosecutor's office tomorrow by John C. Tulloch, Collector of the Port of Ogdensburg, Dist.-Atty. O'Connell said today.

Until this announcement by O'Connell the customs men had not been definitely linked with the death of Gordon, who was 22 years of age and an asserted rum runner. His body was brought to a hospital here Friday night and left by two men, unidentified except for their uniforms, which were similar to those worn by border patrolmen.

MEMPHIS MAN DIES IN AIRPLANE CRASH

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 16. (AP)—Hubert South, Memphis, was burned to death, and Franklin Stephenson, 22 years of age, was burned seriously in an airplane crash here. Stephenson was flying a rented plane, and went into a nose dive when taking off.

Cardinal Gives Plane Blessing

MILAN (Italy) June 16. (AP)—Cardinal Plond, Primate of Poland and himself an aviation enthusiast, yesterday blessed the airplane Polonia which is being prepared for a trans-Atlantic flight by way of Dublin.

He was accompanied to the field by the Polish Consul-General, representatives of the builders of the plane and motors, and Stanley Adamkewicz, chairman of the Chicago committee organizing the flight. About the plane were grouped Polish girls carrying the flags of Poland, the United States and Italy.

EXPLOSION OF TOY CANNON KILLS BOY

CHICAGO, June 16. (AP)—A toy cannon they were making for the July Fourth celebration exploded and killed Oliver S. Theobald, 15 years of age, son of a United States Gypsum Company official, while injuring perhaps fatally Walter Regnery, son of a manufacturer.

The explosion tore a side out of the garage at young Regner's home in Hinsdale, a suburb.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR RAMON GUERRERO
Encargado de la Sección Española de este diario

No terminaré mi somera charla sobre cosas de teatro sin mencionar aquellos coliseos que tanta importancia han alcanzado en todas partes, sobre todo en los Estados Unidos, en que se exhiben, de preferencia, vistas cinematográficas, conocidas también en España por los nombres de películas o cintas. Dichos teatros se construyen en la actualidad a todo costo; son suntuosísimos exterior e interiormente, y están acondicionados, no sólo para proyectar vistas (pictures), sino para dar toda clase de espectáculos teatrales, aun aquellos que demandan gran aparato escénico.

En los grandes cineteatros de los Estados Unidos es raro que se presenten a secas las películas notables. Casi siempre van precedidas y seguidas de números de variedades (canto, baile, acrobacia, etc.) Frecuentemente se escriben prólogos, que sirven de introducción a la vista, y que son representaciones teatrales de gran espectáculo con magníficos cuerpos corales y de baile, y en las que figuran actores y cantantes de mérito. Las escenas de esos prólogos son alusivas al argumento y a los episodios de la cinta.

La película, que viene a continuación del prólogo, se hace pasar generalmente sin interrupción, aunque conste de varios rollos (reels). Algunas veces, sin embargo, cuando se trata de cintas muy largas, se divide la proyección de las mismas en dos partes, y se deja entre las dos un intermedio de descanso para los espectadores.

No creo que haya en el mundo cineteatros más grandes y suntuosos que los mayores que se han construido últimamente en los Estados Unidos. Cuéntanse entre estos el "Paramount" y el "Roxy", ambos de Nueva York; el primero con capacidad para 4000, y el segundo, para 6225 espectadores. El "Roxy" fue construido por S. I. Rothafel, cuyo mote o apodo, "Roxy", ha dado nombre al edificio. Este es, nos dice la Enciclopedia de Espasa, de estilo plateresco con variantes renacientes italianas. Tiene un escenario móvil de construcción especial, que sube y baja en poderosos montacargas (lifts), ya entero, ya por secciones; una galería para la masas corales con una escalera en espiral que a ella conduce; varios estudios para estaciones emisoras de radio; el sistema de alumbrado más grande que en ningún teatro existe, con unidades de cuatro colores, en vez de tres; tres órganos, una biblioteca musical, tres proyectores cinematográficos, y un anfiteatro de cirugía para operaciones, con doctores y enfermeras. Abarca un área de 52,000 pies cuadrados, y se eleva a una altura de 115 pies. Ha costado 50,000,000 de pesetas, y los ingresos de sus taquillas alcanzan el promedio de 125,000 pesetas semanales. Hay quinientos empleados, un coro de cien voces y una orquesta de ciento diez profesores.

La cinematografía ha dado en estos últimos tiempos un paso trascendental, pues se ha logrado combinar la cámara fotográfica con el fonógrafo, y, hermanados entre sí estos instrumentos, se ha podido producir la cinta (película, vista) hablada o parlante, que también se llama cinta fotofónica. Ultimamente se ha agregado a ésta el color, de modo que las imágenes proyectadas se están pareciendo cada día más y más a los seres y cosas de la naturaleza. La pantalla se ha animado, pues, de tal manera, que dentro de poco va a ser difícil decir si estamos viendo meras figuras luminosas que se agitan sobre una superficie plana, o artistas de carne y hueso que se mueven en escenarios reales, y hablan, gritan, cantan y suspiran como seres humanos tangibles y vivos.

El único baluarte del teatro real que había resistido a los asaltos del cinematógrafo lo constituían la voz humana y los ruidos que producimos en la actividad de nuestra vida. Hoy está conquistado ese baluarte por la pantalla, en la que no sólo se reproduce la voz humana, sino la de los animales; no sólo se oyen los ruidos de una escena limitada, como es la que nos ofrecen las tablas, sino toda clase de ruidos y sonidos, desde el estrépito tronitoso de un tren de ferrocarril a toda marcha hasta el fragor de una tormenta desencadenada.

Sobre el teatro real tiene, pues, muchas ventajas el cine fotofónico, y no es la menor de ellas la de poder situar sus escenas, no en medio de decoraciones artificiales, sino en los sitios mismos donde se supone desarrollado el drama; sean ellos aposentos, oficinas, salones, patios o paisajes. En éstos podrá verse el follaje agitado por la brisa y oírse su murmullo, así como se podrán ver las ondas y será dable escuchar el parloteo del arroyo que se desliza a los pies de los actores.

Hoy, más que nunca, atraviesa el teatro real por un período de crisis, que sin duda habrá de afectarlo de manera más o menos profunda. ¿Seguirán los buenos artistas (actores, cantantes, bailarines, músicos, etc.) trabajando personalmente en las tablas, hoy que tienen la manera de hacerlo una sola vez ante el aparato fotofónico, y de que éste reproduzca ad infinitum, y en todas partes, esa única actuación? Al tiempo toca resolver esta importante cuestión.

En la Plática siguiente reanudaré mis comentarios al artículo periodístico publicado aquí hace poco.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

VENTURA PORT SEEMS ASSURED

Question of Site Yet to be Decided

Chamber of Commerce of County Favors Project

Final Decision May be Submitted to Vote

OXNARD, June 16. — That the time is ripe for the development of a Ventura county harbor is the decision of the harbor fact finding committee of the Ventura County Chamber of Commerce, which body has just submitted its decision to the directors of the United Chamber representing the county.

The matter of deciding on a location to be recommended to the Ventura County Harbor Commission is left to the directors of the county chamber, if they desire to do so.

A meeting of the directors to discuss the action of the committee and to consider whether or not any site should be recommended by that body, has been called for Tuesday evening, the 18th inst., at the Oxnard Hotel, by President W. H. Lathrop of the county chamber.

HOLD FINAL MEETING

The action of the special fact finding committee is a result of its final meeting Friday night at Saticoy at which time representatives from various parts of Ventura county were present. This committee, composed of some sixty members, representing every town and community in the county, according to population, has held regular meetings for the past few months listening to the reports of William Brownrigg, industrial engineer of the Research Associates of Los Angeles, who was engaged by the county at a cost of $5000, to make an economic survey of the harbor situation.

According to the reports compiled by Engineer Brownrigg and his assistants, the justification for a Ventura county harbor was shown in no uncertain terms. This opinion was freely expressed at the last meeting of the fact committee Friday night.

SUGGESTS VOTE OF PEOPLE

Fulfilling the duty for which it was appointed, the fact finding committee concluded its work with the recommendation already mentioned and added that the matter be put up to a vote of the people at an early date.

The opinion and result of this committee following the meeting of the chamber directors Tuesday night will be forwarded to the Ventura County Harbor Commission, which body will meet next Wednesday. Whether or not any definite action will be taken by the Harbor Commission at that time is not known.

TWO SITES CONSIDERED

Two sites have been considered for harbor development, Ventura and Hueneme, situated about equal distance on either side of Oxnard. The Ventura site is in the bay in the heart of the city's beach district, where it is planned to reclaim land by dredging and create acreage for harbor land. The Hueneme site is tide land partially inundated, which would form a land-locked harbor immediately back of the government lighthouse property.

ANTICIPATE PROSPERITY

Should a port be developed at either place great expansion and development are predicted throughout the territory from Point Magu to Ventura. Branch lines of the Ventura County Railway, owned by the American Beet Sugar Company, already shoot out in many directions through the Oxnard and Oceanview districts to beet dumps, which, no doubt, will serve for industrial purposes if the harbor project carries.

While the Ventura County Harbor Commission has been deliberating on the situation and considering briefs submitted by the various localities in support of suggested sites, the city of Ventura has announced plans for the development of a city harbor. If the matter of a county harbor is put to vote Ventura tax payers and voters will have to decide between a county port or a local port. If the commission decides in favor of the Ventura site the Ventura city plan no doubt will be abandoned

Residents of Ventura county are looking forward with interest to the meeting of the county chamber directors and the Harbor Commission. According to general opinion expressed in all parts of the county, plans are to go forward for a port at either one place or the other. The action of Ventura in commencing on a local port plan may have much to do with the final decision.

PROGRESS MADE ON CHARTER

Freeholders at San Diego to Consult Expert Soon to Decide Details

SAN DIEGO, June 16.—Having decided on some of the important fundamentals to be incorporated in the new city charter, the Board of Freeholders expects to have the framework so far completed by July 25 that the matter may be laid before an expert in municipal government for final drafting by that time.

A committee has been named to interview several experts, with instructions to recommend one of them at an early meeting of the board. Those who will be consulted are Edwin Cottrell, former director of the bureau of governmental research at the Ohio State University, professor of political science at Stanford University since 1919 and Mayor of Palo Alto, 1925-26; C. A. Dykstra, professor of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles, and Samuel C. May, associate professor of political science at the University of California.

The board has been advised that the expert chosen to draft the new charter will require about two months to do the work, and the board, according to John W. Snyder, chairman, will need about four weeks in which to discuss the new draft before passing it on to the people for ratification at a special election.

This work cannot be accomplished within the 120 days allowed under the State constitution, according to members of the board and a request will be made of the City Council tomorrow for an extension of sixty days. At tomorrow's Council session the board also will ask for an appropriation of $1500 with which to pay in part for the services of experts and other incidental expenses.

Thus far the board has decided on adoption of the Council-Manager form of government with a Mayor without veto power, to be selected by and from the Council.

POLICE CAPTAIN TWO YEARS ON VALLEY JOB

VAN NUYS, June 16.—Police Captain F. E. Kierscey has finished his second year as commander of the San Fernando Valley division of police, with headquarters at Van Nuys. This is the longest a police captain has remained here undisturbed since the valley division was organized. Several years ago it became the custom of Los Angeles police officials to change valley division captains about every three or four months. Residents entered a protest, and after centering on Capt. Kierscey, asked that he be sent here and billeted for good. Kierscey knows every inch of San Fernando Valley and is personally well known to all citizens.

GAS FOR SAN DIEGO

Southern California Company Contemplates Pipe Line from Huntington Beach

SAN DIEGO, June 16.—Construction of a high-pressure pipe line to supply natural gas from the Los Angeles area to San Diego homes is contemplated by the Southern California Gas Company, which has entered into negotiations with the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company for distributin of the gas, it was learned today.

The Southern California Gas Company has applied to the Board of Supervisors for a franchise covering the transportation and sale of natural gas in the county, and has applied to the Railroad Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to operate such a franchise, it was announced by A. B. Macbeth, president of the company. It was reported that the company already has obtained pipeline franchises up to the San Diego county line.

Under the plan gas would be supplied to various communities along its line. The proposed pipe line would start at the Huntington Beach oil field, about eighty-five miles from San Diego, and connect with the local gas company's lines near La Jolla.

W. F. Raber, head of the local gas company, said last night that his concern is negotiating with the Southern California company in regard to the natural gas line. If satisfactory arrangements can be made the line doubtlessly will be constructed, he said. Such a pipe line would cost approximately $1,500,000, Mr. Raber estimated.

Details to be worked out, he said, included studies of the cost of transmitting the natural gas to this area. He said that if the gas could be transmitted at a price comparative with that of gas generated from oil shipped here, San Diego homes duobtlessly will be burning natural gas soon.

Mr. Raber said it probably would doubtlessly will be burning natural gas on its arrival here due to the length of the transmission line. The natural gas, he said, is what is called hotter gas than the artificial variety, in other words, the same amount of gas gives more heat.

VENTURA LIONS OFF FOR CONVENTION

To Serve Free Lemonade From Special Booth to Delegates

Club Members Gather
"Lemon Inn" on truck just before being shipped to Louisville.

VENTURA, June 16.—When the national convention of Lions' Clubs gather at Louisville, Ky., from the 18th to the 21st inst., a Ventura county delegation of Lions will be on hand to serve all the convention delegates with lemonade, lemons and oranges from California, free of charge.

But the feature of this service to the delegates will be the "Lemon Inn," from which all this will be served. A huge lemon-shaped booth was constructed here and has been shipped to the convention city, and the Lion delegates from Ventura county departed for Louisville Saturday.

It is the plan of the Ventura Lions to have the lemonade served and the lemons and oranges given away at the convention by girls dressed in Spanish costumes. Rodney Putnam heads the Lions' delegation from Ventura.

Burglars Rob Inglewood Photo Studio

INGLEWOOD, June 16.—A number of photographs were taken from, not by, the Albert Lindburg Studios at 205 South Market street, last night. The display of photographs, about twenty in all, all mounted in handsome frames, included a number of attractive prints of young women of the Inglewood younger set, together with a few well known to the screen.

Entrance was gained to the outside showcase by prying open the lock. All but two of the portraits were ravished from the window, frames and all. Although the frames are very valuable, it was said by the gallant photographer that it was undoubtedly the beauty of the likenesses and not the value of the frames that caused their abduction.

Mr. Lindburg declined to make known the names of those whose likenesses have been kidnaped, inferring that the twain of young women whose pictures were so ungallantly left behind by the wholesale Lothario or Don Juan might feel slighted by the oversight. Should the malefactor be captured, he could undoubtedly claim he was "framed," Mr. Lindburg gloomily predicts.

UNIQUE PARK RULES

Some Regulations at Pasadena Quite Confounding to Visitors

PASADENA, June 16.—It is becoming increasingly dangerous to visit public parks in this city without first studying the score or more of local ordinances which govern the outdoor recreation centers.

In addition to the usual regulations regarding the use of picnic tables, boisterous conduct, picking flowers and traffic, are some novel rules that even the best-mannered visitor might overlook.

The newest ordinance in this catagory makes it a misdemeanor to bring an ice-cream freezer packed with salt and ice into any park. According to Park Superintendent Gilbert Skutt, the salt brine which picknickers dump from the freezers is threatening to ruin the park lawns. If park patrons wish ice cream, it will be necessary for them to use dry-pack ice cream or buy it at the park concession stands.

Another ordinance which has arroused discussion forbids any person to sit or recline on the grass in any public park after sunset.

Bandits Rob Public Market

WALNUT PARK, June 16.—Deputy sheriffs today were combing this vicinity in search of two masked and armed bandits who, shortly before daybreak held up Leonard Radman's public market at Florence and Santa Fe avenues, and escaped in a car with more than $350 in cash. The robbers drove up when a clerk named Moore, was alone in the place. While one covered Moore with a gun, the other rifled two cash registers and then forced the clerk to disclose the hiding-place of a canvas bag containing another sum of money. Warning the clerk to remain silent for ten minutes, the bandits then made their getaway. Moore furnished officers with a complete description of the men.

MARRIED LIFE WAS SHORT AND SNAPPY

ONTARIO, June 16.—Goldfish may be harmless enough when looked at, but they are a formidable missle when thrown at a person, without having first taken them out of their glass jar, according to Mrs. Julett Louise Blewett, Ontario, who seeks a divorce from her husband, Grover C. Blewett, on grounds that he threw the goldfish in her face, bowl included.

Mrs. Blewett says also that her husband threw food on the floor from the dining-room table if it did not suit the whims of his appetite.

Their married life was short but snappy, according to the complaint, lasting from April 5, 1928, to May 30, 1929.

He has the unique distinction of being the only Pasadenan who has earned his secondary education through working the night shift as a regular patrolman on the local police department.

White served with the infantry in France during the World War, and during his junior college course, he not only developed the system of student government in vogue at the college, but starred as a member of the championship football team, which defeated the University of Hawaii last year.

CHIEF SEEKS TO LOCATE VETERAN

UPLAND, June 16.—Thomas J. Scott, a private in Battery C, Eightieth Field Artillery, in France ten years ago, is sought by Chief of Police J. F. Sawyer, who wishes to return the ex-soldier's discharge paper to him.

Sawyer was in San Francisco on July 12, 1919. He was approached by Scott, who requested Sawyer to keep his discharge papers for him. Scott said he was afraid he would lose the valuable papers. He told Chief Sawyer that at one time he, Scott, had been arrested in Upland, and thought the Upland Chief the most reliable person with whom to trust the papers. Scott said he would send for them later.

Ten years have passed and Chief Sawyer still has the papers, and is anxious to find Scott to turn the discharge over to him. The papers had been laid aside with several others of war days, and Sawyer had forgotten the incident until rummaging through them recently.

He has solicited the aid of the War Department in locating Scott.

TEACHER CONFRONTED WITH HARD PROBLEM

ROSCOE, June 16.—Miss Nora McCabe, teacher at the Roscoe School, is used to working out problems, but here is one she can't figure out. It concerns the loss of four rings valued at $1000 stolen from her purse lying on the desk in her classroom. She will not believe any of her pupils are guilty. Miss McCabe reports to the local police she left the purse on her desk. Later when she opened it she found the valuable rings gone, and in their place were four cheap imitation rings. The police are quizzing everybody in sight.

SALLY PLAYED SQUARE

Santa Barbara Waitress Finds Purse Containing Large Sum and Promptly Returns it With Contents to Owner in New York

SANTA BARBARA, June 16.—Sally Jacobson is a waitress.

You can see her any day down in a local coffee shop. She greets you with a smile.

Last week a party of five dropped into the restaurant. They were in a hurry. Sally waited upon them.

Later in the day Sally found a lady's purse in the wash room of the place. Now, Sally does not make $1,000,000 per week. And vacation time is here. Sally opened the purse. There was a roll of bills. Just $101. It sure looked like a lot of money to Sally on her $22 per.

Sally turned the purse over to Frank Miratti, Jr., manager-owner of the Hotel Barbara.

Today, Sally is $15 richer and will have that much more vacation money.

The owner of the purse had been located in New York. Today a letter was received from J. B. Richardson, manager of Benjamin & Ferguson, stock brokers and members of the New York Stock Exchange. The letter read, in part:

"Mr. Miratti:

"I wish to express my appreciation again both to you for your trouble, and to the finder for her honesty in turning the purse over to you. It is such instances as this that keep our faith in human nature alive. I like California better than ever, now."

"J. B. RICHARDSON."

Sally? Oh, Sally said:

"That hundred looked good to me; but, well, that $15 will go a long way in California."

POLICE CHECK MAN'S STORY

Officers Continue Investigation of Mysterious Killing at Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, June 16. (AP)—Police in this artists' colony, where the body of Mrs. Myrtle Wood, 40 years of age, Long Beach widow, was found hidden behind a signboard, today were checking the story told by John A. McClure, 56, Long Beach real estate dealer, that he was shot and kidnaped by robbers while riding with the woman Thursday night.

McClure was found wandering below the Mexican border a few hours after Mrs. Wood's body was discovered here yesterday. He told Tia Juana (Lower California) officers he was shot by two robbers near Laguna Beach, but could not remember what happened to Mrs. Wood or how his kidnapers took him to Mexico. His hat was riddled with bullets and he had a wound in the head.

Mexican officers held McClure in jail for questioning before turning him over to United States authorities. Orange county officials said they expected McClure would be placed in their custody tomorrow.

Mrs. Ina Lowell, Mrs. Wood's daughter, said her mother left home Thursday night to go to McClure's home and tell him she would have nothing more to do with him. Mrs. Lowell said McClure had been courting her mother, but they had quarreled.

McClure explained he had taken Mrs. Wood to see some property near where she later was found dead with a bullet hole in her head, and they had been accosted by robbrs. He did not know what became of his car. Officers were searching for the automobile.

Two sets of men's footprints and tracks of an automobile similar to the one driven by McClure were found near Mrs. Wood's body.

Gas Thieves Drain Tank Underground

VAN NUYS, June 16. — Service-station thieves have been running rampant here for several nights. The Cornwell station on Kester reports the loss of $200 in new tires.

William Eddy, who operates a station on Vanowen street, tells police that thieves backed up to his place in the middle of the night and pumped 600 gallons of gasoline from his underground tank. It is believed that a specially make tank wagon was used to pull the job.

According to local police, this is the first time in the history of San Fernando Valley police that thieves visited a gas station and literally drained the place dry.

"Spite" Paving on City Street

MONTEREY PARK, June 16.—Everyone has heard of spite fences, but a spite paving is something new under the sun.

It has developed from a dispute between Robert E. Marshall, a property owner at 510 South Wilson avenue, and P. N. Snyder, subdivider. The latter obtained permission to change the grade of Wilson avenue in his development plans. Snyder owns the property adjoining that of Marshall, and declined to come to terms with Snyder for the paving. Marshall insisted that the street in front of his property be replaced in its original condition.

So Snyder ordered his men to block off a section, 22x45 feet in front of the Marshall lot and proceeded to pave around it. The blocked-off portion is filled with an assortment of dirt representing the original Wilson-avenue subbase before it was torn up to lower the grade.

OWENSMOUTH IS TO HAVE DIAL PHONES

OWENSMOUTH, June 16.—After a survey of the telephone area contiguous to the local exchange, it is announced by officials of the Pacific Telephone Company that the automatic-dial equipment, such as is used in the Reseda exchange, east of here, will be installed. It is believed that the telephone company gradually is getting ready to install the dial equipment in all exchanges in San Fernando Valley, including the stations at Van Nuys and at North Hollywood, formerly the old Lankershim district. A site recently was purchased here on Remmert street on which is to be erected an $8000 building to house the new Owensmouth exchange.

PICTURE ACTOR TO APPEAR IN COURT

UPLAND, June 16.—Eighty miles an hour is too much speed on local highways, even for Hoot Gibson, motion-picture star, who will appear before Judge George R. Crane in Upland court the 21st inst., to answer a charge of speeding that fast, filed against him by C. S. Lehman, Upland traffic officer.

Gibson was arrested by Lehman late Saturday. His car was registering eighty miles, when Lehman pursued him, with his machine. The race continued several miles but was halted by Lehman's siren. When the picture star displayed a fireman's badge from the Beverly Hills Fire Department Lehman informed him the fire azards in Upland district were not great enough to warrant such speed.

GARLAND LAUDS "TIMES" PRE-OLYMPIC MARATHON

Number of Young Entrants Shows Interest in 1932 Event, Claims President of Committee

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

William May Garland, senior member of the International Olympic Committee, yesterday expressed himself as being heartily in accord with The Times Pre-Olympic Marathon as an event to acquaint young athletes in particular, and the people of Los Angeles as a whole, with the Tenth Olympiad, which will be held here in 1932.

W. M. Garland

Garland, who has just returned from Europe on Olympic business, was mainly responsible for bringing the 1932 games to Los Angeles. He is president of the Los Angeles Tenth Olympiad Committee, president of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and one of the foremost sponsors of sports in the world.

In speaking of the marathon, Garland pointed out the fact that the historic race of 26 miles, 385 yards, has been the "piece de resistance" of every Olympiad from Athens on down. "It has furnished the climax, and been the great point of interest of every Olympiad," said Garland, "and has therefore been accorded the favored spot on the program of the final day."

"People are interested," he continued, "in a grueling race of twenty-six miles, and the type of man physically equipped to compete in such a race."

While speaking, Garland held in his hand a list of the entries in The Times Pre-Olympic Marathon. He asked if it was true that a majority of the entries were younger men, and when answered in the affirmative, seemed particularly pleased.

"The marathon has not proven to be a younger man's race," he stated, and went on to point out that past marathon winners have been men in their thirties for the most part. Clarence De Mar, who finished second in The Times Marathan, while he has never won the Olympic event, is a good example of a finished marathon runner. He is 41, and still regarded as being at his peak.

Garland's conclusion was this, that with three more years of training, The Times marathoners should be at their best.

"Events of this order are also excellent publicity," said Garland. "California has the finest athletes and material in the world, as was proven in the 1928 Olympic Games at Amsterdam.

"People in the East and abroad are interested in what California's athletes are doing, and races of this kind are a fine stimulus," was Garland's final comment.

By winning the double bill the Oaks gained a full game on the Mission Reds, who broke even on the day with Seattle. Howard Craghead was the whole show in the morning. He let the Angels down with only five hits, two of them scratches. He sent eight to the bench muttering to themselves on strikes, the third strike coming at times when the Angels had several men on bases.

Trophy Earned by Tennessee

"The Iron Man," symbolic of athletic dominance and the most coveted trophy in all the battle fleet, now rests in a niche of honor aboard the U.S.S. Tennessee.

The award was presented by Vice-Admiral L. A. Bostwick, commander of battleship divisions, yesterday to Capt. Charles E. Courtney, new commander of the Tennessee, who received it in behalf of the ship's crew and its former commander, Capt. George Pettingill, now at Naval War College.

"Esprit de corps and hard work is the answer," declared Commander A. S. Wolfe, ship athletic officer, to whom much credit is given for the honor. It represents superior prowess in all sports, including boxing, wrestling, boat racing, football and such, and last year was held by the U.S.S. California, flagship of the battle fleet.

GAVUZZI IS NOSED OUT BY PASSAIC POLICEMAN

Stocky Finn Beats Bearded Italian Star by 2 Minutes, 48 Seconds in Finale at Wrigley Field

BY BRAVEN DYER

Paavo Nurmi's double raced over a makeshift track at Wrigley Field last night to win first honors in the second annual transcontinental derby staged by C. C. Pyle, Paavo's double was Johnny Salo, the naturalized Finn who finished second in Pyle's 1928 gallop. Running with that grace and ease which characterized the triumphs of the Abo Antelope, Salo went out in front of Peter Gavuzzi, bearded Britisher, at the six-mile mark of last night's grind, and try as he might the slight Englishman could not overcome the lead which the policeman built up in the first hour of racing.

C. C. PYLE

Salo's margin of victory over Gavuzzi was scant. Official time probably will not be avilable until this afternoon, but rapid calculations last night showed that the New Jersey desk sergeant had won by a mere 2m. 48s. This is certainly a slim margin for a race of more than 3500 miles.

Salo also won the marathon race of 26 miles, 385 yards inside the park. His time for this distance wah 3h. 16m. 1s., which gave him a margin of 42 seconds over Sam Richman, who gave Salo a real battle of it all the way for marthon honors.

Arthur Newton, Gavuzzi's trainer declared early last night that a ruptured Achilles tendon in Peter's left leg had ruined his chances of victory. The accident happened on the lap from San Diego to San Juan Capistrano when Salo knocked ten minutes off Gavuzzi's lead.

Approximately 10,000 fans saw the show. Pyle announced that he

HOLMAN BOWS TO STRATFORD

Gledhill Upset by Seller in State Title Net Classic

BERKELEY, June 16. (AP)—Cranston Holman, defending titlist, was eliminated by Jerry Stratford in four sets in the semifinals of the Pacific Coast championships here today. Keith Gledhill, 18-year-old Southern California lad and a leading favorite for the title, was humbled by Bobby Seller. Stratford took his sets from Holman, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6, 6-0, and Seller won his match with Gledhill, 8-6, 6-4, 6-0.

KEITH GLEDHILL.

The Stratford-Holman match was virtually over at the beginning of the third set, as Stratford, who had been a little tottery in the first period, recovered poise and swung into his best game.

Seller was never headed in his battle with the Santa Barbara

Seventh Annual California Country Club Invitation Tournament Starts

GOLFERS QUALIFY TODAY, TOMORROW FOR TOURNEY

Culver City Club Anticipates Big Entry in Classic Event; Match Play Begins Wednesday

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

The elite of Southern California's golfing fraternity will be on parade at the California Country Club today and tomorrow for the eighteen-hole qualifying round of the Culver City Club's seventh annual invitation tournament.

LESTER COLEMAN

With the choice starting times taken for today, and all starting times between 11 and 2 o'clock gone for tomorrow, it begins to look as if California would shatter its own records for entries. Last year the tournament attracted a field of 419, and the record is a few more than that number.

Among the prominent golfers who will tee off this morning and afternoon are Lester Coleman, E. R. Hurst, and Joe Reddy of California; E. V. Weakley of Fox Hills, Pacific Coast senior champion, and a number of others, with the majority of stars scheduled to tee off tomorrow.

Low thirty-two will qualify for the championship flight, and in addition there will be nine flights of sixteen. The defeated sixteen of the championship flight will become the first flight.

Match play is scheduled to start Wednesday, according to W. O. (Bill) Pryor. Finalists in the championship flight will play thirty-six holes on Sunday. All other flights will wind up Saturday with the exception of the consolation round.

There will be prizes for low gross and net in the qualifying round, winner and runner-up for each flight and low gross and low net for the two-ball foursomes, which are scheduled Sunday.

The California course is in the finest possible shape with the new greens remodeled last winter by Billy Bell at their best.

A. H. "Ollie" Painter will be in charge of starting at the first tee, assisted by Hugh Sampson. The officials in charge of the tournament are President Pryor, Secretary Ed R. Hurst and Tom Stevens, professionals. Following are a few of the starting times as announced yesterday:

LAKE ARROWHEAD TOURNEY CONTINUED THIS WEEK

Due to yesterday's rain, the Lake Arrowhead Golf Club invitation tournament has been continued this week, according to word from H. Perry Ferguson. Golfers who played part of the required round, may complete their round any time this week. Jack Gaines of Girard, last year's winner, is leading again.

ELKS TO STAGE GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Los Angeles Elks, as hosts to thousands of members of the Antlered Herd during the sixty-fifth annual Elks' convention here early in July, will stage the first Elks' national golf tournament on July 8, 9 and 10.

Upward of 330 entries are expected to be in the hands of Chairman Ike Wentworth by the 28th inst., the closing date.

The tournament will be played over fifty-four holes, with qualifying and first rounds to be played at Sunset Fields and finals set for Rancho Golf Club. Winner of the fifty-four-hole gross score will be declared the Elks' national champion and will receive, for his lodge, the John J. Doyle Perpetual Golf Trophy, while for his personal possession he will be awarded a replica of the beautiful $1000 silver and gold trophy presented by Jack Doyle, Past Exalted Ruler of Lodge No. 99.

Other prizes for low gross and low net scores will be awarded to winners of the first, second and third eighteen holes, for the first thirty-six holes and for the winning four-man team.

The Doyle perpetual trophy will go to the lodge of the tournament winner each year and in the event of a convention held where no course is available will return to Los Angeles until the succeeding conclave.

Lodges may enter as many men as they desire, with each four-man team representing a single lodge. Individual scores of players competing in the four-man team contest will be recognized as scores in the perpetual trophy contest.

The committee for the tournament consists of Ike Wentworth, chairman; George T. Cline, Hal A. Greene, Joseph A. Baldi, John Hodge, Bob Weaver, C. K. Manhart, Paul R. Read, Willard George, Erwin F. Spraul, A. K. Pattison, Guy E. Hanson, Frank V. Delect, Frank P. Young and James J. Donahue.

Big Six

By the Associated Press

Jimmy Foxx and Frank O'Doul, between them, cornered five of the six hits made by six members yesterday, but Foxx lost a point while O'Doul was gaining eight. The Athletics' slugger got two out of five against Cleveland, a mark of .400 for the day, but since his average was .410, he did not hit up to it and fell back to .409. O'Doul got three out of four, including his thirteenth homer, as the Phils bumped the Cubs 7 to 2.

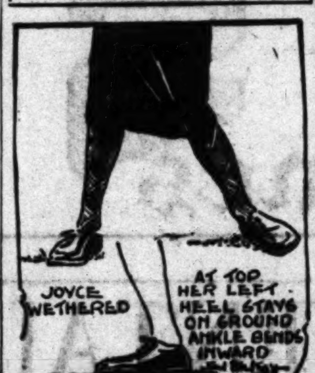
Joyce Keeps Heel Down



JOYCE WETHERED

BY SOL METZGER

Although we are told that the left heel is raised off the ground as we take the club back for a long golf shot, not all stars do so. There is Miss Joyce Wethered, British women's champion, for example. She takes unquestioned rank as the greatest player her sex ever produced, especially after her recent defeat of Miss Glenna Collett in the finals of the recent British women's event.

Miss Wethered doesn't take the left heel off the ground at all on her backswing. Instead, she leaves it there and, to relieve the up-pull upon it, bends her left leg in toward the right at both knee and ankle.

The advantage in this scheme, if your ankle and knee are flexible enough to permit you to do it, is that it insures keeping the left foot in its right place as you come through on the downswing. Let us see in tomorrow's article how Joyce's rival, Glenna Collett, handles her left foot.

People are continually asking Sol Metzger "Why can't I make my approach shots stick on the greens?" Metzger has answered the question in his newest leaflet, "The Art of Pitching." If you wish this leaflet send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times. (Copyright, 1929, by Publishers' Syndicate.)

"PROS" PLAY LA CUMBRE COURSE TODAY

Members of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association will stage a sweepstakes at the La Cumbre Country Club of Santa Barbara today. The sweepstakes will be in the way of a preview of the course, which will be the scene of the national P.G.A. championship in December.

MIDWICK INVITES ANNANDALE TO CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

Golfers of the Midwick Country Club have invited Annandale members to compete in the Alhambra Club's annual championship. The eighteen-hole qualifying round will be played Friday, with thirty-six holes of match play scheduled for Saturday and thirty-six Sunday. Low sixteen in the qualifying round will make up the championship flight. Flights of sixteen will be made up as warranted by the entries.

MRS. PRESSLER, RANKIN WIN AT SAN GABRIEL

Mrs. Harry Pressler, playing to a minus-one handicap, and Dr. L. D. Rankin with a two handicap, set something of a record yesterday at the San Gabriel Country Club by winning the mixed foursome play with 73-1—72. Mrs. Gray Cowan and Bob Williams, 82-9—73, won second place, and Miss Betty Marmion and H. G. Dalzell, 94-20—74, took third place. Approximately twenty foursomes competed.

THREE TIE IN CUP PLAY AT PALOS VERDES

S. W. Marlow, M. C. Cleocker and J. Hazerwaas scored 17 points in the match play against par semimonthly cup tournament at the Palos Verdes Golf Club yesterday. They will play-off for the trophy next week.

The blind bogey also resulted in a tie between S. H. Evans and J. H. Anderson.

Bobby Jones Seeks Crown

ATLANTA, June 16. (AP)—Bobby Jones, national amateur golf champion, today set out for Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. C., in an attempt to acquire another crown.

"It all depends on irons," said Bobby sadly as he departed. "If I don't get the confounded things to working this week, there's no likelihood that I'll change my title now, or any time in the near future."

AL BROWN TO BOX GREGORIO

Heavy List of Ring Battles on Tap This Week

Winner Gets Recognition as Bantam Champ

Young Stribling in First Go Since Sharkey Bout

NEW YORK, June 16. (AP)—In the heavy list of fistic attractions this week, virtually every division from flyweight to heavyweight has some sort of an above-the-average offering.

For sheer importance, perhaps, the first call should go to the fifteen-round struggle at the Queensborough Stadium here Tuesday between Al Brown, the elongated Panama negro bantam, and Vidal Gregorio, rushing Spanish puncher. To the victor will go the spoils in the shape of recognition by the New York State Athletic Commission as the "defending bantamweight champion."

Promoters and boxing authorities have tried vainly for several years to clear up the muddled bantam situation brought about when Charley Phil Rosenberg forfeited his 118-pound crown by coming in overweight in a title bout with Bushy Graham. The Brown-Gregorio battle is expected to go far toward clearing up.

On the same card, Kid Chocolate, the Cuban sensation, meets Terry Roth in the ten-round semifinal, while Pete Myers, San Francisco welterweight, tackles Tony Vacarelli of Harlem, in another ten-rounder. Pete Sanstol, Norway, and Sammy Farber, New York bantam, meet in a special six-rounder.

Among the heavyweights, chief interest attaches to the return to the ring of Young Stribling. The Macon star, beaten by Jack Sharkey in his last start, meets Babe Hunt of Ponca City, Okla., at Wichita, Kan., tomorrow night. The match is set for ten rounds.

George Cook of England, has been substituted for Jim Maloney in his ten-round fight with Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, tomorrow night at Braves Field, Boston. Maloney received a bad cut over his eye during training Thursday and four stitches were taken to close the wound.

The lightweights offer a ten-rounder between Sammy Mandell, the champion, and Tony Lombardo of Chicago at Jackson, Mich., on Thursday. The light-heavyweights can point to Leo Lomsky's ten-round clash with Matt Adgie at the Philadelphia Municipal Stadium tomorrow night. The middleweights' best offering is another ten-round meeting between Joe Anderson, Covington, Ky., and Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, at Cincinnati Tuesday. As to welterweights, Young Corbett, Fresno, and Clyde Chastian, Dallas, should provide plenty of excitement when they clash at San Francisco Friday night.

SCHMELING LOOKS GOOD IN BRISTLING WORKOUT

BY JACK FARRELL

LAKEWOOD (N. J.) June 16.—Herr Max Schmeling is back in fighting trim. Whatever fears may have been entertained that the German heavyweight title contender had gone stale from overwork were allayed during his bristling six-round work today.

He almost knocked out Germany Heller after the Hoboken lad nearly bowled him over with a vicious right-hand punch that riccocheted off his leather helmet near the left ear. He had King Solomon and Walter Sills on the verge, too, but refused to send home the finishing punch. He knocked a professional strong man, Golin Gough, google-eyed in less than one minute with a driving two-handed attack.

BY NOEL BUSCH

HOOSICK FALLS (N. Y.) June 16.—At $1 a head, some 600 fans watched Paulino Uzcudun work today and for the first time the show was worth an admission price.

Paulino today was much faster than previously in his efforts on Jack Demave, Benny Touchstone and Buddy Howard. While it cannot be said that the Basque is learning how to box, he no longer drops his left hand to his knee when swinging a right hook and even Touchstone, the most skillful of his partners, had some trouble today in cuffing him with a left jab.

SALO WINS PYLE DERBY

Gavuzzi Nosed Out by Passaic Policeman in Final Lap at Wrigley Field

would pay off some day this week, exact time and site to be announced later.

Salo's elapsed time for the full distance was 525h. 57m. 20s. Gavuzzi's time, 526h. 8 3-5s.

"I don't know whether I would ever run in such a race again. The way I feel now I do not think so," said Salo, after he won the race. "Of course you know this running game is somewhat like the fight business; when you have finished with a tough test you are ready to quit for all time, but after a little rest you are eager to try it all over again." Salo stated as he pointed his tired dogs toward his training quarters.

Harry Abramowitz of New York City was the first runner to enter the ball park and he was given a tremendous cheer by the crowd. Harry is the boy who set such a blistering pace in that long gallop from San Diego to San Juan Capistrano on Friday.

Sam Richman, another New Yorker, slipped into the apple orchard shortly after Abramowitz made his appearance. He is an American Legion buddy of Salo and for many laps the two ran side by side.

Salo was sixth to enter William Wrigley's pasture and got an ovation from the fans. He ran with reckless abandon for the first six miles, covering the distance in 40m. 20 2-5s.

SALO ADVANCES LEAD

Gavuzzi, who did not enter the park until eleven other runners had passed the gate, seemed content to let Salo go it alone on that space-annihilating pace of his. Pete's time for six miles was 40m. 24 4-5s. and it was during this stage of the race that Salo built up the major portion of his lead.

It was at the six-mile mark that Salo passed Gavuzzi in total elapsed time for the entire run across the country. Adding the 4m. 2 2-5s. which the Passaic policeman made up between Huntington Park and Los Angeles to the 5m. 54 2-5s. which Salo gained inside the ball park gave the naturalized Finn a margin of four-fifths of a second over his rival.

At the 12-mile point Salo had boosted his margin to 4m. 12s., most of this being made between six and eight miles. John's time for the twelve miles was 1h. 21m. 11s., which is very fast traveling.

Gavuzzi covered the same distance in 1h. 31m. 17 3-5s.

Salo's time for twenty miles, which amounted to 100 laps, was 2h. 27m. 38 4-5s. At this point Gavuzzi cut loose with his famous sprint and began to rapidly make up the time he had lost in the early stages of the race. However, the doughty little Englishman couldn't accomplish the Herculean task of cutting off approximately four minutes in six miles and Salo eventually came home a winner as described above.

TOUCHING PICTURE

The footsore and weary runners presented a touching picture as they alternately walked and ran around the park. With one or two exceptions, such as Salo, Gavuzzi and Richman, many of the athletes preferred to rest now and then by slowing down to a walk.

Even Guisto Umek, the fiery Italian, who had won so many laps in the cross-country dash, took to this mode of locomotion during the evening.

Phillip Granville, the South Jamaica Indian who finished third last year, was reported as having been bitten by a dog en route to the park from Huntington Park. He slowed to a walk on many occasions.

No. 99, Joe Spangler, had a bad case of shin splints and it looked as if every lap might be his last, but he stuck to his guns throughout the long grind.

OLD-TIMER CHEERED

Morris Richman, one of Sam's brothers, was bothered by a sore side and had a bad list to starboard all evening.

Herbert Hedeman, the oldest man in the race, drew plenty of cheers during the evening's entertainment. Hailing from Australia, Hedeman has witnessed the passing of fifty-fiv summers.

ROUGH-WATER SWIM ON CALENDAR OF VENETIANS

VENICE, June 16. (Exclusive)—Preparations are moving swiftly here for the first long distance rough-water swim of the summer, to be directed by the Los Angeles Playground Division as part of its summer program of events and entertainment for the sand-lounging public.

The distance competition has been set for Saturday afternoon, July 13, and will be over a route two and one-half miles long. The event will be open to all amateur swimmers from any locale whatsoever, the only limitation being that the contestant cannot be a professional.

Coach Frank Rivas and his aggregation of stellar Venice Plunge Swimming Association paddlers are counting on the July date and will be ready to pick up the medals and trophies to be distributed.

According to Myron Cox, chief of the Los Angeles lifeguard force stationed here, medals are already promised and it may develop that trophies will be thrown the way of the winners as well.

The Playground Department intends to be most active this summer in furnishing competition for amateur contenders and entertainment for the sea-going public. On the first of the month the department staged a most successful program of sand and water events. In the sand events Ward Afner was the outstanding contestant while the Venetian water dogs took the majority of the honors in the ocean races.

As a warm-up for the distance swim of next month, the department will sponsor a beach track and field meet and a swimfest on the 29th inst. The program of events for this day will be announced later.

Bear Fans to Miss Contests

BERKELEY, June 16. (Exclusive) If the University of California football varsity turns out as well as is expected fans of this region next fall will miss out on lots of good entertainment, clean, wholesome fun, as the advertisements say.

The Golden Bears have scheduled three of their most important games away from home. The University of Pennsylvania will be encountered at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on October 19. The Stanford game this year goes to the big stadium at Palo Alto. The University of Southern California contest, which unquestionably will put one or the other out of the running for the Pacific Coast championship, will be staged in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Even so, a few exciting contests are promised for the home lot. There is the battle with Washington, the early season matches with St. Mary's and Santa Clara, and, of course, the scrap with Coach "Babe" Hollinberry's Washington State Cougars, minus the dynamic little "Butch" Meeker.

MARYSVILLE WINS

MARYSVILLE (Calif.) June 16. (AP)—Marysville downed the Sacramento real estate men's nine here today, 8 to 2. The local team counted all their tallies in the first two innings of the game, which opened the second half of the Sacramento Valley League schedule.

BLEVINS TWICE VICTOR

TACOMA (Wash.) June 16. (AP)—Bruce "Horse" Blevins leading pitcher of the Tacoma Timber League club, hurled two games this afternoon and won both contests. Blevins won the first game 10 to 2 allowing only five hits, and took the second, 3 to 0, allowing eight hits.

CARTER TO MEET STETSON

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (AP)—Leslie "Wildcat" Carter, trim negro lightweight from Seattle, makes his San Francisco debut tomorrow night in a ten-round bout at the State Armory against Frankie Stetson, local high-school boy who has come to the fore rapidly in the past year.

Runners in The Times Pre-Olympic Marathon Saturday, who won medals and have not yet received them, can do so by calling at the sports department of The Times any time after 2 o'clock this afternoon. The first ten men across the finish line received gold medals, while every other athlete to finish received a bronze "survivors'" medal. Twenty of the thirty-nine athletes who started, finished the lengthy grind.

Carey to Boss Reds, Rumored

CINCINNATI (O.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Persistent rumors have been evident for two days in sporting circles here to the effect that the Cincinnati Reds baseball club will have a brand new manager soon as a successor to the present manager, Jack Hendricks, who has held the managerial reins of the Reds for several years. In an effort to rehabilitate the notoriously unsuccessful Cincinnati organization and get that club out of the cellar it is reported from an authentic source that Max Carey, now playing with the Brooklyn Robins, has been decided upon to succeed Manager Jack Hendricks. The deal, it is understood, is the result of a two-days' series of negotiations between Carey and President C. J. McDiarmid of the Cincinnati organization.

Tonight it was stated officially that all that remained to place carey in charge of the disorganized team was the action of the Reds' board of directors, which is expected to take place early this week.

Carey declined today to comment on the outcome of his visit here and his conferences at baseball headquarters.

FAST TIMES FEATURE OUTBOARD RACE

NEWPORT BEACH, June 16. (Exclusive)—Fast times, close finishes, spills and thrills marked the wind-up races this afternoon in the Southern California Outboard Association two-day regatta staged on Newport Bay. H. G. Ferguson, pilot of Dr. Leo Baughman's Blue Streak IV, holder of five world's records; Johnny Adams, who cracked the B Class record yesterday, and John Beneoloski shared winners' honors.

Adolph Felger of Santa Barbara was taken to the Newport Hospital following a spill on the back stretch while hitting a forty-mile clip. Felger was fighting a nip and tuck battle with Miss Salton for third place in a Class C race, when Miss Ethel, a big express cruiser, cut across the course kicking up a big wake, which was nearly disastrous to several other pilots. Felger's craft, Sea Gull, was badly damaged.

Miss Hupmobile, driven by Beneoloski, won the first Class B race with Johnny Adams in Crandall Comet and Miss Salton finishing right-field screen for the circuit.

Two more Portland runs came across in the fifth, which saw Johns chased and Hulvey ascend to the mound. With one away, Tony Rego, who had been nobly carrying on an argument with all the fans in the grand stand and box seats, singled to start trouble and rambled to third when Fullerton also singled. When Frey hit safely to right to score Rego, Hulvey was called in to the rubber. Frey's hit sent Fullerton to third and the Duck right-fielder took second on Rumler's throw to the far corner.

Fullerton spiked a lot of epidermius off one of Red Rollings's big toes sliding into third, so Ostenberg was called in to take charge of the hot corner.

HULVEY WALKS IN RUN

Hulvey purposely walked Hassler, filling the bases, and then failed to locate the plate on Keesey, walking him, also, to force Fullerton in with the second run of the round. Lee turned Jahn's grounder into a double play to end the inning.

The Ducks picked up their four runs in the sixth when Borelli singled, advanced to third on a sacrifice and an infield out, and scored when Rego sent a one-base slap to right.

Hollywood got its two runs in the home half of the sixth. With one away Rumler walked, Carlyle singled to right and Rumler scored and Cleo took third when Frey let the ball roll through him to the bleachers. Frey, however, made up for that error on the next play when he ran back to the stands and speared Heath's mighty wallop off the screen with one hand. Carlyle scored after the catch, which provided the fielding feature of the afternoon.

The Stars got two men on in the ninth, but Fullerton forced Shellenback to pop to Keesey and then retired Burkett to get out of a tight situation.

OPENER TOO LOP-SIDED

The first game was too lop-sided to provide any thrills, the Sheiks clouting Jack Knight and John Beck to the showers as early as the fourth and picking up a few more runs off Walters, the third-sacker, who moved over to the mound to see if he could stop the flood of base hits.

Johns blanked the Ducks for five rounds before giving way to Hollerson. Bates's double and Richards's single in the ninth saved the Portlanders from suffering a shutout.

The Sheiks massed their scoring attack in the third and fourth innings, putting over fourteen runs in these two frames. Six tallies were made off Knight in the third, while Beck was touched for eight more in the fourth to sap the interest, if any, from the contest.

Heath started his home-run collection in the second, lofting one into the bleachers.

Rollings, who gathered four hits in the first game, singled to begin the six-run rally in the third and Burkett sacrificed. Rumler and Carlyle singled, and then Heath homed over the center-field fence. Singles by Lee, Johns and Rollings and a double by Funk accounted for the other runs of the round.

STARS GET EIGHT MORE

The fourth inning was even wilder than the third, seven hits being bunched with a couple of walks for eight tallies. Rollings tripled with the bases filled during this spree, while Rumler and Carlyle banged out doubles. Walters replaced Beck before the round ended.

The Stars scored three more in the fifth, Funk hitting a homer, and made their others in the sixth and eighth. The final score was made on Heath's third homer of the game—a drive over the right-field brick wall. Scores:

LUTZE AFTER SONNENBERG

New Body-Slam Expert Seeks Title Bout; Willing to Clash With Any Heavyweight Star

Nick Lutze, the new backward body-slam exponent who defeated Dick Daviscourt, rough Kansas grappler, after a wild mat battle here last week, is now after matches with any of the greatest wrestlers in the game.

He informed Promoter Lou Daro yesterday that he would post a $5000 certified check with the State Athletic Commission today to guarantee his appearance in the ring on any date here against Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king.

Lutze stated that if Sonnenberg refused to meet any offer Promoter Daro made him to come to the Coast for the match he would be ready to face any heavyweight and the $5000 would stand to insure his appearance in a finish match.

Promoter Daro is planning an all-star wrestling show for the Olympic the 26th inst., and although he has yet to make any of the big matches he proposes to have that night, it is considered possible Lutze will be one of the main-eventers. Lutze has not signed for his appearance yet and probably will not until after he has posted his forfeit money with Frank Moran, chief deputy of the State Athletic Commission, here today.

Mat critics who witnessed Lutze's battle with Daviscourt last week declare the Chicago mat star is in better condition than he was for his big matches here last year. They state Lutze has shown a marked improvement in both defensive and offensive wrestling and that today he stands out as about the best young heavyweight in the game.

Joe Malcewicz, Utica mat panther, was in line for the match with Lutze here two weeks ago, but he turned down the offer in order to get in better condition before accepting the match. He had also noticed the great improvement in Lutze's work over that which the Chicago grappler showed the night the Utican sent him to the hospital with a backward body slam.

Seattle and Reds Divide

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (AP)—The Missions and Seattle divided the Sunday bill here today with the Indians, winning the opener, 8 to 4, and losing in the afternoon, 6 to 1.

Pete Scott's home run in the first inning, with the bases loaded, defeated Jim Edwards, pitcher in the second game, as Pillette held the Indians safe. In the morning game Red Kilefer's crew allowed fourteen men to die on the bases.

ANGELS DROP DOUBLE BILL

ball man in both games. He helped Craghead win the first game when he doubled to center field in the first inning to score Jimmy Reese, who had been allowed an infield hit.

In the afternoon game he hit a home run and three singles in four trips to the plate. He drove in six of the eight runs. The circuit bunt came in the first inning off Red Roberts, when two men were on, to give the Oaks a 3-to-0 lead.

Martin Dumovich started on the mound for the Oaks and the Angels piled up three runs on him in the second to tie the score.

A single by Roy Frazier, batting for McIsaacs, and Reese's double to right field gave the Oaks a one-run lead in their half.

The Angels came back with another in the fifth and the Oaks also shoved over a marker. Dumovich was batted from the box in the sixth inning when the Angels took a one-run lead.

DADO FAVORED IN OLYMPIC GO

Delos Williams to Take on Filipino Tomorrow

Interest High in La Barba, Earl Mastro Battle

Dick Daniels, Yale Okun to Clash Here July 2

Speedy Dado is the favorite over Delos Kid Williams for their ten-round bout in the Olympic Tuesday night. The boys are to scale 115 pounds or under for the contest.

Some of the betting is making Dado choice to score a knockout. If he does break loose with his connecting shots and stop the New Orleans vet it would be more than Fidel La Barba or Newsboy Brown could accomplish.

The Olympic has two big matches coming up with La Barba and Earl Mastro slated for the 25th inst., and Dick Daniels paired with Yale Okun on July 2.

The La Barba-Mastro battle is a natural boxing classic. His experience against topnotch fighters the last year will come close to making Mastro an even bet with the high-geared La Barba.

Mastro arrived here last Saturday from Chicago and is slated to box daily in Barney Dempsey's gymnasium. La Barba has been training for a full week realizing that he has a fight on his hands.

Both will be required to post weight and appearance forfeits with the State Athletic Commission. The bout is as big a shot here as La Barba and Kid Chocolate was in New York.

Daniels is the highly touted heavyweight Mike Collins brought to the Coast with a record of sixty-three knockouts in seventy-two fights. That's the hottest trail of kayoes any fighter ever displayed in Los Angeles.

Fan Pinched

CHICAGO, June 16. (AP)—Three Chicago Cub fans emerged runners-up to two Philadelphia National players, Fresco Thompson and Dennis Southern, in an altercation following today's game.

No blows were struck during the argument which started when one of the fans accused Thompson of expectorating tobacco juice in his eye as the players were leaving the field for their dressing-rooms. Police were called and arrested the fan.

A crowd of several hundred other fans followed the arrested one to the station house where they made considerable uproar. The police finally released the man, but arrested two from the crowd who refused to cease yelling in front of the station.

LARRY MURPHY WINS

EUREKA (Cal.) June 16. (AP)—Larry Murphy, Los Angeles welterweight, won a ten-round decision from Battling Dozer, negro, Wichita, Kan., in the main bout of the American Legion program here last night.

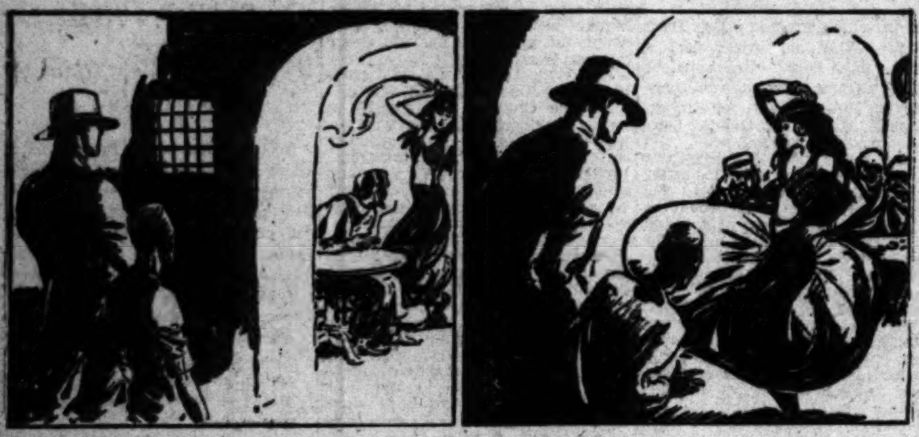
THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Riding slowly through the moonlit paths of the native quarter, Tarzan was attracted by the wild din coming from one of the numerous cafes. Curious, he decided to look in. Many Arabs were smoking and drinking thick black coffee. With Abdul, his servant, he found seats near the dancing Ouled-Nail girls.

Soon one of these entertainers, spying Tarzan, danced toward him, throwing her silken scarf across his shoulder. He gave her the expected silver coins. Before long the sharp-eyed Abdul observed her talking with two Arabs across the room. Again it came her turn to dance. She hovered close to Tarzan.

Smiling sweetly, despite the scowls of the desert sons, she whirled in her dance, then suddenly bent low above him. "There are two without in the court," she said quickly in broken French, "who would harm monsieur. I promised to lure you to them, but I cannot—monsieur has been kind. Go quickly; they are bad men."

Tarzan thanked her, but made no motion to leave. A surly looking Arab now approached, too evidently bent on trouble. Amid sneering laughs from the onlookers, he began heaping abuse upon Tarzan, claiming the dancing girl had been insulted. The ape-man did not relish being laughed at nor the language. What was about to happen?

MINE GROUP IN NEW HANDS

Announcement has just been made that the Standard Ores Corporation has been incorporated, and that the Storm Cloud mine in the Hassayampa mining district and the Verde Superior mine in the Black Hills mining district, near Prescott, Ariz., are to be operated.

Bluford H. J. Balter, formerly operating the properties, has been selected as president of the new corporation, with George A. Kirkbride as vice-president and assistant general manager, and E. H. Bayliss, as secretary and treasurer.

According to reports, Storm Cloud is producing fairly good grade of mill ore which is being treated in the fifty-ton mill owned by the company, and that shipments of concentrates are being made to the smelter.

Development work in the Verde Superior, it is said, shows more sulphides in the rock with each round and that the gold and silver values are better. Prospecting has shown excellent surface indications over a strip 300x3000 feet.

It was reported that the Galena vein on the Storm Cloud property has been showing excellent values and that a survey just completed shows 320 feet of stoping ground above the 320-foot level of the Ten Spot shaft. Ore is now being taken from the Galena vein to the mill with a resultant increase in the mill heads and operating profits, it was asserted. Samples taken from this vein are reported to be running $65 per ton, with the entire drift in mill ore or good grade.

Officials state that development work on the copper vein of the Storm Cloud is proceeding with the stoping and that a four-foot vein of ore has been opened on the 250-foot level and that drifting will be started both north and south. A fairly good tonnage is anticipated, it was said.

Plans are under way for completion of a road to the Verde Superior property. Additional equipment is to be installed shortly.

OLD YELLOW ASTER MILL DUMP PAYS

Carwymac, Inc., Shipping Gold Brick to Mint on Every Tenth Day

Carwymac Incorporated of Los Angeles has been successfully engaged in the treatment of old mill tailings at the famous Yellow Aster mine at Randsburg, Kern county, and is consigning a gold brick to the United States mint every ten days.

The company's 250-ton daily capacity cyanide leaching plant is running at full capacity treating auriferous tailings of an assay value of less than $1 per ton, at a profit, and at a total cost, including all overhead, of 20 cents a ton. The capacity of the plant is being increased to 300 tons daily. When operating at this greater capacity it is asserted that treatment cost will be reduced to 17 cents per ton, making a notable record in the economic handling of old mill tailings.

It is estimated there are in excess of 3,000,000 tons of accumulated mill tailings at the Yellow Aster mine which are being handled by a combination of drag and slack-line scrapers. The flow sheet and apparatus were designed and patented by George H. Wyman, consulting engineer. He states that a number of similar plants will shortly be installed in the Southwest for the handling and treatment of old milling tailings of low grade which previously could not be rehandled at a profit.

The Yellow Aster Mining Company, with millions in gold production to its credit, is increasing the capacity of its ore reduction plant from twenty to fifty stamps, forty of which have received their finishing touches and are now in regular commission. The mine is now being operated upon a much larger scale than has been the case for the past few years.

Oil Output of Western Gulf Project Told

FRUITVALE, June 17. (Exclusive) The Western Gulf Oil Company's Sweitzer No. 1 wildcat well, situated on Sec. 27, 29-27, which was recently completed, is putting out approximately 800 barrels of oil per day, testing 20.8-deg. gravity, cutting about 3.5 water and 1.3 emulsion.

According to field reports 3000 barrels storage is on the property with more than 10,000 barrels storage accessible nearby.

Western Gulf's well is about three miles from Bakersfield and near the Marston No. 3, which is producing 330 barrels of oil per day. The Marston was brought in about four months ago.

Adjacent properties are owned by the Mohawk Petroleum Company, embracing an eighty-acre tract west of the new well. The Shell Oil Company has twenty acres south of it.

Desert Mining Area Attracts

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 17. (Exclusive)—Much interest is being shown in the desert mining area that lies west of Tucson and south of Casa Grande. The most important work is that of the Arizona Gold, Inc., which is operating the old Greenback property, with California and Arizona backing. T. M. Wall is sinking a winze on the 500 level, following an ore shoot with values of about $20 a ton in copper and gold. Surface work on croppings has found much $16 ore.

The Lake Shore property, forty miles south of Casa Grande, is making test shipments of carloads of ore. Frank M. Leonard heads the operating syndicate.

MINE MILL AT AJO TO BE LARGER

Calumet and Arizona to Triple Capacity of New Cornelia Plant

AJO (Ariz.) June 16. (Exclusive) Under a program that is to consume $3,500,000 during the year, the New Cornelia mill here of the Calumet & Arizona Mining Company is to be tripled in capacity to daily consumption of 15,000 tons of ore, surpassed only by the Inspiration mill at Miami.

Larger grinding rod mills and seven-foot Symons cone crushers will bring material to the mill in finer condition, while other plant additions will serve to speed up production, better the recovery percentages and lower the costs.

A third 7500-kilowatt turbine is being placed in the power plant. Three four-yard steam shovels and seven locomotives have been ordered for the ore pits and delivery system, while foundations have been poured for an additional mill unit. Water in ample supply has been developed by shafts that located a stream 700 feet below an almost arid plain. It is expected that the new work will be completed by December 1.

The sulphuric-acid leaching plant still is in operation, but may be abandoned during the year, for the available supply of oxide surface ores is diminishing. There is some possibility of development of other oxide ore bodies in this locality.

BETTERING OF SMELTER PENDS

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Phelps Dodge smelter enlargements and betterments are to cost $1,000,000, according to announcement made by P. G. Beckett, general manager. There will be an entirely new ore preparation and bedding plant, to cost three-fourths of the appropriated sum. Five ore stalls, each 40x200 feet, each with capacity for 11,500 tons of mixed ores and concentrates will be put up.

Delivery of ores to the pits will be by overhead conveyors and there will be mechanical delivery to the roasting plant.

In order to have better co-ordination with the new Nichols Copper Company's refinery at El Paso, there will be provision of an anode casting department, at cost of $150,000. This will avoid remelting of copper bars, as the anodes will be ready for the electrolytic tanks of the refinery when they leave the local works. This division of the new order will be ready in the latter part of the year, when the El Paso plant is to go into operation.

Anode casting will be done in an extension of the smelter's converter aisle. The El Paso works also will absorb the output of the local smelter of the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company and of the Clemenceau smelter of the United Verde Extension Copper Company of Jerome.

At least nine months will be spent on the Phelps Dodge smelter changes, with no attempt to speed the work. The change in the ore storage and supply system is the first to be made since the plant was established.

UNION DRILLS AHEAD IN HOLE NEAR TAFT

TAFT, June 17. (Exclusive)—The Union Oil Company's Williams No. 1 well, situated on Sec. 22, 32-23, in a nine-acre tract is drilling ahead below 810 feet in brown shale. This project is but a short distance from Union's W. P. No. 1 situated on Sec. 27, 32-23, standing cemented at about 2300 feet. A production test will be made shortly, according to field reports.

MINE RUSH ON TO DAM AREA

Assurance of Boulder Project Construction Stirs Interest in Clark County (Nevada) Field

Stimulated by the statements that the building of the Boulder dam is assured, Clark county, Nevada, is swarming with engineers on the staffs of big mining and industrial concerns, according to reports from various responsible sources.

Metal mining conditions in that section, as well as the possibilities in the nonmetallic line, are being made the subject of careful and exhaustive surveys and examinations by engineers and geologists of note, and it is thought that the construction and installation of huge ore-reduction works and manufacturing plants will follow these intensive inquiries.

Considerable interest is noted by the Manganese Producers' Association, which, with its consulting engineer, Alvin B. Carpenter in the field, is said to have made a thorough investigation of the county in gathering data regarding the deposits of manganese ore.

The probable and possible tonnage of the metal-producing mines of the county are also being given careful consideration preparatory to the ultimate construction of reduction plants for the economic treatment of this class of ores either at Goodsprings or Las Vegas. The ores of the district classify principally as lead, silver, zinc, copper and gold, with a frequent occurrence of the rare metals, not including nonmetallics existing in a considerable variety. The metal producers of the Yellow Pine district include the Yellow Pine, the Argentina, Potosi, Oro Amigo and other mines of note.

Old Cave Creek District Mine in New Hands

PHOENIX, June 17. (Exclusive)—The old Lewis property, in Cave Creek district, thirty-five miles north of Phoenix, has been taken over by a local syndicate, headed by Parker L. Woodman, prominent in Arizona mining circles for many years.

There has been formation of the Missoure Copper Company, which already has made progress in pushing a tunnel toward the main ore body. Four carloads of surface ore, trucked to a rail connection at Phoenix, gave good returns in the Magma smelter at Superior. The district heretofore has been worked mainly for gold.

OLD GOLDEN JUBILEE MINE IN NEW HANDS

The Golden Jubilee mine on Coffee Creek, Trinity county, has been sold on bond and lease by the McCormick-Saeltzer Company of Redding to Art and Lou Williams of Carrville and C. H. Kremers of Niagara Falls. The Golden Jubilee was a heavy producer twenty years ago and is regarded as a valuable quartz property. A ten stamp mill is on the property and $5000 worth of pipe has been purchased to bring power to the mine.

Yates Oil Field Rail Line Plans Stir Up Fight

AUSTIN (Tex.) June 17. (Exclusive)—Acting at the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Railroad Commission held a hearing on the application of the Yates & West Texas Railroad for a permit to construct a line from Rankin on the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient to Iraan in the Yates oil field of Pecos county.

The application was opposed by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, owners of the Orient. Necessity for the proposed road was pointed out by W. A. Moncrief of Fort Worth, its president. He testified that the present potential production of the oil field, based on its 300 wells, is 4,956,000 barrels daily. He said life of the field will be fifteen to twenty-five years, with ultimate daily production up to 500,000 barrels. Present restricted production is 100,000 barrels daily. He offered letters from executives of the Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company and other major companies supporting the need of the railroad.

Attorneys for the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient entered the case to protest granting the certificate. The Orient contended the thirty-mile railroad is not needed, but if authorized, the Santa Fe system, as owner of the Orient, should be permitted to build it.

Interest in Section Shifts from Palisades

Half-Dozen Projects Center of Attention Now

Standard Offset Near Wild Well Drills Ahead

The nervous tension so apparent in the Palisades tract three miles west of Santa Barbara has switched from that district and has apparently settled at Kettleman Hills, where there are, perhaps, a half-dozen operations which are proving to be of considerable interest just now.

For a week, the Standard Oil Company's No. 81 well, situated on Sec. 11, 22-17, was thought to be nearing completion, according to field reports. Cement was recently drilled out and it is drilling ahead below 6183 feet.

Standard's project is an offset to the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well, putting out approximately 3400 barrels of oil per day, and should it be brought in the procedure would conform absolutely with the report submitted a month ago by the special advisory committee appointed by Dr. George Otis Smith, representative here of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur. This report, according to a reliable source, recommends that a few completions be brought in in the vicinity of Milham's producer to draw off the gas pressure so that an attempt might be made to control it.

FOUR FISHING

Four of the projects are still tied up in fishing jobs that developed weeks ago. The General Petroleum Corporation has recovered approximately 5000 feet of its three-inch drill pipe from the hole of the Ochsner No. 2, situated on Sec. 26, 22-18, and if no other delays occur the remainder should be loosened shortly. Bottom of the hole is at 6965 feet.

The Milham Exploration Company is sidetracking past a frozen bit in its Beal No. 1 well, situated on Sec. 34, 21-17, with bottom of the hole at 5830 feet. This project was plugged at 5250 feet and an endeavor is being made to drive the frozen bit to one side to allow resumption of operations.

The Elliott No. 2, with bottom of the hole at 6240 feet, is swabbing for

General to Acquire Acreage of Olympic Company

May Also Take Over Wells Under Way in Field

Meantime Drilling Activity Picks Up Briskly

Drilling operations are on the increase in the Palisades tract, west of Santa Barbara, yet there is slight change in the situation from what it was three weeks ago when there was no method of handling the output from the Olympic Oil & Refining Company's Lomas No. 1 discovery well.

It has been definitely learned that the General Petroleum Corporation is to take over the acreage held by Olympic and will operate the projects already started there. The General Order No. 5, just released by Umpire F. C. Van Deinse, confirms that angle, as Olympic's holdings are now listed under the name of the General Petroleum Corporation.

MATTER PENDS

There is a strong possibility that General will also operate the wells started by Olympic in the Palisades tract. But just now it is not definitely known how many of the projects General will acquire, it is said. At least another week will pass before the situation clears up, and by that time it may be known whether or not a pipe line is to be constructed to Elwood or whether opposition has been overcome to permit construction of a marine loading dock at the ocean's edge west of Santa Barbara.

The Ring Oil Company's Nugent No. 1, about 800 feet southwest of the Lomas No. 1, is drilling ahead below 2030 feet and indications are that a favorable formation should be picked up shortly. This project blew in several days ago when considerable gas was in evidence in the hole. Oil sand formation is said to have been penetrated at 2200 feet, in the Lomas No. 1 and should that same stratum be found in Ring's well there may be interesting results reported shortly.

DRILL IN SHALE

The Major Oil Company's Laing No. 1 is drilling below 1600 feet in a hard formation, according to field reports, and the Hamilton

78% Gain

In Electric Output In Three Years

ELECTRIC output of the General Gas and Electric properties in South Carolina and Florida increased 78% from 1925 to 1928. This is more than double the 36% gain as reported by the Department of the Interior for the same period for the United States as a whole.

This unusually rapid growth is due to the marked industrial expansion of the South and the increased buying power of the average family. The South Carolina region centers at Columbia, the capital of the State.

The largest earth dam in the world is being built on the Saluda River, near Columbia, by the General Gas and Electric properties. This will give South Carolina one of the largest and most dependable sources of hydro-electric power in the world. Before ground was broken the entire initial annual output of 300,000,000 K.W.H. had been sold under long term contracts.

The General Gas and Electric Corporation, whose listed stocks are widely held and traded in, has large holdings, exceeding $100,000,000 in value, in the securities of widely diversified public utilities, including the Associated Gas and Electric System and affiliated enterprises.

A Fivefold Increase in Electric Output in Florida

The use of electricity in the Florida area, including prosperous citrus growing regions, has had a fivefold increase in output from 1925 to 1928.

Through its present widespread holdings and other possible and probable acquisitions, the General Gas and Electric Corporation will share largely in the continued growth of the public utility industry.

NEW SANTA FE WELL COMES IN

Bandini No. 10 Has Initial 10,400-Barrel Flow

First to be Completed In O'Connell Sand

Oil 35.4 Deg. Gravity from Depth of 6774 Feet

The third largest well brought in at Santa Fe Springs was completed yesterday when the Bandini Company's Bandini No. 10 came in with an initial flow of 10,400 barrels of 35.4-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 6774 feet, along with about 9,500,000 cubic feet of gas.

This project is one of a dozen Bandini wells and the first of the group to be completed in the O'Connell sand, the goal of many other operators in that field.

ON TEN-ACRE TRACT

Field reports state that the oil is clean, cutting less than 1 per cent and that pressure on the casing is 1750 pounds and 400 pounds on the tubing. Cement was drilled out at 6318 feet and tubing landed at about that depth.

Bandini's No. 10 is situated on an eighteen-acre tract, due east of center of operations in that field, and is south of the tract where the Texas Company's Wickman No. 2 came in recently. It is also adjoined on the west and south by a large tract held by the General Petroleum Corporation.

TWO LARGER WELLS

Only two other completions at Santa Fe Springs top that of the Bandini No. 10. The Texas Company's Standlee No. 4, which came in about a month ago, put out an average of 12,148 barrels of oil per day, but has been beaned down. The other is that of the Associated Oil Company's Green No. 2, which was completed several years ago in the old Meyer zone and yielded 14,750 barrels per day.

The Bandini No. 14 and No. 17, according to field reports, are nearing completion and may be placed on production within a week. Both of these projects are coring in the O'Connell sand at about 6300 feet and are but a short distance from the Bandini No. 10.

STATUS OF GOLD MINE BRIGHTER

Improvement in Estate at Nevada City Reported by Angeleno Operator

Considerable improvement is noted in the condition of the Parnall Gold Mines Corporation, near Nevada City, Cal., according to W. D. Hill of Los Angeles, who recently made an inspection of the property. Some specimens of native gold in its quartz matrix, taken from the recent strike made during the development work, is said to be a fair example of the physical condition of the property.

With a force of ten men employed, drifting on the vein is in progress from the 150-foot level, the face showing six feet of quartz, some of which shows free gold plentifully, it is said. The ore, as broken, is being stored on the dump awaiting the construction of the proposed ten-stamp mill. The high-grade ore is being sacked awaiting future direct shipment to smelter.

The property of the company is located on the Mother Lode mineral belt of that section, and not far from the Sixteen-to-One mine, one of the largest gold producers of the State. The management plans to place it upon a regular production basis soon. C. L. Salmon is mine superintendent.

Cyanide Plant Under Way for Pyramid Ores

SACRAMENTO, June 17. (Exclusive)—Foundation is now going in for a fifty-ton Vandercook Mercuric Cyanide Mill at the Pyramid Mine, forty-two miles east of Sacramento in Eldorado county. This mill is especially designed to handle the complex ore of the Pyramid Mine which has been difficult for recovery and $500,000 worth of ore has been blocked out ready for a steady run.

The construction work and development mapped out will cost $100,000 and will take four months to complete. J. D. Chambers is president of the New Pyramid Mining Company and A. E. Vandercook superintendent.

ANGELENO OPERATES CINNABAR PROPERTY

TONOPAH (Nev.) June 17. (Exclusive)—W. T. Childers of Los Angeles, holding an option on the Red Rose group of six quicksilver claims, has started trial production. Ore is being sent through two small retorts in order to determine the best method of handling the product. The Red Rose is located on the summit of Mt. Montgomery, and is said to show a substantial tonnage of commercial cinnabar. Former owners are credited with extracting $40,000 in high-grade ore.

Reliability of Airplanes

Consolidated Aircraft Corporation planes and flying boats have flown more than 20,000,000 miles in the military service of the United States. More than 4,200 Americans have received flying training in Consolidated "Huskies," with not a single fatality reported which could be traced to any failure of any part of the airplane.

GOLD ACE SHAFT CUTS OBJECTIVE

Good Vein Reported Struck in Nevada Property

Ore Samples Held to Average High in Values

Plans for Drifting on Body Now Under Way

Word just received from G. Ray Boggs, general manager of the Gold Ace Mines Company, operating at Cararra, Nev., states the new double-compartment shaft has cut the vein, its objective, at a vertical depth of sixty feet, the vein being from eight to ten feet in width between walls.

Samples taken from every stratum of the ore body, it is asserted, exclusive of the high-grade streak, assayed from $4.80 to $20.60 per ton in gold. Six inches of "picture" rock, characteristic of the high-grade ore exposed in the vein in the winze above, accompanies the big ore body just cut by the shaft.

The working shaft has been sunk to a depth of eighty feet and a station is being cut at that level from which drifts will be run on the ore both north and south. The ore broken will be trammed to the mill, as it is all said to be of excellent milling grade.

Three hundred feet north of the shaft, according to the mine management, an old tunnel has been cleaned out, and by cross-cutting a distance of fifteen feet a five-foot body of ore has been exposed averaging better than $20 per ton in its gold content. This new source of mineral wealth is being drifted on both ways and the ore taken out as development work progresses is also being consigned to the company's milling plant.

After considerable experimenting in milling operations the company has installed a complete Mat-O-Gold set, doing away with the old method of amalgamation. With this equipment, nearly all of the gold and concentrates are recovered. The clean-up from the Mat-O-Gold equipment is being treated by barrel amalgamation with a recovery of 90 per cent of the value of material treated. The barrel-amalgamation method has been successfully used in the handling of the gold ore from the new discovery on company ground, which was reported to be of interest in the district a few weeks ago.

Lindke No. 1 of Dunlap and Knapp is drilling at about 1600 feet in a shale formation.

Mechanical difficulties delayed operations for a time in the Robert Bowles Oil Company's Coast Line No. 5, and following repairs, drilling was resumed at 1728 feet.

Casing has been set to 220 feet in the Doyle Petroleum Company's Minkler No. 1, and eighteen-inch casing has been set to 415 feet in Olympic's Mesa School No. 1.

Surface casing was yesterday being set in the Union Oil Company's Durer No. 1, the William Rhoades No. 1 and the Seeple No. 2.

Copper Strike Reported From Superior Mine

SUPERIOR (Ariz.) June 16. (Exclusive)—Within the past week discovery of copper ore is reported in the lower workings of the Sandal vein of the Belmont Mining Company.

Secretary Arthur Smith states that about three feet of ore, in a cross-fracture of the tilting limestone, carries 5 per cent copper and seventeen ounces silver, in chalcopyrite and bornite. The primary ore is such that mining men confidently expect not only its continuance but its broadening at greater depth.

For several years there has been expectation of striking copper in this property, now down about 1800 feet, with several veins under exploration. Conditions are similar to those in the near-by Magma, where the surface ores also were valuable especially for silver. The Belmont has been an expensive proposition for a group of Michigan and Arizona mining capitalists, but they never have lost faith in the outcome.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Carbonates

HAWTHORNE (Nev.) May 29. Question: I am mailing one bag with two different samples in it. I have two separate deposits of same and am desirous to know if they have any commercial value. MRS. S.

Answer: No. 1 is elongated calcium carbonate giving a slight zinc reaction. Nos. 2 and 3 are crystallized calcite, partly of milk-white and cloudy colors. There is no Barium, nor Strontium in either sample. Values problematical.

Uranium Absent

ELY (Nev.) May 30.—Q.: Please test the samples for aluminum and uranium. Found in White Pine county, Nevada. Z.

A.: The smooth brown-red and dark-yellow samples are mixtures of hydrous aluminum and magnesium, silicates chiefly, with limonite present. Bauxite not present. The spongiform specimens are decomposed, partly conglomerate rocks reacting for limonite and hemitite.

Of Doubtful Value

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Q.: Under separate cover please find a few samples of rock from the San Bernardino Mountains, near Redlands. Kindly classify same through In the Earth department. Oblige. D.

A.: The samples are greatly altered feldspathic rocks containing more or less iron and manganese. One of the specimens carried a trace of copper carbonate (known also as Malachite.)

A Mixture

SPUR (Tex.) May 31.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending you a sample of material which we find in extremely large quantities on this ranch along lower Duck Creek in Dickens and Kent counties, Texas. Will you kindly advise through the columns of your paper just what this is and what, if any, its commercial value. Thanking you. X.

A.: The sample reacts chiefly for silica. Microscopic spots of feldspar and some kaolinite present. Water soluble (available) potash found in traces only.

Cinnabar Absent

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Q.: Will you give mercury test on the enclosed sample which was taken from my father's property in Clark county, Nevada. If you will send him a copy of the results at ——, Nevada, you will greatly oblige me. I will look for test report when published in your usual column. A.

A.: The sample is clay mixed with hematite.

DIORITIC ROCK

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Q.: I was wondering if you would make us an analysis or assay of accompanying ore containing Zn and other metals and how much. Thanking you in advance and assuring you of our patronage in the future. X.

A.: To obtain zinc reactions when the rock carries but little is hard work. By qualitative analysis and microscopical examinations we found traces of cube pyrite. Native gold absent.

Pumice

YUMA (Ariz.) June 2.—Q.: I am sending one sample by mail for classification by your In the Earth department. It comes from north of Yuma. Does it represent commercial values? I thank you. A.

A.: The specimen is low-grade (commercially) porous feldspathic scoria. It floats on water and carries a little iron oxide.

Infusorial Earth

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 3.—Q.: Kindly analyze the white material submitted herewith and advise for what purpose it might be used. This deposit is located in Southern Arizona. N.

A.: The specimen is not a pure grade. It contains a little clay, mixed with more or less volcanic ash.

Carbonate and Sulphate

LOS ANGELES, June 3—Please analyze the inclosed mineral for anything of commercial value. I believe it contains copper, and it was obtained near Miami, Gila county, Ariz. MRS. H.

A.: The specimen reacts for iron oxides and some blue copper carbonate (azurite) is seamed throughout the mass, with more or less copper sulphate. Indigo copper traces; smooth slickensides found on one side, and such ore should give assay returns for silver. Native gold absent.

Four Samples

ESCONDIDO, June 4.—Q.: Please analyze these four minerals. Do Nos. 1 and 4 contain corundum? Nos. 1, 2 and 3 from Pine Mountain. No 4 from Escondido, Cal. D.

A.: No. 1 carries traces of pyrite, arsenopyrite and slight zinc reaction. No 2, pyrite, arsenopyrite and microscopic red garnet. No. 3 carries traces of microscopical pyrite. No. 4 is not corundum; it is probably diorite (rock) coated with garnet on one side.

Not Diatomaceous Earth

ORA GRANDE, June 4.—Q.: Sample found in San Bernardino county. Please test it for clarifying oils, or for Fullers earth, or diatomaceous earth? F.

A.: It is a low-grade mixture of silica, clay, and a low percentage of Fullers earth. For filtration purposes doubtful.

Five Samples

EL SEGUNDO, June 6.—Q.: Inclosed are five samples. I would appreciate your informing me what they are. Nos. 1, 2 and 3 were found on the beach near Playa Del Rey. Nos. 4 and 5 near Camp Baldy. I am very grateful for the information you have given me in the past. It is a great satisfaction to know it is correct. F.

A.: Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are parts of siliceous, iron-stained pebbles, and No. 1 is furthermore stained with banded iron-manganese oxides. No. 4 weighs less than 1 gram. It is rather small for satisfactory tests and seems to be garnet coated with blue copper carbonate (azurite;) it reacts, in traces for native copperas. No. 5 is chiefly quartzitic rock with a slight aluminum reaction. The bluish color is probably due to Dumortierite (aluminum silicate) in part. There are traces of azurite and native "copperas" in the mass. Thank you for your words of encouragement!

Near Jasper-Iron

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—Q.: Under separate cover one sample of rock, on which I would be pleased to have your report through In the Earth Column of The Times. This rock is from Clark county, Nevada. Please identify report as coming from. N. S.

A.: The coatings on the specimen are of copper silicate, and do not react for uranium. It carries microscopic traces of pyrite; copper sulphate traces, and native gold absent.

Late Reports From California's Great Petroleum Pools

HYDRAULICS AT DIGGINGS OPERATING

Two in Commission at Weaverville Placer of Angeleno Company

SACRAMENTO, June 16. (Exclusive)—Le Grange Placers, Inc., of Los Angeles, has placed two giants in commission on its hydraulic holdings near Weaverville and estimates about 100,000,000 cubic feet of gravel averaging 10 cents per cubic foot available for mining, or sufficient to assure steady production for several years.

Enough water has been developed to keep the equipment running for four to five months this season. Development of other extensive gravel areas is proceeding, with production at present centered on virgin ground.

The company controls the famous Le Grange mine, for many years the premier hydraulic mining enterprise of the world, and a large section of adjacent territory.

NOTED OLD COPPER MINE TO REOPEN

Under the control of the Engels Copper Company, the famous Calaveras Copper Company mine at Copperopolis is being reopened and thirty men are now employed. This mine was at one time the heaviest copper producer in the West but has been closed for many years.

Old Commodore Gold of Nevada in New Control

SAN ANDREAS (Nev.) June 16. (Exclusive)—The old Commodore gold mine has passed into the control of the Best & Belcher Gold and Silver Mining Company, one of the first corporations operating at Virginia City, Nev.

An electric hoist, capable of operating to a depth of 1500 feet, is being installed and preparations made for a campaign of comprehensive mining. The main shaft is 300 feet deep, with a strong ledge showing in the lower workings.

Owners of the Bald Mountain and South Fork groups of placer claims, in southern Sierra county, have announced sale of the properties to Los Angeles capitalists. Mining has started, and installation of equipment begun. The mines have been noted yielders of placer gold for many years, and are said to contain large areas of virgin ground.

LIMESTONE DEPOSIT SOLD TO SYNDICATE

The large limestone deposit covering 800 acres near the old town of Columbia has been purchased by a syndicate of San Francisco capitalists and will be mined on a large scale. The crude limestone will be shipped to Stockton and there used in the making of cement by the newly organized Port Stockton Cement Company. The clay will be mined near Stockton.

TULARE OIL QUEST GETS ATTENTION

Tar Sand Find in Water Well Leads to Start of Second in District

As a result of the discovery of a formation bearing tar sand in a water well drilled to a depth of 300 feet, on the property of the Valley Alfalfa Land Company, situated on Sec. 21, 22-24, about six miles south and three miles west of Tulare in Tulare county, a second well being drilled about 1000 feet from the first is being watched with considerable interest to determine if a similar formation is picked up.

The first well drilled is about five miles north of the Federal Exploration's Kinsella No. 1 well and about four miles east of the Palmer No. 1 at Corcoran. Approximately four feet of heavily saturated tar sand or asphaltum at a depth of about 295 feet was penetrated recently, samples of which when analyzed were said to contain a deposit of petroleum.

Field reports indicate that a fault exists in the area, which embraces a 4000-acre tract, where there has been considerable activity for the past three or four years. Considerable acreage is held in lease and fee for future possible development by oil companies, it is said.

New Projects in Kern Field Set at Eight

BAKERSFIELD, June 16. (Exclusive)—Eight new wells were reported in Kern county during the past week. All are in proven areas.

In the Belridge field the Ohio Oil Company is to drill No. 26 well on Sec. 30, 28-21. The location is 150 feet south and 866 feet west from the north quarter-corner.

In the Fellows area, Republic Petroleum Company is to drill No. 35 well on Sec. 7, 32-23. The location is 560 feet north and 200 feet west from the south and east property lines, measured at right angles.

Two projects are to be drilled in the Buena Vista Hills. Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company is to drill No. 32 well on Sec. 8, 32-24. Standard Oil Company is to drill No. 221 well on Sec. 1, 32-23.

In the area of new development at Maricopa Flat, started by the Signal Oil and Gas Company recently, Standard is to drill Graham No. 1 well in Sec. 7, 11-23.

Two new wells are to be drilled in the Goose Lake gas field by the Milham Exploration Company. Crites No. 1 on Sec. 8, 28-23, is to be situated 661 feet south and 662 feet east from the west quarter-corner. Kern No. 6 on Sec. 8, 28-23, is situated 330 feet north and 995 feet west from the east quarter-corner.

In the Mount Poso field the Texas Company is to drill Alta Vedder No. 2 well on Sec. 4, 27-28.

MINE AREA ACTIVE

Operations in Sierra County Field Unusually Heavy

The Eastman Consolidated Gold Mines Company in Sierra county has purchased the Mt. Alta and the Pleasant View placer properties above Camptonville and has put a crew to work.

The Bald Mt. and South Fork placers have been acquired by a Los Angeles group which has also started development. Griff Thomas has reopened the Telegraph quartz and gravel mine north of Downieville and A. J. Modglin is taking out nuggets in the Wild Rose placer mine at Port Wine.

NEW STRIKE REPORTED IN BIG SILVER

Latest Development at Inyo County Mine Held Highly Important

Another rich strike in the Big Silver mine of the National Silver Corporation in Inyo county, this State, is reported by W. R. Jones, who has notified President John D. Fields of this city that development and exploratory work has verified the report expressed by engineers that at the intersection of No. 1 vein with the Merry Widow fissure would be found a large body of shipping ore.

This shoot of rich ore in No. 1 vein, which is traceable on the surface a distance of 700 feet, and which has been uncovered in Nos. 8 and 9 tunnels, has again been exposed, Johns says, by a cross-cut from the face of No. 10 or Transport tunnel at an additional depth, on the dip of the vein, of 400 feet.

The ore body on this level has been developed to a width of thirty feet, its metallic content consisting of highgrade argentite and silver glance which permeates the quartz vein filling through and through.

When the cross-cut reaches the Merry Widow fissure, according to Supt. Johns, at its juncture with No. 1 vein, looked for within the next fifteen feet, thereby opening up one of the richest veins of the Big Silver mine, the property will be placed on production and regular ore shipments will be inaugurated.

VALUES AT OROMONT MILL HIGH IN GOLD

TONOPAH (Nev.) June 17. (Exclusive)—The Oromont Mining Company, dominated by Los Angeles capital, reports its new mill at Silver Peak is treating thirty tons of ore daily, and making a high recovery of gold values. The company controls the Valcalda mine and adjoining claims, and has opened a substantial body of profitable ore. Installation of a power engine and three-drill compressor is proceeding.

AMARILLO (Tex.) June 17. (Exclusive)—More than 100 officials and agents of the Phillips Petroleum Company attended the meeting held here of the company's marketing division. Steps were taken for an expansion of its marketing system.

A complete land, lease and geological department has been maintained in Amarillo since the summer of 1925, during which time the Phillips Petroleum Company has acquired about 30,000 acres of leases which are proven for oil and 65,000 for oil and gas. Development of these leaseholds is going on at a good rate, it is said, and the company is drilling seven wells in Gray county at the present time.

NEW DREDGER IN USE

Madrona Gold Opening Gravel Deposit in Trinity

SACRAMENTO, June 17. (Exclusive)—The new dredger of the Madrona Gold Dredging Company is operating at capacity on an immense deposit of auriferous gravel near Junction City, Trinity county. The boat is equipped with seventy-one nine-cubic foot buckets, and cost about $150,000 to build.

About 1000 acres are owned by the corporation, which numbers Southern Californians among its stockholders. It is the third gold boat operating along the Trinity River.

Dredging has ceased around Trinity Center, chiefly because of presence of huge boulders in the deposits.

PROSPECTS AT MINARET MINE ROSY

Contractors Report New Shaft in Fifty-Foot Body of Solid Ore

Completion of work to the 300-foot level, in sinking the permanent working shaft at the Minaret mines in Madera county, has just been reported by Mike DeGraves and Lester Ohland, contractors, employed there during the past winter. A station was cut on this horizon preparatory to drifting on the ore bodies exposed in the shaft and by diamond-drilling methods.

The contractors reported the shaft was in a body of solid ore from the 225-foot to the 275-foot level, the ore coming in at the northeast corner, and pitching across the shaft at an angle of 45 deg., and leaving it at the southwest corner.

The five-stamp mill at the Keyes mine of the Minaret Consolidated Mines Company, in Kern county, has been running daily since the last of May on ore removed from the 100-foot drift on the 525-foot level, and stoping is now in progress. Early this week the mill will be in regular operation at full capacity twenty-four hours daily, according to reports. Supt. H. L. Lee reports the ore as being highgrade, with values increasing as stoping progresses, and showing large quantities of free gold.

A field engineer for one of the large milling-equipment companies of Los Angeles, it is stated, has been at the Silver Plume mine near Cananea, Son., Mex., for the past several days, working out with staff engineers of the Minaret Consolidated the final details covering the installation of heavy mine machinery equipment and the construction of a fifty-ton flotation milling plant.

Altadena Oil Incorporation Papers Filed

Organization of the Altadena Oil Company has just been announced and articles of incorporation have been forwarded to the Secretary of the State.

J. Harry Macmillan, who leased extensive holdings in the Palisades tract, west of Santa Barbara, is president of the new company and will operate the leases acquired. All stock is being held by the Macmillan family.

Leases now being developed in the Palisades tract include the Caldwell No. 1, Mesa No. 2, No. 3, No. 4 and No. 5. George W. Allen, formerly drilling superintendent for the Olympic Oil and Refining Company, is field superintendent for the newly organized company.

HERO OF ARMY SERVICE GOES TO LAST BIVOUAC

Col. George L. Byram, United States Army, retired, holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, died early yesterday morning at his home, 1622½ North Vista street, Hollywood, after an illness of several months. Death was attributed directly to heart disease, aggravated by a head would received in the Spanish-American War.

Col. Byram was born in Mississippi, January 19, 1862. He was graduated from West Point in 1885. He served in the First and Sixth Cavalry and during the World War was in command of the war prison at Fort Douglas, Salt Lake City. It was there that he was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action at Los Guasimos, Cuba, June 24, 1898.

As a mamber of the Hollywood post of the American Legion, Col. Byram became well known to the motion-picture colony. On many occasions he served as technical director in the filming of productions with a military background.

Besides his widow, Col. Byram leaves a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Lewis, wife of Maj. Lewis of the Eleventh Field Artillery, who is now stationed at Langley Field, Va.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. tomorrow from the Gates, Crane & Earl parlors, 1724 Highland avenue. Interment will be at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington.

WOUNDS SUFFERED IN '98 WAR FATAL

Col. George L. Byram

BY HARRY CARR

Col. Byram had lived one of the most distinguished and colorful careers of the old-time cavalry officers. He was in command of a force of cavalry which chased Apache Kid at the time that this wild renegade was fighting both the Mexican and United States armies at the same time—a one-man war.

It was the custom of the Kid to purloin Apache women to keep him company during his wild flights and guerilla campaigns. He would catch an Apache girl, make her go with him until her strength failed; then he would cut her throat.

CHARLEY'S VENDETTA

One of Col. Byram's scouts was an Apache named Charley. One morning when they were hotly pursuing Apache Kid, they came upon his camp of the night before. In the ashes of the camp fire they found a dead girl—her throat cut. Charley recognized his sister. That night, Charley was missing. He was missing for two days. Then he quietly took up his work with the column again.

Col. Byram—then a captain—called him up.

"Charley," he said, "where is Apache Kid; we couldn't find his tracks yesterday or today."

"Dunno," said Charley, briefly.

"Charley, tell me the truth; didn't you find him and kill him?"

"Don't remember," said Charley. To this day no one has ever known what became of the renegade.

FUZZY-WUZZY

After the Spanish-American War Col. Byram was detailed by the government to act as tactful chaperone to the Sultan of Sulu; and had many funny experiences. He said that he had met many wild fighters during his time, but they were all amiable children and white rabbits compared with the Moros.

It was against their religion to commit suicide; so when they wanted to die they hunted up some American soldiers and lit into them.

On one occasion a little boy of 15 had been sent by his mother to buy some fish. They were miserably poor—almost starving. He had an inspiration to gamble with his mother's pennies in the hope that he could buy more fish for her. He lost the money. As he saw it, there was but one thing to do; to die.

Wherefore, he drew his sharp-curved snickeranee and came whooping into the United States camp where two mountain batteries were grooming their mules. The infuriated child cut into them with his deadly knife. They had to put sixteen bullets into him before he stopped.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

One of Col. Byram's colorful experiences was commanding the cavalry in the only fight that the Crow Indians ever had with the white soldiers. A "messiah" had sprung up among them. His power of prophecy was so astounding and his prevision so remarkable that no one to this day has ever dared to write the story. Owen Wister started to write the story, but turned it into a comedy, because he knew no one would believe what actually happened.

The Crows attacked Col. Byram's men. Although he had assured the Indians that he could stop bullets (like the Norse god Balder, from whom all weapons turned aside) a couple of troopers laid him low. Dismayed and infuriated at seeing their leader fall, the entire war party of Crows passed by the fallen medicine man, whipped his upturned dead face with their quirts and spat in it. It was the last Crow war.

Although not in command of the troops, Col. Byram came in contact with one of the most dramatic episodes of our Indian border.

POINT OF ETIQUETTE

An Indian woman had been insulted by a rancher who whipped her because he did not like her unfastidious ways of eating the entrails of a steer. Her little son—aged 12—swore vengeance. A companion of 9 helped him.

With his rifle he laid in wait until the rancher's calico pony came

GAIN SHOWN BY REPORT ON BUILDING

Permit Valuation Figures for Five-Month Period Eclipse Preceding Total

Although the receipts of the Department of Building and Safety for the month of May were not as high as in other recent months, the department continued to show a surplus of receipts over expenditures, according to the monthly report of J. J. Backus, general manager of the department. The May surplus is $616.57, bringing the total profit from the department's operations for the first eleven months of the current fiscal year to $48,824.81.

The building permit valuation for the calendar year to May 31, last, according to the report, is $3,257,278 ahead of the valuation for the same period last year. "The construction covered by this valuation," Mr. Backus says, "is well diversified and shows the expansion and development of many different industries, as well as the necessary buildings for residential purposes."

The largest building permits taken out during May, the report sets forth, were for the following: Theater and office building to be built at 6225-49 Hollywood Boulevard, valuation $840,000; administration and social center building, 2426 South Flower street, $247,000; apartment-house, 4643 Los Feliz Boulevard, $200,000, and Greek theater to be built in Griffith Park by the city, $185,000.

Troth Revealed on Anniversary

As a surprise feature of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary dinner last night, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor McArthur of 2025 South Western avenue announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Henry Duque, son of Mrs. Henry H. Leckler of 769 South Berendo street.

Duque is a Harvard man. Miss McArthur is a graduate of Vassar. Both are members of widely known Los Angeles families.

MRS. PANTAGES ARRESTED

Theater Owner's Wife Accused of Intoxication In Crash Causing Injury to Seven

Mrs. Lois Pantages, 42 years of age, wife of Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, was arrested by Hollywood police last night and charged with driving while intoxicated under Section 112 of the California Motor Vehicle Act following a collision between an automobile driven by her and one operated by Joe Rokumoto of 309 North Vermont avenue at the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and Serrano street. She was later released on her own recognizance.

Mrs. Pantages, Rokumoto, his wife, Mr. Karuko Kawaguchi, and four children were injured in the crash, according to records of the Dickey & Cass Hospital, where they were taken for treatment. Mrs. Pantages was removed to her home at 590 North Vermont avenue following treatment for a broken nose, lacerated upper lip and slight concussion, according to the hospital.

Those injured included Rokumoto, 44, possible fractured pelvis or hip and head injuries; Mrs. Karuko Rokumoto, 35, concussion and injuries to legs; Grace, 8, and Mary Kokumoto, 13, daughters, lacerations; Mrs. Kiku Kawaguchi, 31, injuries to legs, and her two children, Hachiyoko and George, 7 and 9, lacerations. The three adults were removed to the Sylvan Lodge Hospital following treatment and the children sent home in the care of friends, according to the hospital.

Rokumoto's car, a light sedan, was

Supervisors Deny Report of Rate Increase

Provision for Fire Fund Recommended

Cut in Levy for School Work Opposed

Keen interest on the part of taxpayers is centered in the meeting today of the County Board of Supervisors when the 1929-30 budget will be presented and adopted.

The budget will show the amounts that have been approved for salaries, maintenance and outlays for the various governmental departments of the county, together with a statement showing the estimate of the revenues other than taxes that are expected to accrue during the coming year.

FIGURE DISPUTED

Supervisors yesterday took exceptions to a recent report that the 1929-30 county tax rate will be 75 cents on each $100 of tax-appraised valuation of property as against 72 cents last year. They declared there is absolutely no foundation for such a report. J. M. Wood, deputy county auditor, who is preparing the budget, also declared similarly.

The grand total of the budget appropriation last year was $42,128,943.47, of which the sum of $10,920,171 was used by the general county government. The total for highways and bridges was $7,485,142.01; for charities, hospitals and corrections, $12,347,046; for education $577,433.21, and for health and sanitation, $1,040,843.

FIRE FUND SOUGHT

A letter has been received by the board from the Burbank Chamber of Commerce asking that the board place on the tax roll for the coming year an assessment of ½ cent per $100 of valuation for better protection of forests and watersheds in Los Angeles county against fire.

Several school boards in the county have addressed letters to the board protesting against the proposed reduction of $4.52 per pupil per year in the appropriation for the support and mintenance of public schools. The rate last year was $17.50. It has been proposed that the figure be reduced to $12.98.

A letter from the Hermosa Beach School District declares that "this reduction would work serious injury to our schools."

Protests have also been sent in by districts at La Verne and Palos Verdes.

Youth Drowns in Park Lake; Pal Escapes

Donald Harbin, 18 years of age, of 1635 West Eighty-third street, was drowned and his companion, Marshal Caulfield, of 2074 West Fifty-fourth street, narrowly escaped a like fate about 9 p.m. yesterday when the canoe in which they were riding turned over and threw them into the deepest part of the lake in Westlake Park.

Aid was rushed to the two lads as soon as their cries were heard by park attendants. Caulfield managed to kick off his shoes and swim to shore, but Harbin sank to the bottom. His body was recovered with grappling hooks about twelve minutes later, and restoration methods were applied for fifty minutes by the Fire Department Rescue Squad No. 9, but without avail.

Caulfield told the police that he and his friend were attempting to change positions in the canoe, when it suddenly turned over and threw them both into the water. They came up and grasped the sides of the overturned craft and then it sank. He said that Harbin evidently went down with the canoe. The body was taken to the County Morgue.

Tax Adviser's Pleas Scheduled in Two Courts

J. Marjorie Berger, income-tax adviser, is scheduled to appear in two United States District courts today on charges of having exercised fraud in the making of income-tax returns for various motion-picture actors and actresses.

Miss Berger, who faces seven indictments on similar charges, is to appear before United States District Judge James for entry of a plea or for the filing of a demurrer to the indictment against her.

An appearance also is to be made by Miss Berger before Judge McCormick in connection with asserted fraud in connection with the income tax return of Tom Mix, saddle hero of the films, who also stands accused of a similar offense. In this case, Miss Berger is expected to enter her plea.

ENGINEERS PLAN ATTACK ON SANTA FE OIL FIRE

Fire fighters continued their vigil at the blazing well in the Santa Fe Springs oil field yesterday but confined their efforts to saturating the surrounding area in preventing further destruction.

No attempts will be made to halt the flames in McKeown No. 1, which caught fire last Monday when the Rohde-McAdams well nearby exploded from a spark causing approximately $1,000,000 damage, until the oil company officials and engineers agree upon the plan of procedure.

Firemen in asbestos suits stopped the fire in the Rohde-McAdams well by closing the main valve, but this maneuver cannot be attempted against the present blaze, according to Capt. Griswold of the county fire department. Two plans are now under consideration by the oil engineers. One is to attempt to drop a huge funnel over the well and the other to drive a tunnel and cut the casing under ground. Both attacks will require three or four weeks' time.

GIRL GETS HER FLYING LICENSE

Senorita Consuelo M. Williard

TO SENORITA CONSUELO M. WILLIARD of Guatemala, for the past five years Spanish interpreter in a department of the Union Oil Company, belongs the distinction of being the ninth woman in California and the fifty-fourth in the United States to qualify for a private pilot's license. When Senorita Williard, who is scarcely five feet tall and weighs less than 100 pounds, confronted Chief Pilot Lee Flanagin at the field of the Aero Corporation of California a few months ago and told him she was going to learn to fly he told her to go back home and when she grew up to come around sometime and maybe he would take her for a ride.

What she said in Spanish then Flanagin does not know, but it is a matter of record that a day or two later she was on the flying field for her first lesson. A few days ago she took a written and practical flying test under the supervision of an inspector from the Department of Commerce at the Aero Corporation's flying field. She was notified yesterday that she passed the examination with an average of 94 and that a private pilot's license is on its way to her from Washington, D. C.

All of her flying has been done after office hours or sandwiched in during the noon hour.

MORE SHOWERS PREDICTED

Midnight-to-Dawn Rains Spread Over Southland; Crops Not Helped or Damaged

Freakish post-season showers which fell intermittently over Southern California points from midnight to dawn yesterday may be followed by scattered showers today, according to the forecast last night.

"Cloudy and unsettled Monday, with Tuesday partly cloudy and no change in temperature with moderate west winds along the coast" was the forecast of the Weather Bureau, which announced that the rainfall for early Sunday morning in Los Angeles proper amounted to .15 of an inch, making the season total 12.66 inches, as against a normal to date of 15.20 inches and the fall last season at the same date of 9.76 inches.

STORM CENTER EAST

While the showers were rather general over a wide area the highest precipitation was reported from points east of Los Angeles, indicating that the storm centered some miles eastward. Covina reported the highest rainfall for the storm, a total of .51 of an inch. San Dimas had a fall of .46, Glendora, .42, Baldwin Park .39, West Covina .37 and El Monte .35. The fall at other points ranged from this high to the low which came from along the coast. Redondo reported only .02 inch, with the lowest record from El Segundo, .01.

No particular damage was recorded from the rain, according to Harold J. Ryan, county horticultural commissioner, and neither did the shower come as a particular benefit.

"The only crops we are moving now locally are strawberries," said Ryan, "and the out-of-season rain has caused no damage of any appreciable amount. There are very few local fruits coming in just now. In the hay section a slight damage will result unless drying winds and a hot sun follow. Then the loss will be negligible. I characterize the fall as of no particular benefit, bringing no damage, and only serves to keep the crop top-soil moist."

AT BAKERSFIELD

Precipitation in Bakersfield section was unusual, with the high reported as .34 of an inch, making a total for the season of 6.13 inches as against 5.89 for the same date last year.

In the foothill districts Upland reports a fall of .21 of an inch, making the total for the season 15.21 inches. Redlands recorded a

JURY DISMISSED IN GRIMES CASE

Fitts Intimates There Will Be No Third Trial

Deadlock Balks Verdict For Second Time

Vote Split Evenly After Twenty-five Hours

Twenty-five hours of debate failed to change the opinions held by the jury which for three weeks has been hearing the conspiracy charge against Mrs. Callie Grimes and four police officers accused of "framing" the arrest of Councilman Jacobson, and Superior Judge Wilson at noon yesterday discharged it. The jury stood evenly divided.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts said yesterday that he has not reached a final decision upon retrial of the case, but intimated that he will dismiss the indictment upon his return Wednesday from the District Attorneys' convention at Eureka. A former jury failed to convict in April, standing nine to three for conviction.

CASE RESETTING TODAY

The case will come up for resetting today at 9:30 a.m., Judge Wilson and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bush having agreed with defense counsel upon that time. Mrs. Grimes is being kept in the County Jail, but the other defendants, Captain of Detectives Wallis, Detective Lieutenant Lucas, Patrolman Cox and Special Investigator Raymond are free on bond.

According to a report, the jury stood as follows: For conviction, Edward C. Vigeon, 731 Junipero avenue, Long Beach; Mrs. Ethe B. Glass, 1228 North Orange Grove avenue; Charles V. Snell, 1317 South Catalina street; J. W. King, 1083 Alamitos avenue, Long Beach; Mrs. Celia McGinty, 2741 Walnut street, Huntington Park, and John G. Grundy, 2410 Third avenue; for acquittal, Carroll Fuller and Robert Koonter, Pomona; W. D. Newcomb, Sr., 813 Woodland avenue, Venice; Mrs. Isabelle Ross, 212 South Grand avenue; George H. Conkling, 4921 South Wilton Place, and M. K. Metz, La Verne.

On one occasion, it was reported, Mr. Vigeon voted for the acquittal of Capt. Wallis. In each other instance, however, the jury stood in equal numbers for the conviction of all defendants.

JURY KEPT UNDER GUARD

The jury has been kept under guard at a hotel since the start of the trial. The case was placed in its hands Saturday morning and it immediately retired to the jury room. Two ballots were taken Saturday and one yesterday, Mr. Koonter, the foreman, announced to the court.

Shortly before noon yesterday it sent word to Judge Wilson, who was waiting in his courtroom, that it wished a session of the court, and it was expected that the jury desired additional instructions. The members entered the box, however, with hats and wraps, and Mr. Koonter addressed the court.

The entire jury, he said, was satisfied that it was impossible to reach a verdict, and considered that it was useless to make further efforts. There was no rancor and no quarrels during the debate, he said, and jury members were quitting the box the best of friends, but it was universally agreed that no opinions could be swayed.

Under the circumstances, Judge Wilson responded, it seemed worthless to continue to hold them in service, whereupon he dismissed them with thanks for the attention they had given the case, in spite of being discommoded by separation so long a time from their homes. Defense Attorneys D'Orr and Daze joined the court in his thanks, as did Mr. Bush, whereupon Mr. Koonter replied that the jury was grateful, for the courtesies shown by the court, which included attendance at the Shrine spectacles.

Mrs. Ross, who was said to have voted for acquittal, then said that the prosecution, represented by Mr. Bush and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, should be congratulated for the able manner in which they presented the case, and that ended the formalities.

It was learned that two of the men who voted for conviction did so because they suspected some connecting link between the underworld and the police department, and deemed this a good opportunity to get at the bottom of the affair. Mrs. McGinty and Mrs. Glass, it was said, were firmly convinced of guilt, while those for acquittal were as firm in contending that the evidence failed to show a conspiracy on the part of the woman and the policemen to ruin Councilman Jacobson.

In spite of opposing opinions, the jury members displayed no heat to-

Western Express Makes Arrangements for Plane Plus Rail Lines to Eastern Cities

An elaborate air-rail tie-up was announced last night by Western Air Express, the company reporting that it has made traffic arrangements with twenty American railroads providing not only a transcontinental air-rail route, but similar service from Los Angeles to Minneapolis and St. Paul, Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Louisville, Atlanta, Dallas and practically all other cities in the eastern half of the United States.

"By the arrangements we have completed," said Harris M. Hanshue, president and general manager of the company, "a traveler will not be confined to any one route, but will be able to pick the route that will give him the most desirable service."

The arrangements, it was announced, were negotiated by H. A. Burgess, assistant to Mr. Hanshue, with the Santa Fe, Wabash, Baltimore and Ohio, Burlington, Louisville and Nashville, Big Four, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Chicago Northwestern, Rock Island, Frisco, Chicago Great Western, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Chicago and Alton, Fort Worth and Denver, New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Kansas City Southern, Monan Route and Southern Railway.

ONE more day in Santa Fe would have given me the heebe jeebees.

It is the most interesting, historic and beautiful city in the United States. But it is a beautiful funeral flower.

Although it has become a sort of Mecca for the authors and painters, I don't believe anybody will ever write a great book there.

The place hasn't any insides. Santa Fe is sitting among the graves of a dead people—watching another people die. The old swash-buckling, blood-thirsty, swaggering Spanish conquistadores are shadowy memories. The Pueblo Indians who give color and romance to Santa Fe are dying like flies at the end of a summer.

CEMETERY STUFF

The chief industries of the city are selling curios—mementos of a defeated and crushed people; and acting as guides to the ruins of a people who have perished.

SONS OF CONQUERORS

I saw the processional of Corpus Christi Day on a recent Sunday. Most of those old men who walked with faltering steps along the sacred route were descendants of the men who came grunting and sweating up the hill to the plateau in armor. They, too, carried rosaries; but they also carried swords.

BY ART ALONE

There is one pueblo where the Indians live by painting and pottery. I dare say this is the only community in the world whose only industry is of the fine arts. It is marvelous art at that. But it is obvious that such a people are at the latter end of the things.

One of the traditions of that little pueblo is of a great battle. The warlike, proud Navajos came swooping down from the hills—and got the stuffing beaten out of them. The fighters who beat back the desert nomads also made pottery; but they invented designs that are now being followed. And the pots they made were for storing grain; not for selling to an alien race of conquerors.

LITERARY COLONIES

If I felt a book coming on, the last place I would wish to inhabit would be a literary colony . . . Carmel, Hollywood, Santa Fe, Taos . . .

They are charming people: that's a fact. They are too darn charming. They sit around and talk about the things they are going to do—while Mary Roberts Rinehart hires a room in an office building in the middle of the traffic and does them.

Any literary colony in the world inevitably becomes an outdoor version of the Algonquin Hotel. It gets cluttered up with small fry who chatter and gabble about art—as though it were some ambrosial mixture—instead of the business of punching words on a typewriter.

BOOKISH TOWNS

If you want to live in a town where you can write books, pick out one where the garbage wagons go honking through at starry eve and the fish peddler wakes the dawn.

The reason there are so many punk books in the world is because there are very few writers with anything to say. There are multitudes of esthetic arrangers of words.

If you have anything to say, it doesn't matter much what the words are. If you haven't anything to say, it doesn't matter much what the words are.

SLAYER OF WIFE ELUDES POLICE

Asserted Bootlegger Seeks Funds to Flee

Callers at Home Describe Wirt Killing

Gem Broker Tells Quarrel of Couple Over Ring

Teletype, telephone, and telegraph yesterday broadcast throughout the Southwest a description of Lee A. Wirt, asserted bootlegger, who Saturday afternoon shot and fatally wounded his wife, Mrs. Frances Wirt, with a shotgun following an altercation over the pawning of a diamond ring. The shooting took place in their home at 2739 Marengo street.

Search of many of his known haunts having failed to locate him in this city, Detective Lieutenants Romero and Torres were sent yesterday to an out-of-town address where, it is believed, Wirt will go to borrow money.

BOROWS SMALL SUMS

The last word heard of him was when he appeared at the home of Miss Mary Blea at 1037 Mignonette street forty minutes after the shooting. Romero reported that he borrowed $1 from Miss Blea, another dollar from Miss Mary Caro of 438 Victor street, and $5 from the latter's sister at Miss Blea's home. He then fled after wildly shouting to the girls that he had killed his wife and that he was fleeing in a stolen car.

This last remark corroborated the report that Wirt, immediately after he fled from his home leaving his wife bleeding to death on the rear door step, stole a car from Joe Mendoza, proprietor of a grocery near the Wirt residence.

Police have two witnesses who reported they were at the Wirt residence when the asserted bootlegger chased his wife through the house with a shotgun. One is A. R. Ramos of 221-A South Avenue 18, a friend of Mrs. Wirt, and the other Louis Perelstein, a jewelry broker. Both ran from the residence, they stated, and did not see the actual shooting, which occurred in a bedroom. Ramos ran to telephone for the police and Perelstein to get Policeman Wintermute, who was in the vicinity, it is said.

DISPUTE OVER RING

Perelstein stated he visited the Wirt home to see about the recovery of a diamond ring which had been pawned by Mrs. Wirt several weeks before. There was a disagreement between Wirt and his wife over the money obtained from pawning the ring, Romero asserted. As a result Wirt ran to a small rear house and obtained the shotgun. He ran back into the house and threatened both his wife and Perelstein. The latter said he pleaded that he was only a visitor and had nothing to do with their family affairs, whereupon Wirt profanely ordered him to get out.

A few seconds after the broker fled from the house to notify police, he said he heard the fatal shot. Mrs. Wirt, after being shot down in a bedroom, crawled to the rear doorstep and was there found by Policeman Wintermute. She was rushed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where she died on an operation table.

According to police records, Wirt and his wife were, at the time, out on $2000 bail each, as the result of arrest for operating a liquor still.

TRAIL TO OXNARD

Wirt, according to Romero, is known to have borrowed $50 recently on his automobile and this, with what he succeeded in borrowing from the girls at Miss Blea's home is all the money he has. It was suspected that he would drive at once to Oxnard where he has friends and there seek to provide himself with further funds, and abandon Mendoza's automobile. Because of this suspicion, Romero and Torres were sent there in an effort to head him off.

Wirt limps from a crippled left leg, it is stated, as the result of having been shot by an officer in a liquor raid near Delano several months ago.

GREASE METER ADOPTED

California's standard of metering grease guns is to be adopted by the nation, it was announced yesterday by Charles M. Fuller, county and city sealer of weights and measures. He has just returned from a national conference of weights and measures called by the United States Bureau of Standards at Washington. So impressed were the conferees that they decided to urge upon the rest of the country the California regulation, which requires a measuring device on grease guns used by service stations which charge for greasing service.

Haphazard methods of squirting a shot of grease into transmission cases and charging by guess have been abolished here. The customer pays by the metered rate for what he gets. Inspection revealed a great disparity in the amount of a shot squirted by different grease guns. Of 5252 inspected last year, more than 53 per cent were found to be inaccurate, 492 guns being adjusted to accuracy by deputies, 1972 being condemned until repaired, and 338 being condemned and confiscated. California has led in this reform pioneered by Sealer Fuller and his assistant, Frank J. Berks.

JURY DISMISSED IN GRIMES CASE

ward each other after the dismissal. It was evident that the debate in the juryroom had been a calm affair, with no feelings injured. During their service Mr. Koo..ter had a birthday anniversary, and the other members lightened his spirits by "throwing" a party, the central object being a birthday cake presented by the women.

Just before the case was placed in the hands of the jury, Judge Wil- Captain of Detectives Williams; who son dismissed the indictment as to was not deeply involved by the testimony.

An end of the Jacobson-Grimes incident is not in sight, however, as tomorrow morning the grand jury will conduct an investigation of charges that Mr. Jacobson sought to use money to induce Mrs. Grimes to testify in such a manner as to clear his name of the imputations cast upon it as the result of his own trial two years ago on a morals charge. That jury disagreed also.

zone, such as tailoring, carpenter work, etc. Retail merchants have become alarmed at the large number of garment manufacturing establishments which have been invading high-class shopping districts under this dispensation. They could not ask for a definite prohibition of these light-manufacturing activities in commercial zones, however, because such a prohibition would prevent retail stores from doing the altering and repair work which their apparel departments must perform.

At the committee hearing in April Mark Feiler, an attorney representing the Greater Hollywood Taxpayers, Association, suggested that the same solution as was found effective in New York to prevent Fifth avenue from being overrun by the garment-manufacturing industry. It was done by providing that not more than 25 per cent of the total floor area of a building in the commercial zone may be used for those forms of manufacturing permissible in the zone.

Mr. Whitnall recommends that the best way in which to attain the objective sought is the splitting of C zone into two zones and the application of Mr. Feiler's suggestion to one of them.

along. He fired and killed the wrong man. The horse had been borrowed.

The white soldiers laid the case before the Cheyenne chiefs. They agreed that the boys had committed murder and must die. Out of respect for the proud traditions of the Cheyennes they asked that they might die a warrior's death. This was granted.

All night long the whites could hear the beat of the tom-toms and the wailing of the sobbing squaws. At daylight the two little boys came out on the top of a long hill. Their ponies were painted for war and the little faces of the lads were daubed with battle paint.

MORITURI TE SALUTAMOS

Their mothers came with them to the top of the hill; kissed them good-by. Sitting straight on their horses—proud as the knights of King Arthur, they stood outlined against the morning sun. Then the older one gave a war whoop and dug his heels into his pony. Straight down hill they came—firing as they galloped—into two troops of United States cavalry drawn up in battle front.

Reluctantly the cavalry officers gave the order to fire. A volley from scores of carbines. The older boy rode on until he fell dead almost under the feet of the cavalry horses. The litle boy's pony was shot from under him. He crawled into the bushes and kept his rifle hot shooting. They tried to coax him to come out, but at last they were compelled to fire into the brush and kill him, too.

LIVING MARTYR

Col. Byram was shot in the forehead at San Juan Hill during the Spanish-American War. During all the years that followed, he did not know one waking moment that was not a moment of pain. It was impossible to remove the bullet. The fortitude with which he bore this long ordeal was greater than the courage of many men in spectacular battles.

A gentleman of the greatest charm and culture, Col. Byram was regarded professionally as an officer of high and trustworthy ability. During the World War he was called back from retirement to take a ticklish and difficult job—the command of a concentration camp where interned Germans were kept in the Utah stockades.

SKIES CLEAR OVER NORTH; STORM'S END PREDICTED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16. (Exclusive)—A steadily rising barometer and clear skies over most of Central and Northern California today encouraged weather forecasters to believe that the freak and damaging mid-June rain and windstorm is at an end and tomorrow will see a resumption of normal June weather.

Fair and sunshiny weather today replaced the rain of Saturday in San Francisco and the Bay District and Sacramento and the lower Sacramento Valley dried out in the sun. Sonoma county felt the last lash of the unprecedented June rain with a steady downpour at Santa Rosa of nearly an inch and a half. During last night more than half an inch fell at Chico and nearly that amount at Merced, while nearly an inch fell at Mt. Hamilton.

Dispatches from Redding told of partial inundation last night of the Anderson-Cottonwood irrigation district when the main canal of the district rose so high that the bank gave way three miles above Anderson and a four-foot wall of water swept down on the highway.

In order to avert worse damage and relieve the pressure, the directors of the district ordered the bank cut at three places.

Rainfall measurements taken at 5 p.m. at Northern California stations, in inches, follow:

Selling Liquor Proves Costly

Selling one pint of moonshine liquor and three bottles of beer brought George Charles, 46 years of age, a two-year jail sentence and a fine of $2000 when he was found guilty of sale and possession of liquor by Municipal Judge Walter P. Thompson.

Called to the witness stand by Deputy City Prosecutor Hornbrook, Police Officers Miller, Johnson and Gallagher testified that Charles sold them the liquor in question for $3.50. When Detective Lieutenant Caldwell showed that Charles had one prior conviction of sale and two of possession, Judge Thompson imposed a sentence of two years in jail and a $1000 fine on each count, but ordered the jail sentences to run concurrently.

IDEA OF VENGEFUL DEITY REFUTED BY MINISTER

Genuine Religion Thing of Joy and Beauty, Declares Pastor of Universalist Church

"I cannot imagine real religion with an ugly, peevish, revengeful God," declared Dr. Sheldon Shepard in his sermon on "The [illegible] of Art," preached yesterday at First Universalist Church. "I cannot conceive of religion emphasizing sin and ugliness or [illegible] in a world made terrible by the imaginings and condemnation of the righteous," said Dr. Shepard. "True religion is the [illegible] beauty and real art is genuine religion."

[illegible] that materialism is the [illegible] effort of the mind to [illegible] the ugly picture of God [illegible] by certain creedists, Dr. Shepard said, "This is, however, a [illegible] way to escape and to dis[illegible] the real beauty of God is [illegible] better."

"Neither art nor religion should be 'preachy,'" said the speaker. "Beauty is its own sermon, ugliness is its own devil. Contact with beauty indirectly refines the soul, be it beauty of a face, a sunset, a sculpture or a thought. Association with ugliness defiles the soul, even if the ugliness be theology."

GREATER REVERENCE FOR CHURCH NEEDED

"The outstanding need of the Christian world today is unity," declared Dr. Bruce Brown in his sermon yesterday at South Park Christian Church. "Unity is the central theme of every message of the Apostles and the history of 2000 years shows the futility of division," said Dr. Brown. "The crying need of Protestantism today is more reverence for the church. Too long we have been saying that it does not matter what we believe, just so that we are sincere. Sincerity cannot change falsehood into a truth nor make a wrong practice right. We cannot afford to minimize the importance of the church. It cannot do the work of God and take second place in the affairs of men. Without the church it would be only a question of time when the Bible would be a forgotten book."

BACKSLIDER WARNED OF DANGERS RISKED

The unhappy fate of hypocrites and backsliders was the theme of a sermon on "Sardis, the Overconfident Church," preached yesterday by Dr. J. George Dorn at Hollywood Lutheran Church. Dr. Dorn spoke in part as follows:

"As a church, Sardis was dead, an assemblage of persons who had made a profession of faith before the world, but who were living in defilement. When one becomes a follower of Christ his name is recorded not only in the records of the local church, but also in the courts of heaven. There is a heavenly roll book of all those who take the name of Christ, but it depends on the preserving fidelity of the individual whether his name is to continue on that roll or to be blotted out. There will be many names once entered in that book which will not appear there at the final opening. Only the faithful sentinels who remain true to the end will retain their names on the honor roll."

BRUNO AND SPINOZA LAUDED BY SPEAKER

"The history of the revival of learning in Europe at the close of the Middle Ages is an interesting study from the standpoint of progress and freedom of thought that followed in its wake," said Bramachares Nerode in his sermon yesterday at Mt. Washington Center.

"Bruno and Spinoza are the two romantic figures who heralded the new age in the realm of philosophical thought," said the speaker. "Both of these men were martyrs to free thinking and showed the way out of the stagnation of theological and scholastic narrowness and pedantism. Their thought ran in the line of the ancient Hindu wisdom, although they were possibly unconscious of the similarity. To Bruno, all nature is alive, a world soul permeates everything, nothing is limited or restricted, nothing is dead. To Bruno, reality is an eternal spirit, one and indivisible, and all things that appear are but images of this ultimate reality. According to Spinoza there is only one substance, God, by which he means the underlying reality; the ever-living existence. God, for him, is the one principle, mind and matter being necessary manifestations. To him, man is but a mode of the divine existence, a spark of the divine flame. It is evident that in the domain of thought there is no East nor West.

LIFE HELD LARGER THAN ITS THEORIES

"Power" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. E. E. Thomas before the Rosicrucian Brotherhood. Dr. Thomas said in part:

"No formula seems large enough to cover all we know and feel. There is an element in experience that always eludes us. Some experiences can never be told. Thy are a part of us. They are sacred and one hesitates to speak of them. Yet one can suggest them, or at least let it be known that in these rarest moments of existence one seemed most truly to live. Only in this way does the soul, or that part of the which is most truly individual, find partial expression in language. Only in this way does the unfettered soul show its freedom from prejudice and dogma. Allegiance to a person or theory limits one to the particular view of life represented by that person or theory. To claim finality for one's system of thought would be equivalent to affirming that progress shall end with that particular discussion. Our theories serve us well as long as we remember that life itself is larger."

COY JURYMAN OFFERS PROXY

Male, Panicky at Prospect of Session With Women, Sends His Regrets

I. J. Deul, 1272 Queen Anne Place, has "so far tried to be a decent married man and would not enjoy being locked up all night with a bunch of women," he declares in a letter to Deputy Marshal Beirne of the Municipal Court, in which he asks to be relieved of jury duty. He sent the names of two women as substitutes whom he declared would be glad to take his place.

Beirne, in a return letter, ordered Deul to report to Jury Commissioner Holt as instructed in the original order sent from Marshal Thomas's office.

"GOD, THE PRESERVER" SUBJECT OF LESSON

The lesson-sermon yesterday at all Christian Science churches, branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, discussed the subject, "God the Preserver of Man." Several of the Bible selections related to the words and works of the Master as recorded in the four gospels, including these verses from Mark: "And Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things . . . And whithersoever he entered, into villages, or cities, or country, they laid the sick in the streets, and besought him that they might touch if it were but the border of his garment; and as many as touched Him were made whole." Among the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were these words from the preface: "The physical healing of Christian Science results now, as in Jesus' time, from the operation of divine Principle, before which sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation."

LOST SAYINGS OF CHRIST DISCUSSED

"The Lost Sayings of Jesus" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. H. C. Culbertson at Plymouth Congregational Church. Excerpts from the sermon follow:

"Few of all the sayings of Jesus during His thirty-three years have come down to us. He made the essential messages into poems and parable-stories, and repeated them over and over until they were learned by His followers and passed down to us in our four gospels, and yet there were many other words of wisdom which are lost. Paul quotes 'It is more blessed to give than to receive,' and there are eight other sayings which have been found in ancient documents, and which the scholars believe to be the very words of the Master. More important than all these, however, are the wordless, personal messages which we may all receive from Jesus. Whenever we call upon Him He is present with us, and He will breathe into every listening soul the joy of His personal presence."

Wynne Bullock Wins Success in Europe as Singer

The success of a Los Angeles boy in European musical circles is told in a cable dispatch received yesterday by Municipal Judge Georgia Bullock. Her son, Wynnne Bullock, is being heralded in Paris and other French cities as one of the promising tenors of the day, according to the message.

WYNNE BULLOCK

Young Bullock is a graduate of the South Pasadena High School and of Columbia University. He recently completed seven years of voice culture under teachers in New York and Paris and made his first concert appearance in Paris about a month ago.

In a cable sent to his mother from Rouen, he included brief excerpts from various published criticisms of his attainments, each speaking in enthusiastic terms of the volume, clarity and fine feeling of his voice.

As a member of a symphonic quartet formed in Paris, Mr. Bullock is making a concert tour of France, Italy, Germany and England. He will return to Los Angeles in 1931. The accompanist for Mr. Bullock is Charles Wagner, pianist of New York and Paris.

WEDDING BELLS BUSY

Wedding bells have rung ninety-five times at the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, since the first of June, and seventy-six more weddings are scheduled for the remaining half of the month, a total of 171, or an average of almost six a day, it was announced yesterday. Last year's total of June weddings at the church was 133 and in 1927 it was 132.

A. T. BURNS, SOCIOLOGIST, HERE TODAY

Director of Community Chests Association to Spend Busy Week in City

A poor boy whose initiation into social work came through living as a day laborer in workingmen's boarding houses in the stockyards and railroad districts of Chicago, will arrive in Los Angeles today as the executive director of the National Association of Community Chests and Councils—on a tour of a score of American cities which have Community Chests.

ALLEN T. BURNS

He is Allen T. Burns. His offices are in New York. From these he guides in an advisory capacity the destinies of Community Chests in more than 300 American cities.

A busy week awaits him in Los Angeles. Tomorrow he will address a luncheon meeting of the directors of the Community Welfare Federation, which operates the Los Angeles Community Chest. Wednesday he will be guest at a dinner given by sociologists at the University of Southern California. Thursday evening he will be honored at a banquet to be given in the dining hall of the Chamber of Commerce by three organizations: the newly organized Council of Social Agencies, the local chapter of the American Association of Social Workers, and the Survey Club. On Friday he will address the Friday Morning Club.

During the balance of his time during the week, he purposes to meet any educators, sociologists, or representatives of Community Chest agencies and other welfare organizations by appointments which may be made through D. C. MacWatters, general manager of the Community Welfare Federation.

Br. Burns spent the week-end in San Diego, and will be accompanied to this city by J. H. Rainwater, general manager of the San Diego Community Chest, who will give a brief address at the Thursday night banquet.

The committee in charge of meeting Mr. Burns and arranging his program while here is headed by Mrs. George Herbert Clark of the Board of Education and Harry Henderson, executive secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Next Sunday another distinguished sociologist will arrive in Los Angeles in the person of C. M. Bookman, head of the Cincinnati Community Chest organization, and Secretary of the Association of Community Chests and Councils.

EDUCATION IN AMERICA UNDER FIRE

Miss Cross, Back from Oxford With Degrees, Cites Need of Reforms

"A determination to help during the next four years toward improving the educational system of America," sums up an interview with Estelle Alice Cecelia Cross, who has arrived home with two degrees from Oxford University, England.

ESTELLE ALICE CECILIA CROSS

"American schools are entirely for the masses, a commendable objective provided the masses are being truly benefited," said Miss Cross, "but there is urgent need of changes. Our system of education is not creative, does not develop individuality, and lives under the slogan of the American student, 'Anything to get by.'"

Miss Cross is specializing on art and history, for which she received one degree from Oxford, and on the psychology of teaching, for which she received another degree. She also is a graduate of the Marlborough School of Los Angeles, the city of her birth; a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, and an exchange professor of the University of California.

"I hate to appear 'catty' about the educational system of my homeland, but I feel that our students are being butchered by the curtailment of individuality and the throttling of the creative instinct.

"From an educational standpoint, our system is intermingled with politics to a point where the average teacher has reached the, 'I should worry' attitude.

"In Europe the child understands that to have the opportunity to acquire an education is a capital prize, to be sought after. They court the chance for an education. In America the opportunity is taken as a foregone conclusion, like mush for breakfast.

"My next four years will be devoted to preparing a study of the American system of education. Then I shall go to the University of Cape Town, South Africa, as an exchange professor."

Miss Cross is again with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cross, 1154 West Twenty-ninth street.

Scant Defense in Prospect for Rum-Plot Trial

It was indicated yesterday that little or no defense evidence will be introduced in the trial of Maurice Sugarman, Frankie Cornero, and six others in United States District Judge James's court. The case is to be resumed tomorrow.

The defendants are accused of entering into a huge rum-running plot for the placing of 27,000 cases of liquor on the Southern California shores.

FRANCHISES GRANTED FOR TWO PIPE LINES

The franchises for pipe lines, one to the General Pipe Line Company for pipes on Normandie avenue and Two Hundred and Eighth street, and the other to the Center Securities Company along Washington Boulevard from Rose avenue to the westerly city limits and also on the Coast Highway from Adelaide Drive to the westerly city limits, have been granted by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation. Each is for twenty-five years at the regular rental per lineal foot and the city's right to purchase. The General Pipe Line Company's franchise covers a consolidation of two lines. Each applicant is prohibited from transporting water through the pipe lines for domestic use or for sale.

Kiwanians Go East Tomorrow

Bound for the thirteenth annual convention of Kiwanis International, which is to be scheduled for Milwaukee, Wis., the 23rd to the 27th inst., Los Angeles Kiwanians will leave the city at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow aboard a special Southern Pacific train.

The party will be headed by John F. D'Aule, president of the Los Angeles Kiwanis Club, and Charles E. Millikam, who will attend as delegates. D'Aule is chairman of the committee on elections.

ALLEY CATS PROVE TO BE FINE ACTORS

The semiwild alley cats that infest old studio lots have come into their own at last. At the United Artists' studio the other day a cat family was recruited for "atmosphere" in a talking-picture production. Lewis Milestone used a black cat and her four kittens in a tenement scene in Norma Talmadge's forthcoming production. To keep the felines interested and agreeable, he placed a bowl of milk for them within focus of the camera. Milestone said the cat family proved excellent screen players and no sound retakes were necessary.

Today's Bible Text

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. James 1:5.

NOTHING DOING

Reports of the engagement of the Prince of Wales must continue to be taken with a bucketful of salt. Hearts will continue to throb for a while.

HAS THE GOODS

See where Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, has been made a doctor of laws. This will be fine if he cares to take up the practice of the profession.

SAVE THE STREAM

Looks as if those Arizona politicians wanted to save the Colorado River for the Saturday night bath. Hard to figure any other warrant for their isolative peevishness.

KISSLESS HUSBANDS

Two kissless husbands were in a local court the same day—both seeking divorces because the wives would not even permit a dinky little kiss. What is the matter with our matrons? They say a woman always has caresses for somebody. Maybe they got hooked up with the wrong men.

THIS BACK-POUNDING

One of these whole-souled persons pounded a friend on the back the other day to let him know that he was a good fellow and the victim dropped dead. He may have been a good scout but he had a weak heart. These pile-driver salutations should have been outlawed before this.

STICKS FAST

The Democrats are not yet able to pry John J. Raskob out of the national chairmanship. He is going to keep the organization alive and active and continue at its head. Tom Heflin and the southern leaders are shouting to turn the Raskobs out, but John is wearing ear muffs and can't hear.

ON THE ROAD

By the rather easy and simple process of placing five persons in each automobile now in service all America could be in motion at one moment. This is better than the railroads could do with their combined passenger service. In the mobilization of the country for picnic duty the efforts of Henry Ford should not be overlooked.

NEED MUZZLING

If a picture has no dialogue what is the big idea of ringing in some barking dogs, traffic shouts and other unpleasant noises? They may run the fire department through the middle of a picture and yet have no spoken word. Yet the noises are what the average movie patron pays to get away from. An all talkie is one thing. A medley of dog fights and corner cries is another. There isn't much excuse for the latter now that we know it can be done.

TOO MANY CRITICS

Now that he is retiring Mayor Cryer asserts that Los Angeles is the hardest city in the land to govern. He says that this is because there are thousands upon thousands of citizens who have nothing in the world to do except to sit around and find fault with the way things are running. They don't always just sit around either. Sometimes they climb up on boxes on the corner or hire a hall and tell the world about it. Anyhow, the retiring Mayor figures that bossing the town is a thankless task. Wait till we hear from Kent Parrott.

PLAYING THE GAME

The American Bridge League has been meeting in Chicago and the head of the organization exclaims that perhaps his enthusiasm may be inspired by the fact that he never plays with his wife. It is also significant that at the league tournament husband and wife are never permitted to be partners. That is why the affair proceeds without a fight. The higher-ups say that the women average much better players than men. While there are a few male stars that can clean the decks the ladies can trim the rank and file to a fare-ye-well. A man will take up the game for relaxation; a woman for blood.

MacDONALD TAKES HOLD

The announcement that Prime Minister MacDonald plans to pay a visit to Washington in the near future to talk over British-American relations with President Hoover face to face, is one calculated to create a good deal of a stir in world political circles. It need not be said that he will be welcome. His visit is likely to do a great deal of good in clearing away clouds of suspicion and mistrust between the two English-speaking peoples, most of which have arisen in consequence of the failure of the naval limitations parley at Geneva.

The American people desire nothing but the friendliest relations with Great Britain, and there is little doubt that the British people have a reciprocal desire, since the naval dispute was without question one of the factors that led the British voters to oust the Conservative government from office.

No British Premier has ever paid such a visit to Washington, but personal conferences between the heads of European governments are common, and are generally considered as accomplishing far more than any amount of more formal exchanges through diplomatic channels. There is, therefore, nothing unprecedented in the proposed action from the British Premier's standpoint; it is merely an extension of settled Continental custom.

Events since the British elections, and particularly the Cabinet selections made by Premier MacDonald, serve to indicate that the Labor government may be of longer life than was supposed, despite the fact that it is not able to command a real majority in Parliament. The naming of a prominent Liberal as Attorney-General is hailed as a split in Liberal ranks, likely to force the hand of Lloyd George and require him to be careful about opposing the government's program. At the same time Premier MacDonald probably recognizes his own need of caution, realizes that he will not be able to obtain Liberal support for any really radical measures. A considerable measure of co-operation between the Liberal and Labor parties may, therefore, be regarded as certain.

It is true Lloyd George declared vociferously during the campaign that no such co-operating hand would be extended, but the little Welshman is a thorough opportunist and never hesitates to take a new position if circumstances seem to make it advisable. Since election he has proclaimed with equal vehemence that he has no intention of precipitating an early new appeal to the country, which can only mean that his campaign utterances have already been swallowed.

The new Cabinet contains its first woman member, Miss Margaret Bondfield, as Minister of Labor, an appointment made despite her sex's sparse representation in the House of Commons. But such an appointment would not have been considered at all less than a score of years ago. It is a symptom of how far women have advanced in British politics.

WESTERN WIND

Western wind seems to have its values after all, in spite of the gibes of California critics. It is able to sustain more airplanes in the heavens than any other section of the country.

California has 1129 air pilots and only 1076 planes in which to fly. The aircraft shops cannot keep up with the enthusiasm of our minds. New York, Illinois and Michigan all have more planes than pilots. New York has 526 aviators and 705 flying machines; Illinois has but 308 pilots for 580 pairs of wings; Michigan can boast of but 286 airmen for her 372 planes. Thus the Golden State is almost twice as air-minded as any other State. She is also more highway-minded than other commonwealths. Our people seem to be going more wheres, running more errands, transporting more goods, transacting more business in distant places, visiting more spots of interest and are generally more on the go on land, sea and air than any other folks.

In his recent flight home across the continent Will Rogers reports increasing activity in wings and airports from St. Louis west. The first airplane may have been sent across the water to the British Museum; but a new brood of them is hatching out rapidly on the Pacific Coast. This is the great incubator of the country.

The ground around eastern cities has been pre-empted for decades. Air terminals require space. Easterners are not accustomed to long views. The West has plenty of room to try out anything new.

Nature has a natural selection all her own. She used it in choosing pioneer spirits for the West. Naturally restless, they are never standpatters. They are adventurous, or they would not be here. A divine dissatisfaction prods them on. So nature sifts them out of the East and brings them here to nurture and environ new ideas.

The East was West a few generations ago. When railroads and automobiles were young, the East absorbed them with avidity. Steam engines made Pittsburgh and Chicago. Gas engines made Detroit.

Watch Los Angeles rise on wings. The heavens will soon be dark with pinions. Already pilots are more plentiful than planes. Dreams sprout wings.

THE FASTEST HUMAN

It would seem that a mile run would be a fit and proper test for man's speed and endurance, but the sporting world has ever indicated larger interest in the sprints. The measuring stick for human activity is the hundred-yard race and we for years pointed with pride at Charlie Paddock because he could streak it over that distance faster than anybody else. He was the fastest of all earth's bipeds. But now a student of Ohio State University, one George Simpson, knocks all previous marks into the discard. He shinned the century in 9.4 seconds. Some watches caught him at 9.3. Our own Paddock and Frank Wykoff have breasted the tape in 9.5 seconds, but it is astonishing what difference a tenth of a second makes in the annals of sport. It is physically possible for the human machine to negotiate the century in nine seconds flat and some day a sprinter will rub pepper on his leg and do it, but meanwhile the mark made by the Ohio lad may live for quite a stretch.

MANY INVENTIONS

From Washington comes the information that there were 118,000 applications for patents last year. This would be an increase of more than 35 per cent above the number for the preceding year. Radio and aviation are blamed for a lot of mental activity on the part of our amateur Edisons. No wonder the inspectors and examiners in the Patent Office have a hard time in keeping up with the parade. There are bound to be delays in the granting of certificates when the desks are piled high with applications.

BONDS FOR WOMEN

Women are taking heavily to stocks and bonds. It is now admitted that more than 55 per cent of the stockholders in the Pennsylvania Railroad are of the gentle sex. They may not own the bulk of the stock, but they are there as individuals. Nearly all the big corporations have many shares in the keeping of women. Perhaps that is what makes them big.

BLUFF

By James J. Montague

It has now been found that the supposedly busy bee is not only lazy but stupid

How doth the so-called busy bee
Achieve a reputation
For unremitting industry
By sheer procrastination?
Why is he praised to growing youth
By parent and by teacher
Although he was, in simple truth,
A dull and idle creature?

We know now that he wastes his hours
Asleep on rose or daisy
And other honey-laden flowers
Because he's simply lazy.
We know he's usually at rest
The while he should be working
And that he really has no zest
For anything but shirking.

The little labor that he does,
Which scarce is worth the mention,
Is done with a prodigious buzz
Which draws the world's attention.
We take his industry on trust
And never pause to doubt it,
We think he's energetic, just Because he brags about it.

And after all, we should not blame
The little loafer, seeing
That he has gained his bogus fame
Like many a human being.
Each day proclaim how hard you ply
Your strenuous vocation
And men will take you, by and by,
At your own estimation.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.
BY Lee Shippey

THE Attorney-General rules that the salary of a member of our Legislature cannot be garnisheed.

Another movement, we suppose, to encourage better men to run for the Legislature.

Financially

An Arizona woman has just borne her twenty-fourth child, and the paper reports that "mother and child are doing well."

We trust that father, also, is "doing well."

Bar Harbor Society Take Notice

Southern California is the land of true democracy. Not long ago we told about a chauffeurs' golf tournament. On the public links and the indoor golf course at Griffith Park we ordinary common people can and do enjoy that ancient game which in many parts of the world is played only by "the leisure class." And Mrs. Florence Shreve, editor of Worth While Magazine in Long Beach, tells us of another incident which illustrates the California spirit, or the spirit people acquire here.

Mrs. Shreve advertised for a printer, and an applicant for the job called up.

"Where are you now?" she asked.

"At the Virginia golf course."

"Well—come right over."

In a few minutes a handsome car stopped before the publishing plant, and a correctly dressed young man alighted. He was, it developed, a member of a blue-booked eastern family who had got tired of leisuring and had learned to operate a linotype machine in the Long Beach High School, his idea being to launch a country newspaper. For several months that "millionaire printer" has been working faithfully in the print shop by day, and putting on his evening clothes by night to take his young wife out to dinner. And most of the people with whom he dines and golfs think the more of him because he has made good as a skilled workman.

Reparations

Said S. Parker Gilbert to Sir Gilbert Parker:
"Your outlook is rosy, mine deucedly darker."
Said Sir Gilbert Parker to S. Parker Gilbert:
"I'm doing right well, but those war taxes still hurt."

California Indian Legends

Tourists and others who want to know something of the California Indians will find the collections of E. G. Johnson, at the El Rey Hotel, interesting. Johnson has been making collections for the Smithsonian Institution, and also collecting all the Indian lore he could authenticate. Yesterday he gave us two Indian legends, as they were dictated to him by old Hupa Indians. Here is one:

"The world was all wrong. Haze and smoke filled the Hupa Valley until it was dark. No fish in the river, no acorns on the mountains, the few deer poor and sick and many Indians died.

"The chief dreamed that God had become angry with them, and for the Indians to hold their jump dance on top Telescope Mountain, then Selitznil, meaning rock-falling mountain. The Hupas held the jump dance for ten days, without water they danced and prayed. Yi-montiy-wiy-yay (god) was pleased and set the world right again. There came plenty of fish, the deer grew fat, acorns plentiful. The famine passed and there was no more sickness.

"Today when Indian's world all wrong, some of the faithful old Indians still climb to the top of Telescope Mountain, where the rocks are always coming down, to ask Yi-montiy-wiy-yay to set world right for them."

Indians Have Flood Legend

And here is the Indian legend of the flood:

"After the world had begun and been that way long time, there were many Indians. A big flood came that reached the mountain tops all around Hupa. An Indian was hunting on the highest ridge, he saw flood and climbed a fir tree and was saved. That is why fir is our sacred tree. A woman was gathering things to make baskets. She lived alone on the mountain top for a year, because she wanted to become medicine woman. She climbed fir tree and was saved.

"After the water was gone the two went back to Hupa Valley and began.

"Animals which were saved were told by the mink to go to Trinity summit, where they would be safe.

"But now it's been this way long time, only some white men want us to stop having Indian fun, make dance and be happy."

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

LAW DEFIANCE INCREASE

[Indianapolis News]

With increasing frequency, Indiana territory is mentioned as the scene of a violent crime which grew out of Chicago conditions and was plotted there.

It is evading the question to assign the reason for all this lawlessness to prohibition or some other social feature and declare that nothing can be done. It is fairly obvious that in a city where machine guns are sold in sporting-goods stores with little or no effort to identify the buyers, where notorious gang leaders live in hotels, surrounded by personal guards and gunmen employed to protect liquor cargoes, where hold-ups are so common as to excite little interest, and where bombs are called "pineapples" and sold like vegetables, there is either inexcusable police stupidity, police collusion with the criminals, or a fixed policy of allowing the gangs to shoot it out on the theory that that is the shortest way to get rid of them.

Indiana cannot allow this spirit of law defiance—or, worse, complete indifference to law—to taint its sense of order and neighborliness. The condition has become so fraught with possibilities of danger to a considerable portion of the State that it may be necessary to adopt a State policy as drastic as that suggested by the brutality of the crimes.

HARD TIMES FOR FARMERS

[New York World]

The reduction of freight rates on wheat for export has not had any material effect as yet on the situation. Stocks of grain in Europe are also above normal. France and Italy, moreover, have already raised their tariff duties to offset whatever stimulus the lower transportation costs might give to American exports, and in the German Reichstag the agrarian delegates are also demanding an increase in the grain duties. The promptness with which the European governments have acted to prevent heavy importations has a peculiar interest in view of the various schemes which have been advocated here for dumping farm surpluses abroad. It appears that foreign countries will not sit still and permit the equalization fee or the export debenture or any similar device to work as its framers intended.

The slump in grain prices since Congress assembled has increased the need of prompt legislation. While no program which Congress may adopt can accomplish very much this year in offsetting the effects of a world abundance, even a little help will be well worth the effort; and if prices recede much further Mr. Hoover will face the possibility of an agrarian revolt not unlike that which caused Mr. Taft so much discomfiture twenty years ago.

BEYOND PURE FINANCE

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

It has been impossible to gain a purely financial consideration for the reparations problem. Even between friendly nations—with the sole and outstanding exception of Great Britain and the United States—postwar money settlements were delayed and complicated by political and other questions. In the case of former enemies—especially such ancient and embittered foes as France and Germany—there could be no question of regarding reparations as a mere matter of statistics.

The financial expert ten years or even five years ago was up against human factors impossible to bring within a workable reparations plan. Even today these factors assert themselves strongly. But time has done its work in way of amelioration. Side issues lend themselves more freely to compromise. The Young plan is not perfect either financially or humanly. But it seems to hold both elements in sufficient balance to insure its acceptance and its workableness for the next quarter of a century. Perhaps the issue will be "pure finance" by that time.

SOVIET ARMY IN MANCHURIA

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Reports of the invasion of Manchuria by large bodies of Russian troops are disquieting and constitute a very real menace to world peace. The dispatches say that soviet troops have crossed the Siberian border and have established outposts east of Manchouli, from which they threaten to march on Harbin.

Nanking, always very conservative, does not confirm these reports, but there evidently is trouble brewing in Western Manchuria, or the Peking correspondents would not have sent out the story of the invasion, which has followed so closely that of the raids on the Russian consulates.

Manchouli is a small town on the Chinese Eastern Railway which connects with the Trans-Siberian line at Kaidalovo in South Siberia not far from Mongolia. The line runs to Harbin, in Central Manchuria, and on to Vladivostok. China has only a small number of provincial troops in Manchuria, and it is no wonder that Chang Hsueh-Lung, dictator of Manchuria in succession to his father, the late Chang Tso-Lin, has sent a frantic appeal to Nanking that measures be taken to protect his territory. This protection will be a big job. A Russian horde of invaders will have to be met, and sanguinary conflict may follow, if it has not already.

Anyone who has been watching Manchurian affairs in the last few years will not be in the least surprised to learn of these recent sinister events. The bear has been menacing the dragon ever since the close of the World War. China did not recognize soviet Russia until May 31, 1924, when a treaty was signed by the two governments. According to this agreement Russia recognized Chinese sovereignty over Outer Mongolia and agreed to the withdrawal of Russian troops from that territory, though this has been done only in part. Russia further recognized China's right eventually to purchase the Chinese Eastern Railway, providing in the meantime for joint control, but in the disorderly state of Chinese affairs this matter never has been settled, though China has claimed full ownership of the line.

It is the contention over this railroad that has given rise to much of the recent trouble, but the major dispute is over China's right to raid Russian consulates at Harbin and other places. The raids were ordered when the Nanking officials learned of the existence of documents incriminating consuls and others in a soviet plot against China in which Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang is said to have played a traitorous part. Feng wants to be the war lord of China, and he is reported to have enlisted Russian aid in carrying out his plan of dominance.

As far as Mongolia is concerned, Russia never has abandoned its partial rule of that territory, while at the same time it has had a covetous eye on Manchuria, into which it has sent many immigrants who have created unrest by their Communistic propaganda. Russia has looked all around the map for a place to insert its red wedge. Finding none in Europe outside its own borders, it planted the seeds of Communism in South America. On being kicked out of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, it sent its firebrands into China. For a time it held practical dominance over Canton and the Kwangsi country. Ambassador Karakhan and Gen. Borodin, on the pretense of aiding the Nationalist movement, employed Russian officers to train Chinese soldiers, but this was merely a scheme to spread soviet propaganda, and when the trickery was discovered Karakhan and Borodin were expelled from the country. A large number of Cantonese Communists stuck to their guns, however, and were not dislodged without bloodshed, about 5000 being said to have been shot down by loyal Chinese troops.

Communism is rife in Mongolia and in a milder degree in Manchuria, into which there have poured in the last ten years no less than 20,000,000 immigrants, many of them from the southern provinces of China, where Communism is still in favor, though in an underground way.

Russia has a standing army of more than 600,000 men. It has paid much attention to aviation in late years, and now has about 2500 good airplanes. China had an army of nearly 2,000,000 last autumn, but has reduced it to 750,000. In the air it could not cope with Russia, but afoot it might be a different story if the soldiers remained loyal. However, Gen. Feng seems to have had no great trouble in detaching 50,000 for his own use. If Feng is really backed by Russia with arms, men and money the Nationalists may be in for a big fight.

But what probably will happen will be that China will give the soviet government some sort of sop for having raided its consulates, and let it go at that.

Beginning of Photography

The real beginning of photography took place just ninety years ago when word spread about Paris that Louis Jacques Mande Daguerre, a famous scene painter of the city, had succeeded in making a picture merely by the action of light on a piece of prepared metal.

The seeming miracle performed by sunlight in changing the colors of objects it touched, as in tanning the skin, had aroused curiosity at least since the time of the early Greeks. The alchemist Fabricus, for one, living in the sixteenth century, made a contribution without knowing it when in his search for the transmuting substances he found that a solution of nitrate of silver would turn black when exposed to light.

THE JUNE BRIDE

BY CHARLES COKE WOODS

What a golden yesterday it was when the sweethearts sat together in a little dream boat on the river. Tomorrow would be the wedding day. He chained the boat to the bank, slipped out among the bushes and trees to pluck some wild roses to twine in her hair. The whole woodland through which the river ran was spicy with the tang of fresh green leaves and many a waxen bloom just ready to unfold.

She sat in the little boat while he climbed the bank for the roses. On and on she dreamed of love and home, his home, her home, their home. His heart beat high with the bravest and most beautiful hopes of a man. Tomorrow would be the wedding day. It would be the home-beginning day.

Now they are back in the boat again. The boat is unchained and they drift away, slowly, and silently. The river is gentle and the birds in the timber trees are singing their gladness. How altogether alive with love the leaves and bushes and blades of grass seem on this dreamful day before.

Love would smooth the sailing on any sea, and this was only a little river that wound its quiet way among the trees. Now and then a shadow fell across the gentle waves. Would any shadow ever fall across the mystic stream on which they would launch their boat of love tomorrow? Yes, tomorrow would be the wedding day. The happy home of her childhood days was not far away from that river. And who would have the daring to ask her to leave such a happy home? But love dreams and love dares. It is the sweet old way of the ages. He will ask her to leave and she will gladly go with him, and they twain will walk down the years together.

Now it is star-lit midnight. But midnight is never for long. It is only a mid-way halt in the dark. It is the daybreak of the bridal day. The sun will be golden today. Every shadow will surely hide far back among the hills. So love thinks and so love speaks. But the great procession of the universe with its lights and shadows moves on. "Into every life some rain must fall."

And somewhere it may rain on a June wedding day. But time and change belong to earth and to every earthly scene. Wind and weather, time and tide must go on, as well as life and love and wedding days. So the rain sings a-down the window pane and the minister's voice accompanies the music of the rain. "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of matrimony? Wilt thou love her, comfort her, honor and keep her, in sickness and in health; and forsaking all other, keep thee only unto her, so long as ye both shall live?" "I will" is the response of the June groom. Then the eyes of God's minister turn to the June bride, saying, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of matrimony? Wilt thou love him, comfort him, honor and keep him, in sickness and in health; and forsaking all other keep thee only unto him, so long as ye both shall live?" And sweeter than the music of the rain the June bride answers, "I will." A moment of impressive silence and the minister pronounces the solemn words: "What God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

All of this is meant by the June bride and the June bridegroom. Their wedding will affect for all time "these twain" for good or ill. It will touch with beauty, or otherwise, the neighborhood and the State.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Chemistry?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

There is demand for a knowledge of chemistry in dyeing and cleaning establishments, paint manufacturing business, senitation engineering, the making of cement for roads, the making of iron, and the handling of gases for airships. These are only a few of the needs for this study.

At present six free evening high schools are giving rapid reviews in the first half year of chemistry: Hollywood, 1521 North Highland avenue, Hollywood, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday; Lincoln, 3625 North Broadway, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; Los Angeles, 4600 Country Club Drive, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; Manual Arts, Forty-second street and Vermont avenue, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday; Polytechnic, 400 West Washington Boulevard, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; and Roosevelt, 450 South Fickett street, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

From July 8 to August 16 the Polytechnic Evening High School will give a free course in Chemistry II. This is the second half year of high school chemistry. Those wishing to secure high school credit, or to advance themselves in some chemical industry will receive six weeks of intensive drill, for the summer class will meet every evening in the week. Evening school classes are from 7 to 9 p.m.

An interesting contribution to the lore of advertising results comes from a business statistician, Roger W. Babson. According to his statement in Cleveland on Monday, he broadcast an advertisement at a cost of $3000 and received sixteen inquiries and two orders as a result. Two days later for [illegible] he printed the advertisement in [illegible] five newspapers in as many cities and received [illegible] inquiries. He figured that the radio advertisement cost [illegible] for each reply, the newspaper advertisement 75 cents a reply.

Testimony like this may [illegible] to challenges and tests. No concern disseminating advertising by radio is likely to concede that it produces such results as are obtainable from the use of the best newspapers, yet to find that newspaper has the better of radio advertising in the ratio of 222 to 1, as Mr. Babson's experiment indicated, is perhaps more than the radio folk will concede without further evidence.

It is plain, of course, that in advertising the printed word has a huge advantage over the spoken. The well-written and neatly typed exposition of some desirable thing is laid before the eye of the prospective customer. If he is interested he has time to study, to ponder and to decide. He need not make haste—as he must in the case of advertisement addressed only to the ear—of names, addresses and prices. Also, the type is free from the sometimes [illegible] distracting mannerisms of the broadcaster.

It has been the experience of the Sun and of other dailies of high class that their advertising lineage, far from being decreased by radio advertising, has grown steadily since the [illegible] period started. Mr. Babson's experiment offers the obvious explanation. No advertiser gets good results from [illegible] advertising [illegible] for a medium that produces [illegible] ness, whether [illegible] 222 to 1, or [illegible] to 1, in favor of the [illegible] newspaper.—[New York Sun.]

Paul Muni will be starred in four pictures, "Life's a Gamble," "It Might Have Happened," "The Holy Devil" and "The Mad Musician," in the latter with Lois Moran.

"The New Orleans Minstrels" will have William Collier, Sr., Walter Catlett and Walter Weems in the line-up. Another all-singing, talking and musical picture as yet untitled will feature Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. "The Dollar Princess," another musical success, will be done.

Two productions now being filmed for the coming season's program are "Salute," with George O'Brien, and "The Girl From Havana." "Why Leave Home," a musical version of "Cradle Snatchers," goes into production with a cast including Walter Catlett and Sue Carol. "The Sky Hawk" is a Zeppelin raid sound drama with Helen Chandler and Hugh Sinclair. Jerome K. Jerome's "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" will be filmed in London. William Collier, Sr., will play in "Harmony at Home."

RACING STORY

A Kentucky racing story, "The Meal Ticket," will have a cast including Sue Carol. Lee Tracy, star in two recent stage productions, is introduced in Movietone in "Big Time." Lois Moran appears in "The Girl Who Wasn't Wanted." Scenes for "Budapest" will be filmed in Hungary. Victor McLaglen plays the title role of "The Well Dressed Man." A novelty is "The Power House," dealing with the influence of the electrical age on society.

"Listen to the Band" and "Black Diamond," the latter with Stepin Fetchit, are musical productions scheduled. Others are "The Lost Waltz" and "The Bells of Toledo." Zane Grey's first talking western will be "The Lone Star Ranger." Norma Terris and J. Harold Murray of the stage are to have the leads in "Married in Hollywood," an operetta by Oscar Strauss, and "Cameo Kirby," by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson.

The new schedule also includes five pictures with extended talking sequences, "Four Devils," "The River," "Christina," "City Girl" and "Lucky Star."

HORSEPLAY AND MUSIC COMBINED

Paul Whiteman Offers a "Slapstick-Symphony" Bill at Pantages

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Paul Whiteman, looking quite serene and unperturbed at the prospect of crowding a great many numbers into the shortest possible space of time, came onto the stage of Pantages Theater last evening with his orchestra. After forty-five minutes, the eager listener had heard five ensemble numbers and a multitude of soloists in a program hardly ever displaying a dignity commensurate with the importance of either the conductor or his engagement. It is Whiteman's music that attracts the Pantages patron, after all; and the respect it has earned as a symphonic organization does not extend, unless I am greatly mistaken, to its antics as clowns. And still one cannot doubt the popular value of the trio of "Rhythm Boys," who are so gloriously mad in their minstrelsy, and of Wilbur Hall.

The orchestra is first discovered grouped imposingly in an amber light and playing a medley which seems predominantly Spanish, including as it does "Rosita" and another unnamed piece of Castilian derivation. In this, Schelling's "A Victory Ball," appears briefly, though what it connotes here I cannot say. A popular tune, "China Boy," follows; but the familiar magnificence of the Whiteman scoring is not fully evidenced until "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," is performed. "Lover, Come Back to Me" is given an adequate arrangement, and the latter portion of the Gershwin "Rhapsody in Blue," commencing with the andante movement, brings the program somewhat hastily to a close.

In all but one of these pieces, emphasis is overwhelmingly on the brasses. They produce a volume of sound which the auditorium seems scarcely able to absorb; yet curiously enough, the tones evoked from his banjo by Michael Pingitore rise distinct from the mass effect.

The Rhythm Boys, who created the "stuttering" vogue, which recently has had so many imitators, introduce "Mississippi Mud," "I Left My Sugar Standing in the Rain" and "The Blackbirds and the Bluebirds Got Together." Last night they were recalled again and again, and deservedly. They are unique in their field.

But the star comedian of the performance is Wilbur Hall, the jack-of-all-trades who does astonishing things with a violin, a trumpet and a bicycle pump. While one questions the good taste of Hall's share of the "symphonic" program his presence on a variety bill is, on the whole, understandable.

The entire presentation, indeed, is a compromise. In his endeavor to please both the chance vaudevillegoer and the lover of jazz syncopation, Whiteman is only fairly successful.

Among the other acts are Dalton and Craig, who provide comedy in a restaurant; the Lowe and Sargent Revue, and another called "Jungleland." The feature film, a part-talkie of business life, is entitled "The Bachelor Girl." William Collier, Jr., and Jacqueline Logan fill the leads. Richard Thorpe directed for Columbia, from a screen play by Jack Townley.

Pat O'Malley to Take Stage Bow

Personal appearance of Pat O'Malley will be a special feature at the United Artists Theater tonight, where "Alibi," musical melodrama, is in its final week. O'Malley has his first speaking film role as Sergt. Tommy Glennon, whose cleverness is an instrumental factor in finding the flaw in the killer's "alibi." His is one of the outstanding characterizations in a brilliant cast which includes such names as Chester Morris, Regis Toomey, Mae Busch, Eleanor Griffith and others.

"Alibi" will have final showings at the United Artists Theater tomorrow, with John Barrymore's new starring vehicle, "Eternal Love," scheduled to open Wednesday. "Eternal Love" is a gripping love drama, directed by Ernst Lubitsch, and the cast features Camilla Horn, Mona Rica, Victor Varconi, Bodil Rosing, Hobart Bosworth and Evelyn Selbie. On the same program there will be Clark and McCullough's first Movietone musical comedy, "Belle of Samoa," featuring Lois Moran and a troupe of sixty dancing girls.

Chinese Drama Ends Run Soon

"The Yellow Jacket," Chinese fantasy starring Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coburn, is now in its final week at the Figueroa Playhouse, the local engagement terminating Saturday night.

This attraction moves to the Geary Theater, San Francisco, opening there Monday night for a limited run of two weeks, after which it will play Fresno, Santa Barbara and San Diego.

Special theater parties arranged for "The Yellow Jacket" at the Figueroa Playhouse this week include the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority tomorrow night and the Women's Association of Screen Publicists Wednesday night.

"SYNCOPATION" AT RITZ

"The Bridge of San Luis Rey," featuring Lily Damita and Don Alvarado, has its last showing at the Fox Ritz tonight. It is announced that, starting tomorrow, "Syncopation," Radio Pictures' all-talking, singing and dancing special, will come to the Fox Ritz for a three-day showing. Morton Downey, Bobby Watson, Waring's Pennsylvanians and numerous others make up the brilliant cast of "Syncopation." The picture will show at the Fox Ritz until Thursday.

VIOLA DANA PRAISED

Viola Dana is receiving praise for her splendid performance in "Two Sisters" for Trem Carr, which was previewed a few days ago. In this production Viola plays a dual role, playing both sisters, one a society girl and the other a girl from the underworld.

A Drama Turns Spectacle

Evelyn Brent
Enacts the dramatic role of the revue girl Pearl in the Universal production of "Broadway," which has its elaborate premiere tonight at the Biltmore Theater.

PICTURE REVEALS STAGE LIFE

The gang-war siege is now being supplanted by the backstage drama. The Hillstreet this week combines the two with one more peep behind the curtain and another dip into the underworld. "Broadway Babies" presents the struggles of a trio of comedy chorines who call themselves, the three musketeers. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy for First National, the picture is a series of short episodes, which really contain two stories; one concerning the careers of the chorus, the other dealing with a big butter-and-egg man from Detroit, who falls into the hands of card sharks.

The more intimate and plot-revealing scenes tend to be a bit tedious and are somewhat sketchy in their connection to the plot. Mervyn LeRoy, however, shows a particular ability in handling large ensembles. The stage shots and cabaret scenes are most effective. Alice White proves herself as pleasant to the ear as to the eye, exactly suited to the part she plays.

The story starts in the typical theatrical boarding house, with two of the musketeers awaiting the approaching nuptials of the third, little, Dee Foster (Miss White.) There seems to be no money in the project, but Dee is too far carried away by her nobility to mind. It is love between her and Charles Delaney. Charles's position is rather indefinite, but he is always around to make Dee happy or sad as she wishes. Soon she is sad, for Jocelyn Lee arrives and renews an old affection for Charles. This forces Dee to the attentions of Fred Kohler, just from Detroit, and big-hearted.

After undergoing a course of fleecing by Louis Natheaux's gang, Kohler beats them at their own game and is rewarded by a hole through the chest while on the way to his wedding. Dee, too, chooses the moment to play square, because she can't forget Charles. Fred isn't allowed to die, so he does the next best thing, and with many sorrowing words hands Dee over to Charley.

Embellished with hand-painted curtains, pages and trumpets, the vaudeville entertainment is taken care of nicely by Count Berni Vici and his all-girl revue. The Count, dark and dazzling, picked himself the easy job of directing, with that old-world manner, a bevy of beauties through the intricacies of dance and melody. His symphonic girls please often with their muted harmonizing of "Shades of Blue," a Paul Whiteman medley which includes strains of the famous "Rapsody in Blue," and other popular hits.

The feature of the revue are two blonds, Maude Hilton and Almy. With great display of friendship they knock each other hither and yon about the stage. Even if they aren't friends, they are funny. Another soloist is Ted Leslie, lady baritone, who sings "Mean to Me" and such. The Manhattan Steppers and the rest of the company close the performance with an elaborate naval picture.

NEW DRAMA ARRIVES AT MAYAN SOON

Helen Menken Has Leading Role in New Play "Top O' The Hill"

Final rehearsals of "Top o' the Hill" will commence with the arrival of Helen Menken, popular Broadway stage actress, preparatory to what looms as one of the most important premieres this summer.

July 3 has been definitely set as the date for the first performance of the new play, which Felix Young, coast to coast producer, is introducing to Mayan theatergoers for a first verdict, before entering it in the competition for honors on Broadway in the fall.

All but two roles have been cast, and comprise players mostly noted on the Gotham stage, Young announced last night. They include Kate Campbell, John Webb Dillion, Ida Darling and Jeanne Temple. Principals previously announced are William Boyd and Hilda Vaughn, conspicuous figures of the eastern stage.

Dix Featured in Drama of India

A new Richard Dix, dashing figure mith mustache and all the tricks of the desert lover, is promised patrons of the Paramount, when the screen and former stage star makes his bow in "The Wheel of Life."

Dix plays opposite Esther Ralston, who makes her talking-picture debut in a pleasing manner, it is said. He is seen as a British officer stationed in India.

O. P. Heggie, the distinguished actor of the legitimate stage, who made an auspicious talking-picture debut in "The Letter," as the attorney for Jeanne Eagels, has the most important supporting role in the Dix picture. He is seen as Dix's superior officer, and Esther Ralston's husband. Victor Schertzinger, director of "Redskin," "Nothing But the Truth," and other Dix successes, directed "The Wheel of Life."

George Bancroft in the Von Sternberg production of "Thunderbolt" will continue at the Paramount until Wednesday night.

DOROTHY DWAN HOME

After four months spent in rest and vacationing at the home of relatives in the Middle West, Dorothy Dwan is back in Hollywood. She will just about have time to greet her numerous friends before she leaves for a summer stay at Hermosa Beach.

Elinor Concert Features Show at Fox Circle

The consensus of opinion of the audiences at the production of "Four Devils,' 'starring Janet Gaynor in her first talking role, is that Managing Director Carli Elinor has succeeded in arranging one of the most entertaining programs ever offered at the Fox Carthay Circle Theater.

As a talking star all are agreed that Janet Gaynor is a winner. Her voice is the one expected from this charming actress, who has pleased with her silent portrayals and now as Marion, the little circus acrobat, adds a touch of pathos and humanness with the addition of a "voice with a soul."

"Four Devils" is rich in drama, humor and in spectacle and is hailed as the greatest achievement of F. W. Murnau. Besides Miss Gaynor the cast includes Charles Morton, Mary Duncan, Nancy Drexel, Andres Randolf, Barry Norton and other.

Carli Elinor's own orchestra offers a brilliant concert program including Elinor's original fantasie, "Rhapsodie Espagnole," proclaimed his best overture to date.

SONGSTRESS LEADS BILL AT ORPHEUM

Irene Franklin Heard in Cheery Songs; Comedians Also Find Favor

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

The most enjoyable features of the new Orpheum offering—beginning now on Saturday instead of Sunday—are to be found in the performance of Miss Irene Franklin and Buck and Bubbles.

Ye-es, there's nice music from a girls' band, and the performing Alaskan dogs will probably make a hit with soft-hearted folks who run to pets. However, occasionally there must be a poor Orpheum bill and then again just a so-so one. This engagement is one of the so-so weeks.

That being fully understood, we can pass now to Miss Franklin who should never be seen on a so-so bill. She deserves bigger and better things. A jolly faced little woman, she seems always and not unpleasantly laughing up her sleeve at some joke of life. Her songs are "Chester, the Cowboy from Liggets," "My Husband's First Wife," "The Flapper Mammy," the one about the little girl who didn't like her face washed, the serious-minded ballad singer, and another one. Her program is similar to that heard on other and similar occasions, but nevertheless it will do.

The negro comics known as Buck and Bubbles, in their second successive week, prove that they can accomplish diff-runt things. The jokes are not the same as last week. Here's a sample or two: Says Buck, "Play me 'Home Sweet Home.'" So Bubbles starts off with "The Prisoner's Song." Pretty soon, "Say," shouts Bubbles, "you aren't singing fast enough." Returns Buck, "Well, ain't I behind a few bars?" Buck tells Bubbles, "Don't bother with them light keys, boy, just look out for the dark keys." Of course, they are funnier in the telling!

Music from the girls' band, "The Brick Tops," comes as the finale to the first half of the bill, a half devoted to a procession of acts masquerading under the general title, "R.-K.-O. Collegiate Show." The word masquerade seems advisable, because there is no actual resemblance to college doings or atmosphere unless, perhaps, in the quality of humor purveyed, which seems decidedly adolescent.

Anyway, the girls are fairly good in their playing, and quite generously, as far as the audience is concerned, don't do much of anything else. A Miss Oral Johnson performs on the cornet, while Bobbie Grice is an agile leader.

Madie and Ray are a cute pair who twirl ropes and dance. Ray has a belt contrivance hooked around his waist by which he contrives, through a lot of wiggling, to twirl several ropes at a time. This is quite silly, but funny.

Ada Brown is a large negress, billed as "the mammy of the campus." She has some songs. The Runaway Four, in turtle-necked sweaters, are comic tumblers. I didn't like them. Nor Clara Barry and Orvall Whitlege, who "jest for a while." That, of course, is probably just personal opinion and the audience is urged to go ahead and clap just the same.

Tricks from Big Bill Blomberg's Alaskan dogs bring the performance to a conclusion. They seem like good dogs and know an unusual trick or two.

M.-G.-M. Plans Large Display

Sightseers are expected to assemble at the corner of Wilshire Boulevard and Shatto Place tomorrow night for the unveiling of a spectacular outdoor display. Entitled "The Human Billboard," the display will present beautiful girls, who will herald the world premiere of the "Hollywood Revue of 1929" on Thursday night at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

The special ceremonies marking the unveiling in which stars of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios will take part, will be announced over Southern California by a mammoth electric display. An expansive musical program, designed to give a hint of what is in the "Hollywood Revue of 1929," will be given as a feature of the ceremonies.

TWO LANGUAGES SPOKEN

There are few actresses who can speak two languages with equal perfection. Claudette Colbert, leading woman in "The Hole in the Wall," now showing at Lazarus's Million Dollar Theater, is one of the few. Born in Paris of French parentage and coming to New York at the age of 15, she can speak both French and English equally well. In "The Hole in the Wall" she portrays the role of a small-town girl who is accidentally cast into the maze of a gang of clever city crooks.

One of the lovely affairs of Saturday was the reception with which Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rendler of Victoria Drive entertained at the Jonathan Club, a buffet supper being served from 4 to 9 o'clock. Two hundred and fifty invitations were issued. Roses and a riot of color in summer flowers and ferns were most charmingly combined in the decorations of the clubhouse and tables.

COLLOPS

Cut two pounds of tender beefsteak into rounds three inches wide, and three-quarters of an inch thick, dredge these with flour and fry a light brown in butter or shortening. Place in a saucepan two cupfuls of meat gravy, add the pieces of brown meat, a seasoning of salt and white pepper, one tablespoonfuls of capers, three tablespoonfuls of finely chopped sour pickle, and two tablespoonfuls of ketchup, simmer until the meat is tender.

RUSSIAN EGG SALAD

Six hard boiled eggs, one tablespoonful of chopped green pepper, three tablespoonfuls of chili sauce, two tablespoonfuls of chopped, cooked ham, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika; cut the eggs in half lengthwise and remove the yolks, mash them, add the green pepper, chili sauce, salt and paprika; mix well, refill the whites of the eggs and place on a bed of shredded lettuce, serve with a cooked salad dressing.

COFFEE SOUFFLE

Heat in a double boiler one and one-half cupfuls of strong black coffee, dissolve one tablespoonful of gelatine in a little cold water, add it to the coffee with one-third of a cupful of sugar and one-half a cupful of milk, let the mixture boil until the gelatine is dissolved, remove from the fire and allow to cool; beat the yolks of three eggs with a one-third of a cupful of sugar and one-third of a teaspoonful of salt, replace on the fire, and cook, slowly stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens, remove from the fire, add the whites of the eggs that have been beaten to a stiff froth, flavor with half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract, place in sherbert glasses and chill.

PIMIENTO CHEESE BISCUITS

Place four ounces of pimiento cheese and one-fourth of a cup of butter in a double boiler and allow to melt, sift two cupfuls of flour, with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt, rub into this three tablespoonfuls of butter or shortening and stir in enough milk to make a soft dough, about a scant cupful. Turn onto a floured board, pat out gently to one-fourth of an inch in thickness, cut with a small biscuit cutter, place in an oiled pan, and pour the melted cheese over the top; bake in a hot oven.

YOUNG MOTHER DESCRIBES METHOD OF BATHING BABY

Another Young Mother writes: I wonder if you think this method of bathing baby, taught me at the hospital, is a good one? I have a large basin of water in which I put a teaspoonful of cornstarch. I do not use soap on baby. First, I undress her entirely and then let her kick and exercise. Then I wash her scalp well and massage it with my fingers and dry it thoroughly. I wash her eyelids gently, beginning at the outside corner and washing toward the nose. I use a separate piece of cotton for each eye. I wash her nose by twisting a corner of the washcloth into a tiny point. I wash her face carefully and dry it. I wash and dry each ear, using cotton. I wash arms, legs, body, each part separately and cover after drying. Next I powder her with a mixture of three parts cornstarch and one part boric acid powder.

"I trim baby's toe and finger nails often, being sure to cut the toe nails straight across.

"What is the cause and cure of dry scalp? I massage vaseline into the scalp once a week and her hair is soft and curly and no crust on the scalp, but prevention is better than cure. What do you think of my method of bathing? Baby is 4½ months old.

Answer

I do want to mention the daily letters you sent me. If it helped you to write them, then I am pleased. You are an extremely conscientious and careful mother and so you can never go far wrong. All the books you mentioned are good ones. This is all the answer I can make to your various letters and I'm sure you'll not expect more.

I think the sponge bath fine for the baby before the navel is healed. Afterward the tub bath is in order and putting the baby right into the tub is stimulating to the skin and a delight to the baby, and also a much speedier process than sponging. This is an item for a busy mother.

You can use the same method as at present to clean the head (and I think soap very necessary here,) the nose, eyes and outside of ears. Never touch the inside even with a cotton applicator. Then soap baby all over and lower her gently into the tub. Rinse off and wrap her in a soft towel and pat dry.

It is better to use twisted cotton for the nostrils than the end of a washcloth. The method you suggested of cleaning the genitals is right and has a reason. I'll answer that in a personal letter if you are interested to know why.

The same treatment you are now using will prevent the formation of a crust, providing you use enough soap and "elbow grease" to clean the head thoroughly. This crust is almost always an accumulation of oil and dirt which is not well washed off.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy
author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him in care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

NO MORE HOSPITALS

"The commonest thing we do is the thing we know least about—eating. Some day people will learn how to eat, and there won't be any more hospitals." No—that is not a quotation from one of my articles, nor was it written by any rabid anti-medical advocate. It came from the lips of one of America's great business men, Henry Ford. Of course, Mr. Ford was using a shocking figure of speech to startle his interviewer. We will probably always need hospitals for the injured and for those totally ignorant about correct living.

In the interview, Mr. Ford urges the clergy to take up the study of diet and to preach a religion of good living. Some ministers are already doing this, but I hope that Mr. Ford's suggestion will stimulate many more to add dietary teaching to their sermons about good living habits.

Some time ago, when lecturing in Denver, I had a nice visit with Dr. Bell, who is a minister of the Episcopal Church, and who is actually spending a large portion of his time in teaching his congregation the principles of correct eating. Dr. Bell has found out, as Mr. Ford has so aptly said, "That there are such great changes of mental attitude to be obtained by correct habits of diet, that it would better pay the clergy to attend to the commoner and more respectable habits, such as eating, than to some of the bad results of bad eating."

Many in the medical profession will foolishly fear that this will result in the giving of what doctors call "misinformation." Such fears are without foundation. Many of our best ideas regarding diet have come from the layman or, at least, from those who have not been recognized as ethical, licensed physicians of the dominant school of medicine.

The masses are hungry for practical information about correct diet. The one who sets himself up as a teacher of dietetics will not last long if his theories are not sound and if good results do not follow from such teaching.

The Bible is full of instruction about living a clean, healthful life. The hygienic laws of Moses were good for the people of that day, and many of them cannot be improved on at the present time. New prophets of clean living will arise, and if the medical profession remains too concerned with surgery and microscopes, we may yet find that our best health teachers may come from the clergy and the laity.

Instead of spending so much money to enlarge our prisons, and instead of different communities boasting about how many new hospitals they have, perhaps the day will come when some of this money and energy will be diverted into channels for health education. Is it too much to hope that the number of hospitals and jails might actually be decreased if we had Commissioners of Health who made a serious study of eating, which is the commonest thing we do to develop sickness and crime? If our public officials cannot realize that this is what the people need and want, we may still hope for help through both the financial and inspirational assistance of such clear-thinking business men and philanthropists as Mr. Ford.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sugar Poisoning

Question. A. T. asks: Will you please tell me what sugar poisoning is? Is it curable and how should it be taken care of? Do people get it on their hands only? When one has it, does drinking alcoholic liquor make it worse?

Answer: From your question I would be led to believe that you are suffering from some form of eczema caused by using too large an amount of sugar. Try leaving sugar out of your diet entirely for a short time. Alcoholic liquor would make such a condition worse until you are completely cured of the general acidosis which makes you so susceptible.

Sandwich Fillings

Q.: Mrs. M. P. asks: Will you please make some suggestions on making vegetable fillings for sandwiches of wholewheat bread? My husband is a carpenter and has to take his lunch. Also, will you print your recipe for making peanut butter dressing for cauliflower?"

A.: I will be glad to send you an article on the subject of making wholesome sandwiches, but cannot take the space to give you this information in the Question and Answer Department. The peanut butter dressing is made by thinning the roasted peanut butter with milk or cream. You may use any reasonable amount of this dressing over the cauliflower or any other salad.

Headache After Meals

Q.: H. G. P. asks: Will you please tell me what might be the cause of a headache in and just above the eyes after meals?"

Answer: The kind of headache you write about is usually caused from an irritation of the gastro-intestinal tract, as in gastritis, duodenitis or colitis. Bad mixtures of food which produce stomach irritation are perhaps the most responsible for the sudden headache just after the meal.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Knows Her Onions

Every modern housewife is familiar with the market reports through the radio and can plan her meals before she goes shopping so as to include the commodities that are most plentiful and, in consequence, cheaper.

Whitened Linen

To whiten handkerchiefs or yellowed towels, soak them in a basin of cold water to which has been added one-quarter teaspoonful of cream of tartar to each quart of water. Let them stand for twelve hours and then launder as usual.

Will Not Break

When baking fish for company, slip two strips of clean muslin under the fish when you lay it in the pan. The strips will serve as handles when removing the fish and prevent its breaking.

Clean Fruit

Wipe off the fruit you have bought at market with a clean, slightly damp cloth before you put it away. This will clean it and check any rot that may have gotten on it from other fruit.

Cheery Shades

The new flowered cretonned or glazed chintz shades prove a joy in the dark kitchen. They not only let in more light but are so gay they change the entire atmosphere of the room and make it a happy place in which to work.

POLICE NET AGAIN NABS FORRESTER

Man With Long Record at Headquarters Arrested on Mysterious Charges

Orville T. Forrester, 29 years of age, three times in the custody of police for implication in asserted hi-jacking shootings, and arrested in San Francisco, Pasadena and this city on Wright Act charges, again was involved with the law yesterday. Policeman Everson of the Hollywood division placed him under arrest for violation of Section 530 of the Penal Code which charges the obtainance of money or property by the impersonation of another character, and on a traffic warrant.

The arrest was made at Forrester's home, 7224 Waring avenue. He later was released on $200 bail. No details of the new charges were contained in police reports.

Police records show that Forrester was arrested three times for assault with a deadly weapon, the first on July 13, 1927, in connection with a shooting on Seventh street and Garland avenue; next on November 11, of the same year in the investigation of a shooting at 763 North Van Ness avenue, and the last time on September 4, 1928, for the shooting of John R. Wilson in front of the latter's home at 2946 Francis avenue. In each case Forrester was released after the District Attorney's office refused to issue a complaint because of insufficient evidence.

CONSPIRACY OF SILENCE DISCLAIMED

No Ban on Bill Hart as Screen Player, Declares Hal Roach, Producer

What substantially amounted to a charge by William S. Hart "two-gun man" hero of western motion pictures, that certain producing interests have banned him from the screen yesterday was denied by Hal Roach, producer of comedies, who drew up a contract providing for Hart's return to the screen in a talkie, which the actor canceled voluntarily when Roach's releasing company, Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer, expressed disapproval of the move.

Refutation was contained in a telegraphic dispatch from Chicago, where Roach was interviewed at the Drake Hotel.

"All my pictures are made for M.-G.-M. exclusively, said Roach, according to the dispatch. "I have no right to make pictures for anyone else. We are producing comics and they are going over big. I wanted to make a Western picture starring Hart but New York (Schenck) did not think it was wise in view of our success with the comics. There is no ban whatsoever on Bill Hart. In fact, there is no ban on anyone.

"So far as a contract is concerned, there really was none actually consummated. Mr. Hart, therefore, merely withdrew when New York made it known that in view of the outstanding success of our talking comedies they were not enthusiastic about a Wild West picture at this time. But there is not nor has there been any such thing as a ban on Hart's pictures in anybody's mind."

WAMPAS TO MEET NEXT WEDNESDAY

The regular meeting of the Wampas has been postponed to Wednesday at the Breakfast Club because of the opening tonight of "Broadway." Ivan St. Johns of Universal, who is to act as entertainment chairman Wednesday, is arranging a "Broadway" night with personalities of the production to be guests of honor. Among others who will entertain the Wampas Wednesday are Cliff Edwards, Benny Rubin and Kathryn Crawford. Sam W. B. Cohn, chairman of the committee of free-lance press representatives, has called a meeting to follow the social session.

TRAFFIC SINS PILE UP

When L. W. Mider, 432 North Fremont street, was taken into Traffic Court under arrest, he found six traffic complaints, most of them for illegal parking, awaiting him. The officers reported that they have been searching for Mider since April, 1928. Municipal Judge Swain, when Mider was unable to give a reason for failing to appear in court sentenced him to serve twelve days in jail, two days for each complaint.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

A WILD FLOWER GARDEN

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Everywhere on the outskirts of cities there are large, forbidding signs, "Do not pick flowers or leaves, under penalty of the law." And where there are no signs to protect them the wild flowers are fast disappearing under greedy, ruthless hands.

And yet how natural it is for children to pick flowers! How inhuman to expect of their walks in the country, the restraint of a museum visit! Children for whom it is no everyday occurrence to wander along a brook where marsh marigolds bloom, or to find a patch of windflowers under the trees, must indeed be half dead if they do not want to seize and carry home such loveliness.

What can you do? Forbid them? Punish them? It won't do any good. You will find it much easier to turn their eagerness into another channel. Let them make a wild flower garden at home.

Next time you take your children to the country, take along a trowel and a sturdy box. When you come upon an especially fine clump of blood root or long-stemmed purple violets, show the children how to dig them up. Tell them why they must be careful not to injure the tiny rootlets.

Explain that it is good to take along plenty of the very soil in which the plant is growing. Teach them to observe the conditions under which they find the flowers, so that they may try to reproduce them as nearly as possible at home. Show the children how to plant them again in the back yard. If you live in an apartment you may even have luck with a window box.

The pleasure the children will have in bringing home and cherishing a few living plants will be far more satisfying at the moment, and lasting too, than if they pillage a countryside and bring home armfuls of dead and dying flowers.

A Place for Matches

Matches should always be kept in a metal container high out of reach of children and away from the flame of the stove. When not being used a lid should be placed on the box as sulphur attracts mice and the mice might start a fire by nibbling.

Mirrors

Never wash mirrors with very wet cloths. If the water gets in back of the mirror by flowing under the frame it will ruin the glass. Use a well-wrung chamois.

Slippery Cups

When serving tea drop a little hot water into the saucer and then place the cup firmly over it. This will prevent the cup from slipping and rattling when being passed.

MOUNTAIN TOP DEALER WILL MAKE PLEA TODAY

Selling mountain tops in anticipation that the proposed Colorado River dam will provide water for them is the charge that is placed against Samuel Mooes, president of the Deming Land Company, a Los Angeles promotion company, who is to appear today before United States District Judge James for arraignment and plea on charges of using the mails to defraud.

It is charged by the government that the defendant, through his company, represented that the lands he bought, including two townships, partly in Imperial Valley, are suited for agricultural purposes, whereas the government charges that the land is not suited for agriculture.

sought in connection with the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty.

The general description of the body, according to the Santa Ana police who are holding the corpse, agrees with that of the hunted man, who is believed to have escaped the police dragnet by hiding aboard the steamer Admiral Benson on it's run to Portland.

The body was badly decomposed and the flesh on the face and body had been worn away by a long stay in the salt water, but police investigators believe that the finger prints will be found intact.

Police also attempted to identify the body as that of Elmer Dubray, a 17-year-old Englewood youth, who lost his life about a week ago while swimming in the surf near Laguna Beach. Information from the relatives of the lad after they heard the general description of the body caused police announcement that there is very little similarity on the description of the body discovered on the beach and the drowned boy.

Detectives and uniformed police met the Admiral Benson from which Tallman escaped when the boat docked last night and questioned the officers and crew.

As the boat moved to Pier 153, the uniformed police were stationed along the dock, and the squad of thirty detectives under the direction of Capt. Slaten boarded the vessel. All members of the crew were identified by Capt. Sohst, commanding the steamer, before anyone was allowed to land. Identification completed passengers and crew left the boat.

Capt. Sohst told Slaten that he saw Tallman on board the Admiral Benson at 6:10 p.m. on the 4th inst., while the ship was en route to San Francisco. He also said that he gave the chief steward instructions to lace the wanted man in the stateroom, and gave him the key. No new light was shed on the escape.

Questioned as to why no additional measures were taken to hold the suspect, Capt. Sohst informed the Los Angeles police that he only took orders along this line from the United States Marshal or his representatives, and that he was the sole judge of the handling of passengers while his vessel was afloat.

MOTIVES OF EQUITY HIT BY ACTRESS

Corinne Griffith Declares Invasion of Film Field by Association Selfish

The underlying motives on which the Actors' Equity Association is founding its movement to invade the realm of motion pictures yesterday was branded as "selfish and well concealed" by Corinne Griffith as she joined the steadily increasing ranks of players who are unalterably opposed to the move. Leaders of the organization, she declared, have virtually no knowledge of conditions in the film industry, their own statements constituting the best proof of her charge. The actress said:

"From the personal investigation I have made, I believe the motion-picture actors are unanimous in their opposition to Actors' Equity Association's attempt to invade motion pictures. A small group from New York, far in the minority, is engineering the move.

"Their motives are selfish and well concealed.

"I have seriously considered the situation and endeavored to learn as much as possible about it.

"I have made it a point to inquire of my acquaintances, my friends and coworkers in the Hollywood motion-picture colony as to their sentiments.

"Not one but has told me he felt Equity's move is foolish.

"It is apparent that Equity leaders have practically no knowledge of conditions in the motion-picture industry. Their own statements are the best proof of the truth of that assertion.

"They speak of hours, evidently knowing nothing of the mechanical difficulties we confront in the production of talking-motion pictures.

"They speak of the discomfort occasioned by working beneath electric lights, when, as a matter of fact, anyone at all familiar with motion-picture production knows that electric lights are turned off whenever and as soon as possible.

Junior Chamber Has Sell-out on Benefit Tickets

A complete sell-out is reported by President Kennedy Ellsworth of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the benefit show at the Majestic Theater tonight. The money raised will be used in conjunction with charity work being conducted by the junior body.

A number of players of stage and screen have donated their services for the benefit. Included among the list are Lina Basquette, Barbara Kent, Tom Bergin, Mary McAllister, Edward Everett Horton, Morrie Leaf and Sylvia Field. More than 700 tickets were sold among members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce alone, according to Ross McPhee, chairman in charge of arrangements.

With the staging of this first benefit show, the Junior Chamber announces through Kennedy Ellsworth that this charity work will be added to its program embracing sports and civic activities. Many member of the senior chamber have given their support.

RAID HALTS LIQUOR TRADE

Four Men Arrested by "Installments" as Police Get Key to Apartment and Await Results

A liquor raid carried out on the "installment plan" was conducted by Policemen Kearney and Bertram of the Georgia-street division early yesterday at 916½ West Seventh street, resulting in the arrest of four men and confiscation of an automobile and several hundred quarts of liquors.

The raid began when the officers visited the address on information that bootlegging was being conducted there. Kearney stationed himself at the front door while Bertram went to the rear. Within a few minutes Joe Cole, 30 years of age, colored, walked out the front door with two quarts of gin and two pints of whisky in a package under his arm, according to the report. Kearney promptly placed him under arrest and obtained a key to an apartment within the building, he said.

Apprising his partner of the find Kearney then sought entrance to the apartment from which Cole is said to have come. As the officers entered, Beverly Carr, 26, of 1225 West Fifth street, and Jack Lawrence, 23, jumped out of a window. Bertram ran through the rear door and captured them.

A few minutes later Kearney answered the apartment telephone and replied to a voice over the wire to "send up another case." With three men in custody the officers waited. Ten minutes passed and an automobile driven by Barney McGlynn, 22, drove up to the apartment house. He was arrested when the officers reported finding twenty-four pints of whisky in the car. The car, the officers said, was registered to the Lail Auto Livery. All four prisoners were booked on Wright Act charges.

Pageant of Flowers Given by Children

The stage of Philharmonic Auditorium yesterady was a riot of color as the Sunday-school-children of Temple Baptist Church presented their "Contest of the Flowers," a pageant featuring the annual Children's Day program. Against a background representing a garden in full bloom, the youngsters paraded, unfolding a symbolic story of inspiration.

The King and Queen of Flowers, the tale revealed, had lost their princess and, accordingly, had summoned before them the coxcomb, the rose, the marigold, the poppy and the honeysuckle, representing ambition, beauty, gold, frivolity and sweetness, with a view to adopting the one that proved the greatest inspiration to mankind. In the denouement an unknown flower embracing the qualities of all the others appeared and was proclaimed princess.

The pageant was written and directed by Mrs. Sobieski Gilhouson and the principal players were Lewis H. Puryea, Ida Mae Compere, Clenton Waller Holt, David Henry Cocks, Carol B. Lee, Vernabelle Saint, Barbara Macrery and Dorothy Risk. Jimmy Bolin served as the herald and vocal and instrumental interpolations were contributed by Jean Smalley, Jeanette Steffen, Harriet Henderson and Al Mason.

INDUSTRIAL GAS is simply regular natural gas—the same kind that cooks your food and heats your homes—used for thousands of industrial and manufacturing purposes.

Other fuels discarded

Gas heat is now used in innumerable industrial processes which, a few years ago, were dependent on coal, wood, oil, gasoline or some other fuel.

Gas does these

Coffee roasting, candy making, silver plating, numerous enameling processes, china and brick making, baking, meat curing, fruit preserving, chicken brooding, hat manufacture, smelting, all kinds of metal trades, tool dressing, automobile tire manufacture, soap making—these are a few of the varied processes using modern industrial gas.

In each of these, as well as in many others, gas has replaced some other fuel. Why?

Why Gas is better

Because modern industry has found that gas does the job better; that it is clean (no dust, ashes or smoke), economical (low rates and high heating value), quick (full heat at the turn of a valve), easily regulated (automatic temperature control and uniform heat), dependable (supply available at all hours), and convenient (no storage problem, and you pay after using).

In a series of newspaper statements to follow, illustrations will be given of some of the varied uses for natural gas fuel among the leading industries of the community.

Show Girl in Hollywood

By J. P. McEvoy

Have been trying for months now to get my feet in some trough but all I get is the run around.

I sez to myself Fritzie I'm just what your osteopath ordered to stop that pain in your head.

You're too pretty to be writing for a living.

You remember Dixie Dugan, Show Girl!

Dixie made her debut in the pages of LIBERTY. She took the country by storm. Newspapers reprinted the story. Hollywood filmed it with Alice White as Dixie. Published as a $2 book it was a best seller. It was translated into foreign languages. Broadway will see it as a Ziegfeld production.

And still America demands: "More Dixie Dugan!" LIBERTY will meet the demand.

DIXIE DUGAN, high-stepping, wise-cracking as ever, has crashed the gilded gates of Hollywood...Dixie is strutting her stuff for the speakies...worrying her pretty head over contracts and options...quarreling with her true love Jimmy Doyle...fighting with callous-hearted picture executives.

DIXIE, in brief, is having one high time in Hollywood—the new Hollywood, filled with sound and plenty of fury...filled with Broadway actors and playwrights...with high brow authors doing stories for Rin Tin Tin...with Broadway song writers thinking up theme songs in three by six bungalows ...doll-faced stars with limping larynxes fading into oblivion...great big technical men from Rochester and Schenectady...Wall Street money men, merging...

And does Dixie find adventure? Well—we're telling you to read this new LIBERTY feature!

Popular as SHOW GIRL was, we believe this is even brighter, gayer, more glamorous. With telegrams, letters, diary extracts, press clippings and what have you, McEvoy weaves a great story around this sparkling show girl. It will be quoted from Park Avenue to Sunset Boulevard. Don't miss it if you want to stay smart! Begin it NOW.

This is what happened to SHOW GIRL!

Published first as a serial in LIBERTY. Second serial rights sold to a newspaper syndicate. Published in book form. Was a best seller for months. Published in England. Translated into French, German, Swedish and Danish. Published as a newspaper serial in Germany. Dramatic rights sold in Germany. Filmed in Hollywood. Dramatized for broadcasting. Published in popular reprint edition. Will make its Broadway stage debut in July. Ziegfeld production will be used for sound pictures.

What do I want with a screen test? Suppose it turned out good? I'd have to leave New York and go to Hollywood and make pictures.

U.C.L.A. Group to Report on Science Finds

Reports of scientific research and study completed by the faculty of the University of California at Los Angeles during the past year will be delivered before the second Berkeley meeting of the American Society for the Advancement of Science this month. These reports include several discoveries considered of prime importance to development in the respective scientific fields and are expected to have considerable bearing on some of the new principles that are being unfolded with relation to mathematics, physics, chemistry and allied studies.

Important work which has been done in connection with molecular structure will be discussed by Prof. O. L. Sponsler. Among the papers he will submit is one on the molecule in biological structures as demonstrated by the X-ray.

DEAR OLD DAD HAS HIS DAY

Daughter Remembers Famous Father

Mildred Gloria and Harold Lloyd

There were no parades, no banquets, no fireworks and no oratorical flapdoodle to distinguish it from any other day in the year; but, believe it or not, yesterday was Father's Day in these United States. Mother had her day last month, and, of course, "every dog has his day," so why not allot a day to dear old dad?

At least, so argued the haberdashers among themselves, once upon a time, and as a result, June 16, was singled out on the calendar and dedicated to the Old Reliable of the American home. Which explains why you saw so many new ties on the streets yesterday. What flowers were to mother on Mother's Day, the four-in-hand was to father on Father's Day, and statisticians figured out that if all the cravats presented to dad yesterday were placed end to end, they would reach from here to—well, it would probably be a very strange sight.

Mildred Gloria Lloyd decided her daddy had enough new ties, so just to be different, she presented him with a bunch of roses. Mildred's daddy is a motion-picture actor.

TRAIN-PLANE PARTY DUE HERE TODAY

Mrs. Willebrandt Heading Group That Started From New York Late Friday

Headed by Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, general counsel of the Universal Aviation Corporation, twelve transcontinental air-rail passengers from New York City to Los Angeles are due to arrive here at 9:15 a.m. today aboard the Santa Fe's California Limited.

The coast-to-coast passengers who left New York at 5 p.m. Friday boarded planes at Cleveland, O., Saturday morning, from which city they traveled by plane to Garden City, Kan.

The transcontinental trail blazers, on their arrival here, will be greeted officially by Mayor Cryer and by representatives of a number of civic organizations of the city, including several local women's organizations.

Among the passengers, who numbered eighteen when the planes departed from Chicago Saturday, were Dan W. Jones, president of the Universal Aviation Corporation; C. W. Y. Currie of the New York Central Lines, John E. Sommers of the Department of Commerce, George R. Hahn and Halsey Dunwoody, vice-presidents of the Universal lines, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eckman of Los Angeles.

Details concerning the new $3,000,000 airport which the Universal is asserted to be contemplating here were not discussed publicly by the officials en route.

SAWTELLE SOLDIERS GUESTS

Soldiers from the Sawtelle Home were guests at a benefit program at the Breakfast Club pavilion yesterday afternoon under the supervision of the Post-War Service League. The main part of the entertainment was given by Burr McIntosh, the philosopher, who took for his subject "Keep Agoin'." Funds from the benefit will be used in the welfare work of the sponsoring organization.

VETERANS OF "TIMES" LOOK BACK

Twenty-two at Breakfast Given by Sim W. Crabill Recall Long-Ago Events

A bridge of memories streached back over more than thirty years yesterday as twenty-two men gathered in the bungalow of Sim W. Crabill at the Uplifters' Ranch for a beefsteak breakfast. Anecdotal reminiscences that are still fresh in their minds were told again. Incidents and happenings of the Nineties were related at this gay reunion.

All of those present have been members of The Times composing-room staff or officials of the paper since before the beginning of this century. Strictly informal was the affair where all titles were forgotten temporarily. They were just "Ed" and "Hugh" and "Mark" and so forth for the morning.

Over their coffee and beefsteak the story of the rise of The Times was recounted by these veterans on the plant. "Sim" counted the number of years each man has been with the paper and found that the twenty-two had served a total of 781 years in the establishment.

Mr. Crabill's guests were: Harry Chandler, F. X. Pfaffinger, J. Baum, H. E. Downing, A. N. Damon; Edward T. Gadden, Hugh W. Hunt, H. D. Sallada, B. F. Kardell, R. B. Goff, G. L. Sallada, C. D. Bingham, E. W. Stangland, R. K. Westcott, E. H. Mack, P. S. Shanahan, M. P. Freebey, A. L. Ball, U. S. Pentz, J. D. Ford and Mark S. Bentley.

CHANGES IN COURTS DUE NEXT MONTH

New Presiding Judge Will Shift Some of Jurists to Equalize Burdens

Superior Judge Craig, who succeeds Superior Judge Keetch as presiding judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county on July 1, yesterday announced the changes he will make in the master calendar courts at the beginning of his term.

Judge Keetch, presiding in Department 12, will have the jury master calendar.

Superior Judge Sproul, presiding in Department 29, is to have charge of the nonjury calendar in the old courthouse.

Superior Judge Aggeller, in Department 26, Hall of Justice, is to have the criminal master calendar.

In the twenty departments of the court in the new City Hall tower, Superior Judge Westover, Department 33, and Superior Judge Tappaan, Department 45, will handle the nonjury calendars.

"The announcement and the changes should not be considered as some sort of a shake-up," Judge Craig declared. "It is merely my first duty as a presiding judge as the calendar courts are changed with the term of each presiding judge."

ANTIRED EDITOR VANISHES

New Yorker Disappears Soon After Arrival Here on Boat and Daughter Fears Violence

Michael Pasbolsky, publisher of an anti-Bolshevik newspaper in New York and said to have been socially and politically prominent in Russia at one time, has disappeared in Los Angeles, according to police report.

Pasbolsky mysteriously vanished Saturday afternoon, according to Attorney James Donovan, immediately after he arrived on the steamship Virginia from New York.

He made the trip here, Donovan told police, to visit his daughter, Mrs. August Sattler, wife of a chemical engineer of 828 Santa Cruz street, Long Beach. When her father failed to appear at her home Mrs. Sattler communicated with Attorney Donovan, who asked the aid of the police.

Mrs. Sattlers fears, Donovan said, that her father was met on the boat by persons antagonistic to the editorial policies of his New York publication and believes that he may have become the victim of their vengeance.

Pasbolsky, who is 65 years of age, last was seen on the boat by the purser, it is reported. The latter said he saw the publisher leave his stateroom to go ashore. Following that he has not been seen or heard from.

Mrs. Sattler described her father as being of slight build, about 5 feet 9 inches in height, with iron-gray hair and partially bald.

A son of the missing publisher, according to Donovan, is Leon Pasbolsky, recently appointed by President Hoover to visit the Balkan states as one of the leading economists of Washington, D. C.

TAXICAB 'TRUST' CHARGES MADE

New Concern Fights Plan to Limit Number of Cars

Reduced Rates Declared to Have Angered Rivals

Hearing by Council Asked to Clear Up Situation

Asserting that the plan of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation to limit the number of taxicabs which may operate in this city is in effect a plan to perpetuate a taxicab monopoly already existing, V. C. Shaffer, president of the General Cab Company, Inc., asked the City Council in a letter directed to that body to investigate the situation and hold a public hearing on the matter. The General Cab Company operates the new Ford taxicabs, twenty-five of which already have made their appearance in this city.

Several weeks ago the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation announced its plan to limit the number of taxicabs. The announced object is to relieve traffic congestion and prevent unnecessary duplication of taxicab service. To achieve its object, it announced that, beginning tomorrow, it would not issue any more permits to operate taxis unless the applicants can show that "public convenience and necessity require the additional cabs and that the existing lines cannot supply the public need." The board would be the only judge of the applicant's case.

DOUBTFUL POWER

At the time of making this announcement, the board admitted there is some doubt as to whether it has the power to make and enforce such a ruling. To settle that question it has asked the City Council to adopt an amendment to the taxicab ordinance which specifically would grant it that power. It was because of this request to the Council that the General Taxicab Company, which is the newest in the field and would be the chief sufferer by the enforcement of such a rule, sent its protest to the Council.

In connection with his company's assertion that the board is acting in a manner tending to perpetuate a monopoly, Roy V. De Voy, general manager of the new company, asserted that none of the taxicabs in this city had been allowed to display the rates it charges on the outside of the cab, as is done in a great many other cities. There is a section in the taxicab ordinance making it unlawful to display signs on the cabs without the permission of the board and to date the board never has granted permits to display prices on the cabs.

RATE DISPLAY SOUGHT

The General company, however, has made formal application to display its rates on the outside of its cabs. The rate of this company is 20 cents a mile while, it says, the average rate of all the other cabs in the city is 30 cents a mile. In its application to display its rates on its cabs, the company argued that:

"Ordinances in many of our large cities make compulsory the display of rates upon the outside of a cab as a protection to the general public.

"By such display the public is informed the rates to be charged by cab before hiring same.

"As there are no maximum rates fixed by the city ordinances, certain taxicab operators in this city charge exorbitant rates and persons hiring such cabs, presuming the rates to be reasonable, have no recourse in such events.

"Rates ranging from 40 cents per mile to 80 cents per mile are in effect in the city of Los Angeles. The proposed display of rates would eliminate this disagreeable phase of taxicab operation."

The request to display the rates is scheduled to be considered by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation at its meeting tomorrow. At that meeting the board also will consider an application by the General company to operate sixty-eight additional cabs in this city besides the twenty-five it already has in service. The matter of the board's limitation policy, which is to go into effect on that day, also will be discussed at the meeting.

ARGUMENTS LISTED

In the protest sent by V. C. Shaffer, president of the General company, to the Council against the passage of legislation which would aid the board in its limitation policy, the following arguments are presented:

"The adoption of the proposed ordinance by the City Council means the creation of a taxicab monopoly and would be class legislation in its most flagrant form.

"Instead of fewer taxicabs, Los Angeles, with its vast metropolitan area, actually needs more taxicabs; instead of a few at a high rate, it needs many—at a low rate.

"And yet, it is proposed to limit the number of taxicab permits that may be issued in Los Angeles.

"Is it because the old established taxicab companies, with their high rates, resent the intrusion of a more ambitious, more vigorous and more modern company into the field from which they have reaped a bountiful harvest for so long?

"Do they fear a tariff 33 1-3 per cent lower than their own?

"In other words, are they attempting to employ their natural, or political weapons, before going into a price war?

FIGURES OFFERED

"Under the proposed ruling, the General Cab Company—the new reduced rate Ford cabs—would be limited to twenty-five taxicabs.

"I submit the following table of permits that have been issued to the various taxicab companies operating in this city, in order to prove my statement that the passage of such an ordinance as that proposed would create a monopoly:

"Yellow Cab Company, 303; Crown Cab Company, 102; California Cab Company, 70 (approximately;) Peerless Cab Company, 55; General Cab Company, 25; independents, 25; total 580.

"The average tariff of the above mentioned concern is the same, namely, 30 cents per mile, as against the General Cab Company's rate of 20 cents per mile, or a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent, or $1 in three.

"Los Angeles, according to the figures of S. W. Straus & Co., I am reliably informed, will be the largest city in the world, in point of population, in twenty years, with a census of 14,000,000 people.

"Our climate will be responsible for half the growth; our civic foresight must be responsible for the other half.

"Are there too many taxicabs? It has been declared arbitrarily that there are. More than 85,000 Shriners have just left us. The Elks are coming, as are also forty other conventions this summer. Hundreds of thousands of visitors arrive here each year. To sum up:

"Los Angeles needs more taxicabs, not less, for the public benefit; more at a reduced tariff; otherwise a monopoly will be created."

Paul Kelly, motion-picture actor, serving a term in San Quentin for manslaughter in connection with the death in 1927 of Ray Raymond, stage actor, has been granted a parole by the State Board of Prison Directors, it was learned yesterday. The parole becomes effective next month, approximately two years after Kelly entered the prison in July, 1927.

Less than a month ago she was reported to be making preparations to return to the stage in Sacramento in the leading role of "The Dove," a production in which she appeared in Los Angeles before her imprisonment.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW CATHOLIC GIRLS' COLLEGE

Several thousand persons yesterday afternoon attended impressive ground-breaking ceremonies at the new site of Mount Saint Mary's College in the hills overlooking Westwood and Bel-Air. The occasion also marked the first annual commencement of the institution.

With Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of the diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, officiating the ground was formally broken and the site dedicated to its use as a seat of higher education. In turn other members of the clergy and faculty of the college placed the gilded spade used by the bishop into the earth.

Degrees were awarded to a graduating class of ten young women by Bishop Cantwell, who also delivered an address to the graduates.

The ceremonies followed a lengthy processional of the clergy, members of the Knights of Columbus, students and alumni up the hillside to the canopied platform leading to the promontory upon which the first of seven units will shortly be erected. Selections by the school ensemble and orchestra followed.

Speakers included the Very Rev. Marshall Winne, president of Los Angeles College; Dr. B. F. Stelter of Occidental College; Isidore B. Dockweiler, Dr. F. P. Woellner of the University of California at Los Angeles, Rev. Edward R. Kirk and Father Joseph Sullivan, president of Loyola University. A number of other church dignitaries and prominent men and women were seated on the speakers' platform.

The first unit will be the administration building, to be erected at a cost of approximately $300,000, according to plans. It will grace the pinnacle of a rise commanding a view for miles around, which is known as Mt. Saint Mary.

The college is one of the State's youngest institutions for higher learning, having come into existence in 1925. Since then it has been situated at Slauson avenue and Mesa Drive with St. Mary's Academy. The building is expected to be completed sufficiently by February, 1930, to permit the college to move. The academy, a school for younger girls, will remain at its present location, according to plans.

The college is conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet, an order founded in France for the advancement of education in 1650.

Each year since its inception the college has added a year of study until it now comprises a full four years of study. At present approximately seventy-two students are enrolled. The faculty numbers between twenty-five and thirty men and women.

Those receiving bachelor of arts degrees included Deodine Catherine Coen, Catherine Inez Feeney, Lillian Cecilia May, Mary Elizabeth O'Connor, Mary Agnes Scannel, Virginia Mary Thompson, Eugenia Mary Zink and Olivia Zenda Zink. Bachelor of music degrees were awarded Davida Katherine Keppler and Mary Dorothy Lieb.

LEEWAY FOR WALKER URGE

The problem of reducing accidents to pedestrians at cross-walks is a perplexing one, says W. L. Brent, president of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission.

The commission has given considerable time and thought to the subject, he said, and is of the opinion that many pedestrian-motor vehicle accidents at crosswalks can be prevented by prohibiting automobile parking for a distance of thirty-five feet on the vehicle approach side, which would be the pedestrian's left side. This will open up a blind spot so that motorist and pedestrian can see one another before it is too late.

MANHATTAN SOON TO BE DAY'S TRIP

Capt. Rickenbacker Says Mail and Passenger Line Waits on Illumination

Twenty-four hour air-mail and passenger service between Los Angeles and New York City is now but a matter of an illuminated airway between Kansas City and the Pacific Coast, Eddie Rickenbacker, ace of American aces of the World War, declared on his arrival here yesterday.

EDDIE RICKENBACKER

Capt. Rickenbacker, who flew from Kansas City yesterday in a Western Air Express passenger plane, deplored the fact that no night service between Los Angeles and the Middle West has yet been inaugurated and declared that such a service, when once in practice, would be the most popular hop of the coast-to-coast journey.

The hop from New York City to Kansas City or some other centrally located city can be made easily within eight or ten hours, Capt. Rickenbacker said, and as soon as the Department of Commerce lights the way from Kansas City to the West Coast transcontinental planes will be scheduled on a twenty-four-hour coast-to-coast service, he declares.

With Capt. Rickenbacker on his arrival here yesterday were Steve Hanjigan of New York City and R. J. Emmert, president and general manager of the Delco Products Corporation. The mission of the former flyer is to confer with James A. Talbot and Harris Hanshue, president of the board and general manager of the Fokker Air Craft Corporation, relative to the forthcoming sales policy of the company.

The new DT-32 model Fokker plane, now under construction, Capt. Rickenbacker explained, will have a carrying capacity of thirty-two passengers and a crew of four during the day and will provide sleeping berths for sixteen passengers at night.

Four motors, each of which is of more than 500 horsepower, will provide the motive power. Any two are capable of keeping the ship in the air, he said.

Deserted Wife and Babes Find Friends to Aid

Last Thursday morning a story was printed in The Times which told of the unfortunate circumstances of a mother and her two small children who had been deserted by the husband and father. The furniture of their home, which had been obtained on the installment plan, was taken away by the selling company.

Today the woman has new furniture as well as several checks which will provide for her and the children over a long period of time. "God answered my prayer through the medium of The Times," she declared. Her thanks to the paper was conveyed through Mrs. Catherine Ell of 1324½ West Seventeenth street, a social service worker who brought the case to the attention of The Times last week.

Her gratitude also was expressed for money sent her by Edward Everett Horton, the actor, Mrs. Lou Anger, and others, as well as the merchants and citizens of Los Angeles who gave her furniture to refurnish the house.

Mrs. Hoover as a Motorist

The precedent set by George and Martha Washington of going forth in the Presidential chariot with a gorgeously uniformed coachman, footman and an outrider or two, received another jolt recently. Mrs. Hoover drove her own car through Washington streets, piloting a party of friends. The new mistress of the Executive Mansion acted, in fact, like any other well-bred woman would act under the same circumstances. Coming right on top of President Hoover's interviews with press representatives, this fresh departure from musty precedent was enough to knock Washington officialdom cold. Nothing quite so startling had been seen by the busybodies since Thomas Jefferson received foreign diplomats in his shirt sleeves.

It is a refreshing view that President and Mrs. Hoover evidently take of their new position. The average American has long suspected that the President and the First Lady are not different from other human beings, but those two personages were so surrounded with flubdub and mystery there never was a chance to verify the suspicion. The fact that two persons are chosen by the people from among themselves for a four-year period does not endow these two with superhuman qualities. Neither should it deprive the President and his wife of most of the personal freedom that other folk enjoy.—[St. Louis Star.

DEATH OF PAIR LAID TO SUICIDE

Two Others Declared by Police to Have Attempted Self-Destruction

Two suicides and two attempts at self-destruction were reported by the police yesterday following investigation of the death of Mrs. Kathleen L. Davis of 4505 Victoria Park Drive and an unidentified man found in Lafayette Park, and the injuries of William King, 721 East Fifty-second Place and the sickness of Miss Jerry Paxton of 432½ North Bixel street.

Mrs. Davis died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital last night a few hours after she had taken Lysol and slashed both her wrists with a razor blade. She was found in the home of a neighbor, Mrs. R. Peters, 4305 Victoria Park Drive, in an unconscious condition, according to police reports. Notes to friends indicate disappointment over a love affair as the cause of the suicide.

Police were attempting to identify the body of a man found under a tree in Lafayette Park, Sixth and Commonwealth streets, early yesterday with a bullet wound through the heart. The man lay on his face, with his right hand clutching a revolver with one cartridge discharged. No notes were found on the body, nor were there any papers serving as identification, but the position of the corpse and the wound caused police to declare it a case of suicide. The man is described as being about 33 years of age, five feet seven inches in height, weight 135 pounds, brown hair, fair complexion. He was wearing black trousers, a red and black checkered lumber-jack sweater, black shoes and a light-gray cap.

Disappointed in love, according to the police report, Miss Paxton, a dancer, was in Georgia-street hospital suffering from self-administered poison. She was found in her room by a friend, who notified the police. Her death is not expected, according to police surgeons.

Following a dispute with his wife, King went to the home of his friend, Bob Wier, at 4827 Third avenue and shot himself in the right chest with a small-caliber pistol, according to police investigation. The wound is not considered serious by police surgeons.

MRS. PANTAGES IN AUTO CRASH

virtually demolished by the heavier coupe which struck it close to the intersection and knocked it several yards. The front of the Pantages car was stove in by the impact which sent it careening into the curb, according to the police report.

MISHAPS SCARCE

At the intersection of Fountain avenue and Sunset Boulevard Mrs. Pantages is asserted by police to have struck an automobile operated by C. M. Holmes of 3172 Atwater street in attempting to avoid striking another car. At that time she was admonished by a bystander, according to the police report, and advised not to continue driving. The collision with the Rokomoto automobile occurred at the next intersection as the smaller car was about to cross Sunset Boulevard on Serrano street.

John A. Pierson, 36, of 801½ North Norton avenue, North Hollywood, died in a Glendale hospital yesterday four hours after he was struck by a car driven by Jerome D. Wadlin, superintendent of the Santa Paula Land Company, who resides in Zelzah.

According to police report, Pierson was walking along Michigan avenue in Tujunga, accompanied by Miss Enda Maudlin, when the Waldin auto hit him from behind, threw him into the ditch, striking his head on a rock. Waldin was questioned by Detective-Lieutenants Berger and Bane of the Valley Division of police, and was released. Waldin could not explain the accident, except to say that he had driven all the way from Yosemite Park, and must have dozed at the wheel.

Struck down by an automobile, Harding C. Dolt, 40 years of age, of 2818½ Pasadena avenue, suffered a broken left wrist and possible internal injuries. The accident occurred at Sixth and Loomis streets. The automobile, according to police, was driven by H. R. Fenton, 27, of 1319 Ingraham street.

BOSTON WOMAN HURT

Mrs. Thomas Pod Brown of Boston, who is visiting in Los Angeles, was seriously injured last night, when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a machine driven by an asserted drunken driver at Twenty-first street and Ocean Park Boulevard, Santa Monica, according to the police report.

According to the investigation made by Police Officers Hoffman and Brown of Santa Monica, Mrs. Brown was riding with her husband when a machine driven by Joseph A. Pierce of 1744 Sixtieth street, sped down Ocean Park Boulevard at an asserted high rate of speed. Brown attempted to avoid a collision but the machine careened into his automobile. Mrs. Brown was taken to the Santa Monica Hospital, where she was treated for a badly crushed chest. Pierce was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The Los Angeles address of Mr. and Mrs. Brown is 233 Paxton street.

NEW SHIPPING GAIN FORECAST

Expansion by Two Services Expected to Include Port

Construction Plans Taken as Favorable Indication

Travelers Tell of Petroleum Quest in Northern India

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Ultimate inclusion of Los Angeles in their expansion programs on the Pacific, by the Matson Navigation Company and the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, is forecast by shipping sources heretofore proving authentic.

The basis for such forecast is the new construction program of both companies. The British-owned Union line is building two modern motor liners on the Clyde, both superior to the Aorangi, and the Matson Line is expected any day to announce contracts for two liners equaling the Malolo. Added to this is last week's announcement that the Matson Line soon will route three freighters, including the Maliko, directly out of here to the Philippines, back to Hawaii and California.

Two years ago the Union Line entered Los Angeles with its freighters to the Antipodes, and its inclusion of passenger carriers as well was declared deferred only until adequate liners were acquired.

Ultimate inclusion of Los Angeles by Matson passenger carriers, however, will be received with surprise, as that line was understood to be content to ply only out of northern ports, and refrain from the territory of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. The latter has wrought in seven pioneering years an important and lucrative service between here and Hawaii, and meticulously avoided infractions in the Matson field.

The amount of freight trade between Los Angeles and the Antipodes has not been important to date, but Los Angeles has developed a vast resource for passenger travel, and the latter is credited as the deciding inducement in luring the two additional lines here, as reported.

OIL MEN BACK FROM PUNJAB COUNTRY

Southern California oil well machinery has penetrated even into the Punjab country in Northern India, and dominates there as it does elsewhere, according to E. F. Richards and E. N. Mitchell, who returned yesterday on the Dollar trans-Pacific liner President McKinley. The two put in two years there in a strange formation, where after drilling 4000 feet through hard rock the oil blows itself in, with no sand appearing anywhere in the core.

Others among the seventy-four passengers disembarking were J. J. Mieldazis, sanitary engineer for the Rockefeller Foundation, six years in the Phillipines, and James Wong Howe, Chinese-American film photographer, who made a six-months' tour of the film industry in China.

Howe declared his belief that the talking films will prove a powerful influence in unifying Chinese speech, when they are done in the Mandarin language, as users of fifteen of eighteen principal dialects in China understand Mandarin. Chinese are "film-mad," he said, and save up money for months in order to pay $2 for a seat. Harold Lloyd is their favorite becouse comedy is universal, and numerous costly theaters are rising, all named for Hollywood or environs.

The liner is discharging 1200 tons and will load 2000 and embark forty-four passengers before sailing west at noon today.

Seven hundred members of the railway brotherhoods were guests yesterday aboard the U.S.S. Tennessee, anchored in the outer harbor. The visitors conducted a special service in commemoration of the members of their organization who died in service. They were received by Capt. Charles E. Courtney, former supervisor of New York Harbor, who recently took command of the Tennessee, aided by Commander H. L. Pence, executive officer. The railway delegates made the trip from Los Angeles to the harbor and back in a special train.

Customs officials will collect more than $150,000 in import duties on a cargo of sugar due from Cuba today on the Danish motorship Stensby, represented by Furness, Withy & Co. The cargo, consigned to W. L. Colyn & Co., comprises 3500 tons for Los Angeles, on which a duty of more than 2 cents a pound is imposed. The vessel has a like amount for San Francisco. She will dock at the terminals of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company.

The vessel is under charter to J. J. Moore & Co., represented here by Capt. A. R. Paulsen, and the cargo is from the Texas Oil Company and the Richfield Oil Company.

Hollywood and Redlands passengers predominated among the fourteen travelers taking passage on the Italian Libera motor liner Leme, sailing yesterday for the Mediterranean. Mrs. Max Parker of Hollywood is taking her daughter, Miss Sylvia, for vocal study in Italy, and her son, Wilton, to attend school in Switzerland. Also of Hollywood are Mrs. Pilar Martinez, wife of a Spanish diplomat, returning to Barcelona, and Mrs. Mary P. Gibson, who will pass two years in Europe. From Redlands, bound for Italy and back, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herold, Miss Jean-Lucia and Robert, Jr., and Mrs. Mary Cook, and son John. Gustavo Solano, Efrain Menendez and Miss Blanca Menendez are returning to San Salvador, the latter two after attending University of Southern California.

ALL FLORIDA FIGHTS FLY

Fruit Industry Paralyzed

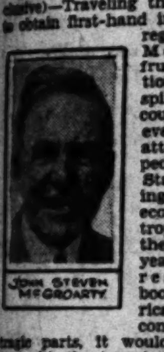
But Writer Sees Grim-Faced Men Battling Pest and Predicts Victory

Soldiers Stop Automobiles; Wild Trees Sacrificed to Save Orchards

John Steven McGroarty, noled write and newspaper man, has been sent by The Times to Florida to make a first hand study of the Mediterranean fruit fly situation and ascertain how California and the rest of the nation can best aid Florida to combat the pest.

BY JOHN STEVEN McGROARTY
"Times" Staff Representative

ORLANDO (Fla.) June 17. (Exclusive)—Traveling through Florida to obtain first-hand information in regard to the Mediterranean fruit fly situation one is inspired by the courageous and even cheerful attitude of the people of this State. Suffering a series of economic catastrophes during the past few years in which real estate booms and hurricanes played conspicuous and tragic parts, it would seem that now with the invasion of the fruit fly pest, the people of Florida would be about ready to throw up their hands in sheer discouragement, but as one travels about among the fruit and vegetable-growers of the State the people are found to be far from depressed or discouraged. They seem to have an abiding faith in the great potentialities of Florida, and not without reason.



JOHN STEVEN McGROARTY

NOT DOWN AND OUT

And while it is true that, like California, fruit growing is the State's largest industry, and that the invasion of the fruit fly is apt to paralyze that industry for the time being, Florida has other means of livelihood that will carry it through. It would be a mistake for anyone to have the idea that Florida is down and out.

As far as the menace of the fruit fly is concerned, there is an ever-growing faith among the people here that the pest will be utterly annihilated and banished during the present year. The activities of the State Plant Board, as directed and supported by the United States Department of Agriculture, strengthen this belief.

It is a fight to the finish and no fooling. Every trick that science has in its bag and every effort of brain and muscle that the citizens of Florida are possessed of have been united to the end that victory shall be assured.

As one travels about the State
